

PROUD OF THEIR MODEL SON

Of Course He Was Young, but Just Then His Habits Were Absolutely Irreproachable.

"Ah, well, wife," said John Rumbles, the honest farmer, "though our corn was stricken with quinsy this year, and our pigs all got the ear disease, and our cabbages were all hollow, and our wheat had appendicitis, we have the consolation of knowing that we have a model son. Just think, Roland has never smoked a cigarette in his whole life."

A Growing Custom!

The custom of placing Grape-Nuts on the table at all meals is growing in American homes.

Both children and grown-ups help themselves to this delicious food as often as they like. It contains the entire nutriment of wheat and barley, digests quickly, and is wonderfully energizing.

Every table should have its daily ration of

KNOCKOUT FOR MR. BROWN

His Better Half's Story of Experience With Lottery Certainly Not Flattering to Him.

Mrs. Brown has a special horror of otteries, and at all times and places she embraces every opportunity of holding forth with vehemence concerning this pet abomination. Her indignation will therefore be imagined when, one evening, her worthy spouse came home and proudly announced that he had joined a goose club. For something like an hour she poured the vials of wrath on her unfortunate husband's head, while he endeavored neekly to bear it all. At last the warmth of the attack proved quite too much for the long-enduring John, and he decided that the time had come for him to fire up in re-

Educated Rooster.

"Spizzerinktum" is an odd name even for a rooster, but this rooster is no ordinary fowl. The bird comes from a strain of Barred Plymouth Rocks, was hatched last May and weighs six pounds. He is owned by E. E. Bennett of Hartford City, who refuses to part with his prize-winner at any price. Judges at various fairs where he has been shown, have told the owner that he is a most promising bird, and this is borne out by the fact that $100 has been offered for him.

"Spizzerinktum" is also an educated fowl. One of his chief delights is riding the seat of a specially constructed wagon and holding the reins over eight boys who act as steeds for him. He drove this team in the centennial parade at Hartford City.-Indianapolis
