

Millheim's Evangelistic Campaign.

In a most auspicious manner the evangelistic campaign in Millheim was begun Tuesday evening in the newly built tabernacle on the school grounds. Rev. Paul Brown is the evangelist who will continue the work for six weeks. More than one thousand people attended the first service which was of the nature of a dedicatory service, all the local ministers taking part. A wonderful religious spirit is manifested in Millheim and it is expected that much good will be done during the campaign for moral and religious betterment. At Tuesday evening's service a choir of one hundred and twenty-five voices led the singing and H. LeRoy Goodwin, the musical director, hopes to increase this number to two hundred by Friday night. During the campaign all churches will dispense with their regular Sunday preaching services and aid Evangelist Brown. On Sunday a sermon will be preached for the benefit of men and boys to which all males over twelve years of age are invited.

Memorial Day Service.

Memorial Day in Centre Hall will be observed on Saturday. The march to the cemetery will start from the Evangelical church at 8:50 o'clock. After the graves of the soldiers are strewn with flowers, Rev. D. S. Kurtz will deliver the address. The hours for service at other points in the valley are as follows:

- Spring Mills, Saturday, 6 p. m.; speaker, Rev. R. R. Jones.
- Springtown, Saturday, 1:30 p. m.; speaker, Rev. W. R. Williams.

Reception to Miss Rhoads.

On her return from a tour of several months through the middle west, Miss Florence Rhoads was tendered a reception on Tuesday evening by the members of Progress Grange, in Grange Arcadia. The affair was informal. After greeting Miss Rhoads, several pieces of music were sung and then Prof. C. B. Neff extended the formal welcome to which Miss Rhoads responded. The remainder of the evening was devoted to the social side in which refreshments played an important part.

Stover-Stover.

Charles E. Stover of Centre Hall and Miss Alice Naomi Stover were united in marriage at the Lutheran parsonage in Bellefonte by Rev. W. M. E. Glandin, on Saturday. The groom is a sober and industrious young farmer and the bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stover of Pine Grove Mills, is well fitted to make their home one of sunshine and happiness. Both young people are well and favorably known where they reside and are receiving the congratulations of their friends.

Caught Big Trout.

Harold Coxy of Boalsburg was the envy of all the fishermen in that locality when he returned home on Saturday with a trout that measured 22 1/2 inches. Many other fine trout have been taken from the streams about Boalsburg.

From the Millheim Journal.

Six silos are to be built in lower Penna Valley during the coming summer, on the farms occupied by the following enterprising farmers: M. O. Stover, Charles J. Stover, J. O. Eisenhuth, Lester Fiedler, B. O. Fiedler and C. Orndorf.

The meat market building on Main street was last Thursday sold by Cyrus Brungart of Centre Hall to Lloyd W. Stover, Dr. G. S. Frank and Wm. F. Sheltor, who will convert the building into a moving picture place. It is expected to make seating capacity for about four hundred and fifty persons.

Colyer.

The grass fields look favorable for a large hay crop.

Peter Jordan on Friday left for New Cumberland to visit at the home of Lloyd Keuter.

The U. Ev. church is preparing to hold Children's service, June 29th, in the evening.

Roland Leech and son Edward, last week returned to their former home at Howard.

C. A. Miller's visitors on Sunday were W. H. Meyer of Centre Hall and daughter, Mrs. Irvin Musser, of Millburg; Mr. and Mrs. Foster Frazier and daughter, Ida and Harriet, from Penna Cave.

What should have been an elegant Sunday dinner in the G. R. Meiss home went up in smoke when the "watchful" Meiss fell asleep on the job after being admonished to "keep water on that turtle" while the women folks attended church service. Instead of a dish of choice snapper soup, plain country ham had to satisfy at the noonday meal. They say G. R. is coughing yet from the effects of that awful strangling smoke that arose from the snapper which burned to a crisp.

Brush Valley.

Mother earth has been thoroughly soaked the last few days.

An operation was performed on Mrs. George Treasler last week and on Mrs. Lloyd for appendicitis, on Monday.

Rev. Keesler will have preaching services on Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Yearick church.

This company, since its establishment forty-five years ago, has grown into one of the largest and best organ and piano manufacturing plants in the country. Mr. Gibson is an affable gentleman and admirably reflects the big business concern of which he is the head.

On Monday noon Mrs. Elmer Royer underwent a serious operation at her home in Earlystown. Dr. J. S. Rodman of the Medical-Chil hospital, Philadelphia, was the operating surgeon and he was assisted by Dr. H. H. Longwell and J. R. Barlett. The operation was a complete success and Mrs. Royer is progressing as well as may be expected. Miss Reese of Altoona is the trained nurse in attendance.

Banker, business man and day laborer rubbed elbows together in Millheim in observing Good Road's Day, on Wednesday. Twenty-five to thirty men used shovel and rake with good effect on the hills at the eastern and western ends of the town. The good roads spirit was also displayed in Porter township where considerable work was done, although not so effective as might have been under better weather conditions.

Boyd Smith, son of Emanuel Smith of Potters Mills, is using crutches as the result of a serious accident which befell him a week or more ago. While cutting a tree in the woods his axe struck a limb overhead and was deflected in such a course that it struck his right foot a hard blow, cutting a deep gash from the toes almost to the ankle. Dr. J. R. G. Allison dressed the wound which required a number of stitches.

On Monday the committee on the purchase of a pipe organ for the Reformed church made a trip to Hagerstown, Maryland, to inspect the plant of the Moller Organ Company, which concerns manufactures one of the instruments that is under consideration. The committee will be ready soon to report to the congregation. In the party were Rev. R. R. Jones, D. I. Bartge, Prof. P. H. Meyer, D. A. Bocz, T. I. Bartge conveyed the party in his Buick car.

"IMPROVEMENT OF RURAL SCHOOLS"

idation as indicated in the name contemplates the centralization of every small school within the township at its geographical center. This involves the establishment of a high school department offering just such studies as are adapted to rural needs. This type of consolidation is common in progressive regions and is increasing rapidly. Under this form of consolidation the country boys and girls have the same advantages as the city boys and girls. Here also they will have hygienic rooms; scientific ventilation and better courses of study. They can also afford to pay higher salaries and secure better educated teachers. Such a school can be fully equipped for all experimental work, also ground room to lay out plots for experiments in elementary agriculture.

The centralized school will give equal opportunities to the rural youth, a condition not existing now. The rural youth has not had a square deal. The fundamental cause of it all is that our rural population does not use money wisely enough to secure the best advantages for their boys and girls. This can be remedied only by formulating a better sentiment in rural districts for better teaching and better schools.

[NOTE.—On account of space it was necessary to abridge the opening paragraphs of this article. The portions referring to consolidating and centralizing schools is printed in full.—Editor.]

Among the questions that will be discussed at the Centre County P. O. Grange meeting at Howard on Tuesday is "The work the Grange legislative committee is doing."
