J. Roy Raymond, one of Harris township's sterling young men, was a visitor at this office on Friday and in order to have the home news subscribed for the Reporter. Mr. Raymond is employed in the Penney's machine shops at Pitscairn and is doing well.

What will probably be the last Sunday excursion of the season will be run by the Pennsy over the L. & T. railroad Saturday night, to Niagara Falls. The train will leave Centre Hall at 10:40 p. m., and is due to arrive at Niagara Falls 7:30 a. m., Sunday morning.

J. O. Stover, of Reedsville, was in town last week. He is kept busily employed in the big steel plant at Burnham and just now has a change of work in the way of serving the patrons on one of the rural mail routes out of Reedsville while C. H. Meyer, the regular carrier, is on a two weeks' vacation.

Mrs. (Dr.) J. K. Hosterman and son Phillippe, of Crystal City, Missouri, are in Centre county and will visit relatives about Centre Hall and Bellefonte for a month or more. Miss Nellie Smith, daughter of ex-Register J. Frank Smith, of Bellefonte, who spent the past few months in Missouri, accompanied them here.

Montgomery, the town put on the map by furniture manufacturers, was represented on Grange Park by Hervey Smith, president of the First National Bank; William Smith, his only son, business manager of the Penn Furniture company and man of affairs about Montgomery; P. F. Hartman, an insurance agent and breeder of thoroughbred Holstein cattle; John Decker, manufacturer of novelties made from leather, and Bernard Wertz, engineer at the Penn Furniture factory. The party traveled in the junior Mr. Smith's Cadillac car and came by the way of Lewistown just to add distance.

Mrs. Laura M. Hess, of Aurora, Illinois, and Mrs. Marshall Hall, of Williamsport, were among the many visitors in town last week, stopping at the J. C. Roseman home. Mrs. Hess is spending a few weeks with her brother, John Fressler, at Oak Hall, as well as with other relatives in this, her native county. Mrs. Hess informed the Reporter that it is her desire to become a resident of Centre Hall in the near future and to build a cottage home. Her removal to this place depends entirely upon the decision her daughter, Mrs. George M. Hall, of Huntingdon, will reach in regard to the same contemplation. Mrs. Hall owns the brick dwelling house at the upper end of Main street.

J. C. Jackson, of Laketon, Pa., an old soldier of the Civil war, Co. F. 53rd Ps. Vol., passed through Centre Hall last Thursday morning on his way to his daughter's home in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Mr. Jackson is seventy-eight years of age and is in fine physical trim to endure the hardships of foot travel. The entire distance to be covered is 1700 miles. The old soldier does not intend to treat the great walker Weston's title from him, and will do only a reasonable number of miles a day. He will stop at small towns and preach the Gospel on the streets evenings, and pay his way by selling his picture. He contemplates reaching his destination by Christmas.

Governor Brumbaugh calls men fools who say the state is bankrupt. We don't know what to call a man, even the governor of a state, who says there is plenty of money in the state treasury when there isn't enough to pay clerk hire, to say nothing of the lack of funds to pay the school appropriations, etc.

The following persons were entertained at the G. O. Benner home during the past week: J. Q. A. Miles, father of Mrs. Benner, of Martha; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Miller, of Port Matilda, and daughter, Miss Zenoia Miller, of Philadelphia; Misses Bethel and Winifred Smith, of Pittsburgh, and Miss Susan McKinney, of Altoona.

Efficiency and faithfulness in the performance of duty in the 1912 presidential campaign by Hon. C. R. Kurtz, editor of the Centre Democrat and Surveyor of Customs at the Port of Philadelphia, was rewarded by again appointing the Centre centennial publicity manager in the state of Pennsylvania in the second Wilson campaign. During the first Wilson campaign Mr. Kurtz got away from many of the old rut methods of disseminating information and distributing campaign documents by the introduction of new and better ones. The literature, too, was of the better character, care being taken first as to correctness of the statements. The present campaign will afford an opportunity to the head of this department to get to the voters a class and character of literature of great value to the voters, and it will be done.
