

LOCALS

R. F. Stover, Millheim's postmaster, moved his office into the new Gramley block, last Thursday.

All the borough schools save the primary are closed. Miss Bartholomew's will close next week.

Forester Charles R. Meek, located at Coburn, is setting out over one hundred thousand trees on State land.

It is said that dynamiting for fish in the creek near Lemont took place last week. Two well known men are accused of the violation.

Mrs. W. Morris Furey and daughter, Miss Margaret, of Bellefonte, spent a few days last week at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. J. G. King.

In the class of four graduates of the Mercy hospital, Altoona, the graduation exercises of which will take place May 28th, is Miss Ferna Eugenia Hoover of Centre Hall.

William G. B. Heckman of Madisonburg was a caller at this office Tuesday morning and ordered the Reporter sent to his address. He reports light frosts in Brushvalley last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Richard of Altoona were guests at the Clyde Dutrow home east of Centre Hall from Saturday until Monday. Mrs. Richards is a sister to Mr. Dutrow and finds his home a pleasant place to visit these spring days.

Brungart, the Regal auto car representative in this district, sold one of the big Regals to T. N. Robbins at State College. He has coming two more car loads of Regals, the majority of which have been sold.

Farmer P. H. Luse is convinced that a good two fawns have been parading through his newly planted fields and also grazed on the wheat. Tracks, hunters swear by Bald Mountain, are those of doe and fawn, are the evidence.

Cleveland Mitterling of Centre Hall and Thomas Jodon of Pleasant Gap made a trip in the latter's Studebaker car to Lock Haven and surrounding country on Friday and Saturday, rounding up a load of milk cows for drover J. W. Mitterling, which will be shipped to the eastern market.

The local baseball club purchased a lot of new material of excellent quality for use during the present playing season. There will be some new faces in the lineup this year and a strong team is assured. The first game on the local diamond will be played in the near future.

Probably the busiest man in Centre county today is Leroy Mensch, of Aaronsburg, who has seventy-three pupils whom he is teaching instrumental music, and the best evidence of his efficiency in the work is not only this large number of pupils but the many who are waiting the time, when he can give them his services.

D. W. Bradford, the local agent for the DeLaval cream separator company, beginning of this week went to Elkins, West Virginia, to work a territory for his company. He will also spend some time in Lewisburg, that state. Last week Mr. Bradford was in Blair and Clearfield counties in the interest of his company.

The Reporter wishes here to compliment D. J. Meyer on the good taste displayed in the selection of colors on the exterior of his dwelling house. The painters have about completed their work, and now the Meyer home is decidedly pretty. It is well to keep in mind that while any old paint will preserve wood to a greater or less extent, good taste must be displayed in the selection of colors to please the esthetic nature.

Grover Weaver had the misfortune to almost sever an artery in the left hand while cutting wood for Ed. Laird, on the Keller farm, Wednesday last week. Holding the wood in his left hand, the axe was deflected from its true course when it struck an obstacle in the rear of him and dealt him a sharp blow on the back of the hand. The blood flowed so freely that he lost almost a pint before it could be stanchied. Dr. Allison dressed the wound and Mr. Weaver will be idle for a week undergoing repair.

Barfooted and without headgear, a youth who said his name was Charles Barclay, of Altoona, stopped at the home of Hon. L. Rhone one day last week and asked the direction to Altoona which place he hoped to reach because it was home and a much better place than that where he had spent a few days in abject misery, according to his story. Questioning the lad revealed the fact that his mother had a few days previous placed him on the Armbruster farm at Farmers Mills where she learned there was need of a chore boy. The onerous tasks of driving cows a mile to pasture and replenishing the wood box was more than the city-bred boy could endure and possessed with the idea that he was being worked to death, slipped off Tuesday, bound for Altoona, afoot. The boy was taken to the home of W. W. Spangler, overseer of the poor, where he was interned. Communication with the lad's mother resulted in the parent forwarding the necessary money for his fare to his home city.

Central Pa. Lutherans to Reunite.

Plans for the thirtieth annual reunion of the Lutherans in Central Pennsylvania which occurs on July 22 at Lakemont park, Altoona, are being completed and the event promises to be one of the most enjoyable ever held.

Central Pennsylvania Lutherans anticipate the annual gathering eagerly each year and every effort has been put forward by the committee to make this season's function successful.

Three services will occur during the day at the park. At 10:45 a sermon will be delivered by a prominent and popular clergyman and a song service will follow. At 2 o'clock another eminent Lutheran will address the throng, and a special musical program will be presented in conjunction.

A musical and literary service will be arranged for the evening, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. Much of the best talent available will be secured for this feature of the program.

Better Prices for Farmer's Cream.

Better prices to the farmer for his milk and cream, and improved butter for the consumer are possibilities if a fair system of grading dairy products is established in the creameries of this State, following the suggestion offered by Professor C. W. Larson, head of the dairy husbandry department of the Pennsylvania State College. He wants the butter factories to encourage the farmers to deliver their raw materials in better shape by paying for quality.

Professor Larson said: "One of the most serious difficulties that the butter-makers are meeting with in Pennsylvania is the quality of the raw material being delivered. The milk and cream are not delivered often enough, nor are they given proper care on the farm in many cases.

"It is good business, is just and would be decidedly profitable for many creameries to pay a premium for good, sweet cream. There is nothing at the present time that would improve the quality of the butter of this State so much as a fair system of grading milk and cream in our factories and paying for quality."

Dixon's Health Talks.

When in our morning prayer we seek to be spared from sickness, let us pause to realize that health is often in our own hands to keep or fritter away.

We are often individually responsible for our personal health and in a degree for the health of those about us. In the vast majority of instances sickness is the result of indiscretion which is not unconscious though we may not stop to calculate the results.

If we knowingly jeopardize our individual health and risk illness on the chance that we will escape "this once," we are putting ourselves in the same category with the criminal who risks his freedom each time he breaks the law. Ethically the one is no better than the other. The man who willfully transgresses Nature's laws by excesses may have far less self control than one who violates the penal code.

If each individual member of a community failed to exercise control in the matter of his bodily well-being it would be dangerously immoral. If we are to improve the general health of our nation it must be through stimulating individual citizens to appreciate their responsibilities.

Each man, woman and child should try and measure what individual health means. He should be brought to realize how easily it can slip away never to return. A single violation of a law of Nature may mean death or what is worse a lingering illness.

We are vigilant in watching our money lest it slip away and leave us impoverished and yet we are prodigal with our physical resources forgetting that the poorest individual is he who has lost his health.

Says Business Very Good.

"Times are improving in the city and business is very good since the weather has warmed up," writes Mr. J. W. Grenoble from Chicago, in a letter to the Reporter.

DAYS OF TROUBLESOME SPEEDERS ARE RAPIDLY PASSING.

The Days When The Pedestrian Must Be Ever on the Lookout for Speed Maniacs are Rapidly Passing says S. G. Brungart.

There was a time when automobile drivers resembled a racehorse who could not stand to see anything pass him without immediately breaking all rules and racing after him in an effort to show his superiority.

Now the automobile driver thinks of four essentials instead of just one. He wants beauty, comfort, economy, and enough power to take him where he cares to travel. He is not so anxious to pass his neighbor with a burst of speed on a crowded thoroughfare, but rather he is desirous of being able to go anywhere with his car that his neighbor can go.

With the three new models put out this year by the Regal Motor Car Company they have been able to satisfy almost all the needs of the automobile public.

Charles McClenahan of Centre Hall and C. B. Neff and William H. Cummings of Potter township are doing jury duty at Bellefonte during this first week of May court.

Says California is Ready.

Mr. F. W. Smith, Centre Hall, Pa.

Dear Sir:—I find enclosed postoffice money order for three dollars, for which kindly set the date of my paper ahead two pages.

I had expected to see you in our city, on your way to the fair. We have decorated our streets with palms, and are ready to extend the right hand of fellowship, but the weather we have had in the past month makes us hesitate when saying our little speech.

A great deal of damage has been done along our coast by high winds and seas, and we had frost and hail storms on May Day, causing us to postpone one of our parades three times. Today it is clear, and we hope our "Good Old California Weather" is with us to stay.

Do not forget the fair, we have two of them, and the last one you see is the best.

Yours very truly, CHAS. R. SWINT, Los Angeles, Cal., May 8, 1915.

THE LUSE HYDRANT SOLD.

The Hartzler & Zook Company, at Bellefonte, the New Owners who will Manufacture it on a Large Scale.

What should have made and could have made Centre Hall famous was recently sold to the Hartzler & Zook Company, at Bellefonte, manufacturers of agricultural implements. Reference is made to the sale of the patent right of the Luse hydrant by Mrs. Martha Luse, executrix, to the firm named.

The Luse hydrant is the product of D. F. Luse, who spent many years in perfecting it. It is today a most substantial, simple, convenient hydrant, second in all respects to none. It has many superior points to other hydrants. From the point of durability, the easy manner in which it may be removed from the main pipe, it has no equal. Some of the Luse hydrants have been doing continuous and satisfactory service for a period of thirty years.

As above intimated the Reporter's chief regret is that local capital did not seize the opportunity to put this commodity on the market on a large scale, and thus build up an industry that has long been dwarfed on account of the lack of capital and business capacity.

The Hartzler & Zook Company, at Bellefonte, who now own the exclusive right to manufacture the Luse IXL hydrant are prepared to manufacture on a large scale. Their plant is thoroughly equipped with modern machinery, guaranteeing that the hydrants built by them will be improved by being constructed with greater care and exactness.

The Bellefonte firm manufactures farm machinery extensively, among which are grain drills, feed mills, wood-saws, lime drills, stock troughs, and gasoline engines.

Their payroll now is large and their various products are shipped to all points of the compass. They will consequently almost instantly be ready to fill orders for the Luse IXL hydrants to their trade and greatly extend the territory in which the hydrant is a familiar figure in the hardware store, on the farm, and in the town home.

The manufacturers request that dealers who have been selling this hydrant write them for prices, etc. adv
