DIXON'S HEALTH TALKS.

"Man is What He Eats," says a commentator, on Subject of Cooking.

Since our primitive ancestors squatted around the cookery pots after hunts for food stuffs, an inconceivable amount of effort has been expended in the practice of the art of preparing food. Considering the energy spent in experimentation the accumulative knowledge has not been extensive.

Every member of the human race from early childhood to the grave now depends principally upon cooked food to maintain life.

It is not without reason that cookery is called an art. There is nothing which does more to build up and maintain good health than the proper preparation of food. It may be considered the first essential. It is commonly considered a menial task; yet next to motherhood it is one of the most important.

Thanks to modern methods of transportation and commercial enterprise there has never been a time in the history of mankind when so vast a selection of food stuffs was at the disposal of all people. This should prove a large asset to the race, for a variety of foods prepared serves to give a well balanced nourishment conducive to proper growth and sustenance of body and brain.

Improperly cooked foods lead quicker to distress of body and mind than almost any other factor. Poverty, unhappiness and dissipation can in many instances be traced to poor cooking.

Among the least expensive foods, we may find, if well prepared, those which form a nourishing and tasteful diet. With the necessity for economy becoming more pressing as the population of the world increases, there is no one line of effort better worthy of study and attention than the science of economical and wholesome cookery—for man is indeed what he eats.

The 1916 Youth's Companion Calendar.

The publishers of The Youth's Companion will, as always at this season, present to every subscriber who subscribes in 1916, a calendar for the new year. It is a gem of calendar-making. The decorative mounting is rich, but the main purpose has been to produce a calendar that is useful, and that purpose has been achieved.

Among the least expensive foods, we may find, if well prepared, those which form a nourishing and tasteful diet.

With the necessity for economy becoming more pressing as the population of the world increases, there is no one line of effort better worthy of study and attention than the science of economical and wholesome cookery.

Lard and Kerosene

WHEN making pies you know that the flakiness of the crust depends to a large extent upon the quality of the shortening. Unless the lard is right, your skill, your eggs, your flour and your milk all go for nothing.

You're particular about your shortening, but are you equally careful of the kerosene you put into your lamps, heaters and stoves. Ask for by name and you buy a kerosene that's refined from the best petroleum, by methods which get the utmost possible out of the finest raw material this old earth provides.

Used in a lamp it gives a soft yet brilliant light. It will neither smell nor smoke. In stove or heater it furnishes an intense heat, but always at the lowest possible cost.

And because it's a highly refined kerosene, it adds to the life of the device in which it is used.

Include Atlantic Rayolight Oil in your market list just as you do any other household utility of known reputation. Call for it by name and you get a superior kerosene that costs no more than the nameless kind.

How'd you get about getting rid of a dab of paint on the window pane? The easiest thing in the world—rub it off with Atlantic Rayolight Oil. Never thought of that, eh? But do you know another use? If you do think one up, hold it for a few days and maybe you can exchange it for something your heart desires.

THE ATLANTIC REFINING CO.

The Comfiest, Coziest Room in the Home is the one that houses a Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater and that should be your dining room. In that room a genial warmth is especially welcome. Used with Atlantic Rayolight Oil, a Perfection Heater burns comparatively little fuel and hence its cost of using is next to nothing. You'll find the Perfection at your dealers.
