SEGREGATE SICK HOGS

Cholera Is Not the Only Disease Troubling Swine.

Ailing Animals Should Be Taken From Herd and Isolated Until Nature of Distress Can Be Fully Determined Upon.

(By D. H. PRESTON HOSKINS, Minnesota Experiment Station.)

The importance of a correct diagnosis, where hog cholera is suspected, cannot be over-estimated. Hog cholera serum, administered to a herd thought to be infected with cholera, but in reality suffering from some other disease, usually means time and effort wasted, and, if the treated hogs keep on dying, distrust of the serum treatment. Except in very unusual cases, either a positive or negative diagnosis of cholera can be made, if there is opportunity for a post-mortem examination. In doubtful cases a post-mortem is always proper.

Just as soon as it is noticed that a hog is sick, it should be separated from the herd and kept isolated until the exact nature of the trouble can be determined.

Diseases which are most frequently mistaken for hog cholera are intestinal worms, various digestive disturbances, lung worms, inflammation of the bowels and necrobacillosis. The last named disease is caused by the same germ that is responsible for sore-mouth and bull-nose of pigs. Most of the confusion of the two diseases arises from the fact that in some cases pigs affected with necrobacillosis will show the speckled appearance of the kidneys which has been looked upon as so characteristic of hog cholera.

Hog cholera serum is of no value in combating any disease except hog cholera.

CARE OF HORSE IN SUMMER

Every Reason for Giving Faithful Animal Best Attention and Liberal Amount of Cooling Food.

During the warmest of the summer days there is plowing and much harvesting work for the horses to do. There is every reason for giving the horse the best of care and attention, and a liberal amount of cooling food.

It is difficult for you to hustle on hot days and it is just as wearing on the horse. Often you stop the team and rest in the shade for a few minutes several times during the day. Why not give the horses the benefit of the cooling shade breezes?

You drink often and the dumb brutes that are doing the hardest of the work will appreciate an opportunity to drink several times during the day. Better not let the horses gulp water in large quantities unless you want a foundered animal.

How refreshing and restful is a good plunge in the old creek which flows through the backwoods pasture, after a hard day's work. It makes you feel like a new man. And faithful Dobbin will appreciate it if you sponge off the harness marks, especially over the shoulders where the heavy collar has been rubbing all day. Put a little salt into the cold well water so as to make it still cooler.

CARING FOR LATE POTATOES

Tubers Are Too Often Neglected After First Few Weeks of Growth—Use Light Cultivator.

On many farms the potatoes are well cared for during the first few weeks of their growth, but late in the season they are left to take care of themselves.

It is true that deep cultivation, after the plants are fairly well grown, will be harmful, but the occasional use of a light cultivator, with teeth not more than an inch and a quarter wide, may well be continued until the tubers are nearly ripe, or the vines have become so large as to prevent further work between the rows.

The destruction of injurious insects is another matter which usually receives fairly prompt and thorough attention during the first half of the growing season, but which, on many farms, does not receive sufficient attention later on. The fight against the enemies should be continued to the end of the growing season. This will allow the tubers to reach their full size and to become thoroughly ripe. It will also do much to prevent the appearance of large numbers of "bugs" next year.

Drive Out Granary Pests.

When the new grain goes into the granary, drive out the weevils and other pests. A few open dishes of bisulphide of carbon set around will do it. Then close the granary tightly and make yourself scarce while the stuff is evaporating, for the vapor goes downward and you may get a whiff of it, to your great harm. Keep lights and fire away.

DESTROY BROWN-TAIL MOTH

Contact With Hairs of Insect Causes Poisonous Rash on Human Beings—Big Menace to Trees.

One of the most serious effects of the presence of the brown-tail moth in a community is that of the peculiar skin disease it may produce. Some of the hairs of the full-grown caterpillar are furnished with minute barbs. When the caterpillars molt these barbed hairs are shed with the skin and as the skins become dry and are blown about by the wind the hairs may be quite generally disseminated. When the hairs alight upon the human skin they cause an irritation, which upon rubbing may develop into inflammation.

Men who come in contact with these poisonous hairs during their work in the parasitic laboratory in Massachusetts, use the following remedy for the brown-tail rash: Carbolic acid one-half dram, zinc oxide one-half ounce, lime water eight ounces; shake thoroughly and work well into the affected parts. This has proven a most effective remedy.

According to Doctor Riley, the brown-tail moth was introduced into this country from Europe about the year 1890. The pest has spread rapidly over New England and New York and there is every prospect that it will continue to spread until it reaches the middle and western states. Wherever it goes it will prove a serious pest to man as well as to his trees and plants.

PREVENT BAD TRICK OF COW

Arrange Girth Strap Through Rings So She Cannot Suck Herself—Use Good Suck Halter.

To prevent a cow from sucking herself, put on a good strong halter and a strong strap around her body. Fasten rings in the girth strap, one on each side about level with the side rings on the halter. From these rings to the side rings place two other straps just long enough that the cow can turn her head from side to side, but cannot get it back far enough to suck.

The girth strap should not be too tight. It is better to leave it quite loose and place some small weight on it underneath the cow so the strap will not slip out of place.

Cultivate Garden Crops. It pays to cultivate garden crops as long as one can get between the rows.

Use Aeroplanes to Hunt Seals.

Difficulty experienced this past season in locating seal herds in northern waters has caused the owners of sealing ships to give serious consideration to employing aeroplanes in next year's hunt. These craft of the air, they believe, can scout more cheaply and with less waste of time than the sealing ships, themselves. Small aeroplanes, designed especially for the purpose, are looked upon as entirely feasible. Through their use, seal herds will be located and reported to the vessel which can then make for the spot indicated.

BEST REMEDIES FOR SORES AND ULCERS

Mr. C. A. Butler, of Salem, Va., writes: "I can safely say that Hancock's Sulphur Compound is the best remedy I ever used for sores. One of my little boys, eight years old, had a solid sore all over his face, and tried different kinds of medicine, but none seemed to do any good. Our son, nineteen years old, had a sore on his leg for three months and nothing did him good. We used Hancock's Sulphur Compound on both and it did its work quickly and it was not over a week until both were well." Hancock's Sulphur Compound is sold by all dealers. MIGHTY POWER OF LOVE

Great Truth in Words Which Emerson Is Put on Record as Having Spoken.

It was Emerson who said, "An acceptance of the sentiment of love throughout Christendom for a season would bring the felon and the outcast to our side in tears, and the devotion of his faculties to our service. Love would put a new face on this weary old world, in which we dwell as pagans and enemies too long, and it would warm the heart to see how fast the impotence of armies and navies and lines of defense, would be superseded by this unarmed child." Alas that the sentiment has not been accepted, but instead the world and the individual have been laying their plans, and directing their action, by a calculation of chances which, of course, can be no bigger than the human mind that does the calculating. That love has not been tried is proved by the collapse of commercial civilization, but the things of commerce and of calculation perish, while the sentiment of love endures, because it is of God, and being of God, is sure in the end to triumph—Universalist Leader.

"How many times you-all expect to be baptized, dat's what I ax ye?" "I reckon," replied Cassius Cautious Kusch, "I'll be baptized every year.
