

The Lecture Course.

The eighth season of the Centre Hall Lecture Course opened under the most favorable conditions. The first number was entirely satisfactory to every one in the house, and the remaining five numbers for the 1916-17 season are guaranteed by the Eastern Lyceum Bureau, who furnish the attractions, to be even of a better class.

The next number of the course will be the Griswold Sisters Quartet, whose program is made up of instrumental and vocal selections, sketches and readings, on Saturday evening, November 4th. The numerous press comments on the Griswold sisters invariably state that each one is an artist. This in itself is a strong recommendation. They present a delightful and varied program, each one contributing capably to make a pleasing whole.

The committee takes pleasure in announcing that more course tickets have been sold this season than for several years past, indicating that our citizens are willing to continue to patronize clean, wholesome, inspiring and educational lectures and entertainments. There are few localities similar to this where lecture courses—courses with lectures in them—are supported longer than two or three years at a time. The continued patronage of our people is gratifying to the committee and is complimentary to the community.

There are yet five numbers in the course, and it will not require much of a mathematician to calculate that from a point of economy it will be profitable to purchase a season ticket for one dollar, which ticket carries with it a reserved seat.

Wilson Day celebration.

Saturday, October 28th, has been set aside by the Democratic National Committee as Wilson Day. This day will be observed by people all over the United States as a day upon which they will pay their respects to the President of the United States and show their appreciation of the great public service that he has rendered his country.

On that day President Wilson is to send a message to his countrymen which is to be read in every county, city, town and hamlet in the land. This message is to be a sort of proclamation of the New Freedom, and is to be read with all the solemnity of the occasion by some prominent person appointed by the local committee.

State College Politics controlled by 1 Boss.

Two political parties working tooth and nail to elect their candidates, and one boss dominating both factions is the unusual situation at the Pennsylvania State College. Students in the course in political science have divided into Wilson and Hughes supporters, and both organizations are combing the college community for votes. Dr. George L. Zook, associate professor of history, holds the election result in the hollow of his hand, for he is the instructor of the class. Equal suffrage has been extended to the women students for the first time, and they will exercise their ballot privilege at the mock election to be held next week.

In addition to winning the team prize from eight of the foremost agricultural schools of the country, the State College students were rated first, second and third in the individual scores. State leads the field by more than 200 points over South Dakota, its nearest competitor.

To Dedicate New Lodge Home.

The State College lodge, I. O. O. F., has set November 23 and 24 as the days for the dedication exercises of their new hall. Reports from all committees point to a very successful event. The program has not yet been completed but will soon be ready. Arrangements have been made with Dr. Sparks to have all college buildings open to visitors.

From present indications there will be a large turnout of Old Fellows and the parade will be one of the best and biggest ever held in the central part of the State.

The success of all this depends on the railroads. The committee is trying to get specials from Tyrone, Lewisburg and Lock Haven, announcement of which will be made later.

The short time between now and election day will seem an age to the average politician.
