CHURCH APPOINTMENTS

Reformed—Centre Hall, morning; Tusseyville, afternoon.
Lutheran—Union, morning; Georges Valley, afternoon; Centre Hall, evening.
Presbyterian—Spring Mills, morning; Centre Hall, afternoon. Prof. J. T. Marshman of State College will preach.
Methodist—Sprucetown, 10:30 a. m.; Centre Hall, 2:30 p. m.; Spring Mills, 7:00 p. m. A special service will be held at these appointments at which time Dr. Winter and Prof. Eddy, laymen of the M. E. church at State College, will speak in the interest of the Conference Annuity fund.

LOCALS

John A. Slack of near Potters Mills is quite ill, suffering from pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ray of Lemont are spending a few days at the home of the latter's niece, Mrs. John Ruble.
Mrs. James Herring of Altoona spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. Laura Lee, at the George E. Breon home.
Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wilk and the former's mother, Mrs. Lorenza Wilk, of Franklin, traveling in their car, spent Sunday at the C. D. Bartholomew home.
Mrs. Joseph Kresmer, Mrs. Charles Fair and son, William K., of Lebanon spent a few days last week at the home of the former's son, John Kresmer, in this place.
Henry Potter, west of Centre Hall, has been confined to bed for the past several weeks, suffering with liver complaint. Last week a specialist, Dr. C. A. Rossell, of Philadelphia, was in attendance.
Mrs. John Ruble and daughters, Dorothy and Genevieve, and son, Donald, attended the funeral of Mrs. Ruble's nephew, Richard Hoy, the unfortunate young man who met death while hunting on Monday afternoon.
Among the apple orchards in Penna Valley which produced good yields this fall was that of J. C. Rossmann, near town. Mr. Rossmann's orchard is small in the number of trees but the yield and quality of fruit was excellent.
Wanted:—Man to take orders and deliver tea, coffee, baking powder, spices, extracts and groceries, in Centre Hall and nearby towns. Highest commission paid. Apply to The Gt. Atl. & Pac. Tea Co., 1808 N. 3rd. st., Harrisburg, Pa.
Nary a wild turkey has graced the board of a local hunter since the opening of the season. Turkeys are being killed on all sides, but this side of Nittany Mountain for a stretch of several miles has proved poor turkey country, although several flocks were seen shortly before the season.
The State-Centre Electric Company on Wednesday morning commenced setting poles in the mountain for carrying their line to this borough. The company is making rapid progress in their work and if weather conditions don't interfere will make good their promise of early service.
And on Monday the cottontail will hear the hunter's gun close to his ears. The season is the shortest in years, extending only throughout November. A peculiar law which makes the season on game which exists in the greatest numbers in the state almost as short as that of the deer season.
The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. D. Bartholomew on Thursday. More than two score ladies were engaged the entire day in plying the needle on articles which will be sold at a bazaar this winter. Twenty-two took dinner and twenty-five supper at the Bartholomew home.
Arbor Day was observed by the local High school by a trip to the Greens Valley State forest, under the care of Forester Leonard Barnes. Prof. W. O. Heckman and twenty of his scholars were shown every detail of the work of reforestation, including a visit to the nursery and the plantations. Mr. Barnes presented the class with two thrifty five-year-old pines which the class planted on the school campus.
The first fatal hunting accident of the season in Centre county was recorded on Monday when a young man at Centre Furnace became the victim of his own carelessness. It's the old story of holding a gun with the muzzle directed at some point of the body. This indiscretion has been the cause of many hunters' lives being lost when a jar or the releasing of a cocked hammer has sent a load of cold shot pouring into the vitals of a human being, instead of into the ground or air, in which directions only the muzzle of a gun should be pointed when it is not desired to take aim at some game bird or animal.
Georges Valley
Mr. Ulrich of Mill Hill is visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. Dolan Decker.
J. B. Ripka and family spent Sunday at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Musser, near Hober.
J. C. Barger attended the funeral of Samuel Neese on Saturday at Milroy; he also visited his daughter, Mrs. Orris Pecht, at Siglerville, returning home on Sunday.

S. S. Convention at Spring Mills.

The twentieth semi-annual Sunday-school convention held at Spring Mills, on Friday, was one of unusual interest. Delegates from sixteen schools were in attendance. A hearty welcome was extended to all by the pastor, W. H. Williams. The address by Rev. Donat on "Does the convention benefit the Sunday-schools?" brought forth a lively discussion. Mrs. C. E. McGirk, Dean Watts, and Pres. I. L. Harvey, all handled their subjects in a manner that showed deep thought, and were their suggestions carried out in the Sunday-school, Centre county would soon be in advanced position instead of lagging behind.
The great "Convention by the Lake," from the testimony of those who had the privilege of attending, proved it one of the most successful and educational ever held in Pennsylvania, and the State E. S. Association faces the coming year with high hopes and much enthusiasm for the work.
The music under the leadership of T. M. Gramley helped to brighten the session.
On motion a letter of greetings from the convention and sympathy in his illness and recent bereavement, was sent Dr. W. H. Schuyler, who has always manifested a deep interest in the schools and convention of eleven districts.

Linden Hall

Paul Noll, the youth who was seriously injured last week in a fall from the hay mow, is able to be out again.
Samuel Ross, aged seventeen years, shot a fat wild turkey on the mountain near Linden Hall on Tuesday morning.
Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Rupp of Altoona, accompanied by Mary Carper, arrived on Thursday, taking Mrs. Carper to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nathaniel Ziegler, at Spring Mills. They returned on Monday.
Edward Horner, a section hand, went to Williamsport on Monday to consult a physician in regard to his health, and was advised to submit to an operation. He entered the Bellefonte hospital and on Wednesday went under the knife for appendicitis.

Centre Hill.

Lloyd Smith finished his threshing last week.
Harry Schuyler made a business trip to the home of H. I. Foust on Monday evening.
Charles Foust had another wreck last week. While making a turn in front of Carson's store at Potters Mills the horse frightened and overturned the buggy, dragging it and the boy for a few feet before the animal was caught. The buggy was strained in some places and the boy's legs were bruised; otherwise there were no damages.

FRUITTOWN.

Miss Ella Phillips returned to Milroy on Sunday where she is employed.
D. C. Fohringer moved last Wednesday from the Thomas farm to his homestead at this place.
Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bitner and daughter, Ethel, spent the latter part of the week with friends at State College.
Orpha Fleisher returned home one day last week after a two weeks' visit with friends and relatives at Aaronsburg.
Those who spent Sunday evening at the home of T. J. Fleisher home were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Miller and Dora Kliefelder.

Experiments at State College

Show Value of Barnyard Manure
Experiments at the school of agriculture and experiment station of the Pennsylvania State College show conclusively that great care must be exercised in handling manures in order to secure the greatest returns from their use.
A well-kept manure heap may be taken safely as one of the surest indications of thrift and success in farming.
The keeping of live stock to consume farm products and convert them into manure has long been recognized as an efficient way of maintaining the fertility of the farm.
All farmers recognize the beneficial effects of farm manure, but comparatively few realize the losses to which manures are subjected or the care necessary to prevent these losses.
A clear understanding of the manner in which these losses occur, of the enormous amount of money that must be invested in fertilizers to make good these losses, as well as of the elements which need to be added to manure to make it a well balanced ration for plants, would undoubtedly be an incentive to most farmers to endeavor to get the most out of this valuable by-product of the farm.
Southside voters, turn out and help elect your Democratic neighbors. They are all thoroughly competent and obliging.

Pine Grove Mills

Tuesday is election; get out the vote and vote straight.
James Dixon spent Sunday with his parents at State College.
Mr. Frank Smith, who has been very ill, is now convalescing.
George and Boyd Potter of Centre Hall were here for their share of the frisky tribe.
Mrs. Mary Homan was a welcome visitor at the old home several days last week.
Mrs. Mary Wright of Tyrone is visiting old friends and relatives in the valley.
Mrs. Henry Wagner and Mrs. Grover Harpster spent Monday at the Allen Wieland home.
Mr. W. K. Corl, who has been so very near life's end the past week, is very much improved.

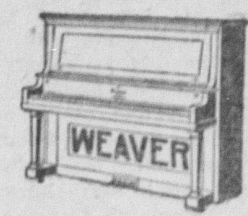

William Miller and Ad. Hartwick each came in with a fat turkey on the second day's hunt.
Register Frank Smith and Commissioner W. H. Noll were along the line interviewing the voters on Monday.
Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Johnson were Sunday visitors at the C. M. Johnson home at Pine Hall.
James Oliver and Ed. Harpster, both energetic young farmers of Spruce Creek Valley, greeted friends in town Saturday.
Mrs. John Quinn and mother, Mrs. Katharine Everhart, were Monday visitors at the Samuel Everhart home on the Branch.
J. H. Strouse and family enjoyed a spin in their new Overland car down Penna Valley and spent Sunday with friends at Woodward.
Frank Keller and mother of Linden Hall, in his new Pullman car, motored to Bloomsburg where they spent Sunday at the J. W. Williams home.
Aunt Hannah Royer spent Sunday at the Mary Homan home. The two were girls together and now have the distinction of being grandmothers.
Mary Jane Stuart of Altoona was at the home of her youth, assisting in stirring applebutter, last week, and although almost four score years old she is brisk and well.
Rev. Mr. Flick will preach in the Lutheran church at Gatesburg Sunday morning; at Pine Hall in the afternoon and Pine Grove Mills in the evening.
A new 25-foot concrete bridge that spans the Branch is now completed and open for travel. It is a substantial structure and a credit to the builder.
The woman suffrage meeting Saturday evening in town was almost a freeze out. Mr. Beech of Bellefonte made a strong speech which was worthy of better attendance.
The venerable J. J. Arney and family of Centre Hall were in town Sunday looking over the scenes of his youth where he was a lively student at the Pine Grove Mills Academy in 1853-4.
On account of ill health farmer A. L. Bowersox, on the old farm, has about decided to retire and recuperate his shattered health elsewhere. His brother John is an applicant for the place.
The stock sale he'd by Lloyd Frank at Graysville was well attended and in most cases stock brought fabulous prices: the sum was $2550.00, with plenty of stock left to continue farming.

THE WEAVER IS A PERFECT PIANO.

"The Weaver Style 20 came all right and is simply fine. The case is beautiful, the satin finish fine, the joints in the ivory keys are perfection. The action is firm but at the same time of easy touch. The scale is as even as any as I have seen and the tone is beautiful. I spent some time examining the instrument and failed to find a single flaw in it. The result is that I am altogether satisfied with the piano."
Oct. 18, 1915. A. R. Bell, Greensboro, N. C.
Rev. Bell is a Methodist Minister, who before entering the ministry was a piano tuner and repair man for more than seven years.
