The local high school has the largest membership in a number of years, twenty-one students being enrolled. Visitors at the home of Lanson Burris and mother, Mrs. Catharine Burris, west of Centre Hall, on Sunday, were the following, comprising five auto loads: Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Benner returned home on Friday from a five-weeks' trip, during which time they visited points in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri. They expressed themselves as more than delighted with the fine country they saw and enjoyed brief stops with former Centre county friends, among which were the T. G. Wilson family at Elizabethville, Ill.; the Bruce Goodhart family and James Snyder family at Freeport. The trip was made with no set time for returning home and going as their fancy determined, they gained the maximum of pleasure besides deriving inestimable physical benefits.

Julian A. Fleming Dead.

Julian A. Fleming died in the Bellefonte hospital Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock as a result of ulcer of the stomach. His illness dates back to August and was induced by the intense heat. For several months he laid at the Centre Hall hotel and five weeks ago was removed to the hospital. For the past week he was able to take practically no nourishment. Consciousness left him on Sunday and the end came peacefully and without a struggle. His youngest son, D. Earl Fleming, was with his father for two weeks preceding his death.

Mr. Fleming was born in Ellairs, New York, in March, 1848, hence was in his sixty-ninth year. He came to Centre county with his father, the late Denmore D. Fleming, in 1873, and for a time engaged in lumbering. Later he became connected with the Johnston Harvester company in the capacity of salesman and general repair man and followed this line of work up until two years ago when he retired and came to Centre Hall to live among his friends. He was widely known throughout the county and sold the first modern reapers to be used by farmers on the south side of Centre county. He held the first field binder trial, in the late 70's, on the then Breon farm, now owned by D. K. Keller, east of Centre Hall. The machines used were the McCormick and Deering. He was considered an expert in his line of work, both as a machinist and a salesman. Socially Mr. Fleming was a true gentleman and was able to carry on intelligent conversation on varied subjects.

His wife was Mary Ellen, daughter of Daniel Fleisher, and preceded him to the grave twenty years ago and was buried at Tusseyville.

Mr. Fleming was affiliated with both local Masonic and Odd Fellows fraternities. He became a member of the former at Milroy but when the Old Fort lodge, F. & A. M., was instituted here, in 1875, he joined as a charter member and was its second worshipful master. Owing to his being away from home the greater part of the time, and mostly in West Virginia, he had his membership transferred to Wheeling, W. Va. The body is lying at the home of his sister-in-law, Miss Kathryn Fleisher, where brief funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at 10 o'clock and at the grave the local Masonic order will take charge. Interment will be made in the Centre Hall cemetery.

Mr. Fleming leaves two sons—Malcolm, of Spokane, Washington, and D. Earl, of Baltimore, Maryland. No brothers or sisters survive him.

DEATHS.

Lydia, wife of William E. Haines, died at her home in Rebersburg, Tuesday morning, after a lengthy illness with heart trouble, aged forty-seven years, seven months and nineteen days. Besides the husband, one son, Harry, of Pittsboro, survives. Also these brothers and sister: Andrew J. Ocker, of Big Rock, Ill.; George W., of Lewisburg; Thomas A., of Rebersburg; and Mrs. Mary Hartman, of Erie. Burial will be made in the Union cemetery in Rebersburg on Friday morning, Rev. J. L. Metzgar to officiate.

Mrs. Samuel Ripka died at her home in Millheim on Tuesday morning at four o'clock, after a lingering illness with diabetes, terminating in dropsy. Her maiden name was Hulda Garis and she was born about fifty-six years ago. Her husband, who survives, is a brother of A. C. Ripka of this place. No children were born to their union, but three sisters survive her. Burial will be made Friday morning at Millheim, Rev. W. H. Brown officiating.

Mrs. John Neff Dead.

Mrs. John Neff, for many years a resident of Centre Hall, died in Bethany, Illinois, a few days ago. Interment will be made at Centre Hall the latter part of this week.

Two Farms Sold.

E. Clayton Wagner purchased the farm which he originally owned and which he sold to H. C. Shirk about three years ago, this week. The farm is situated at Stone Mill and tenanted by C. E. Flink, who will remain on the place.

G. W. Tressler sold at public sale on Saturday his 50-acre farm, east of Penns Cave, George A. Hettinger being the purchaser. Consideration, $3,025.00.

Cornelius Bland is at the home of Wilbur Bland, recovering from the effects of several broken ribs. He fell from a wagon, when the lock broke.

Pennsylvania farmers are slow in adding tractors to their equipment and seem to be waiting for a practical light tractor.

On October 1 there was about 3 per cent of the 1915 wheat crop in the farmers' hands, but most of it has been disposed of at present high prices.

Speedy and Easy Riding

There's little comfort in most low priced cars. You can't use their speeds. They jostle you—they ride roughly—they don't hold the road.

The $635 Overland is different. It is not only the speediest of low priced cars—

But you can use the full speed of its powerful motor when you need it.

STATE AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

Farmers throughout the State are reported to be stocking up with a good quality of cattle for feeding purposes.

The increased price for milk being obtained by producers is inducing them to improve their dairies and add high grade cows.

It is estimated that 13,140,000 hens on the farms of Pennsylvania annually produce about 100,000,000 dozen eggs.

A record price of $1.00 a dozen is being paid a New York banker for a shipment of twelve dozen eggs weekly from Lycoming county.

Pasture lands which a year ago were reported far above an average, now show only 90 per cent.

Unlucky Name.

Mrs. Morgan came to the city to celebrate the birth of her first grandson. There was much agitation over the selection of a name, but the father finally suggested "Elia."

"Now, Annie," said Mrs. Morgan to her daughter, "don't ye name your boy any such name."

"Why, mother?"

"Because," explained Mrs. Morgan, "I bin readin' o' them Aliaes in yer papers since I've bin here. There's the Alia Thompson, Alia Williams, Alia the Night-Hawk all bin took up for stealin'. It ain't no good name, I tell ye."

Why Called "Pin Money?"

Why is it called "pin money?" The answer to that question goes away back to the fourteenth century. Pins were pins in those days! They were not carelessly lost or cast away as they are now. The law permitted that they be sold only on the first two days of each January, in order that they might not become too common. It therefore became the custom for women of all classes to buy their year's supply of pins on those two days, and the money given to them by their husbands or fathers for that purpose was "pin money."

NOT MEANT TO BE SERIOUS

Comparative Harmlessness of French Duels is Largely a Matter of Arrangement.

A large proportion of the duels in France end without bloodshed. When the offense is not very serious it is agreed beforehand that the words of command shall be given so rapidly that the duellists will not have time to take good aim. Sometimes three shots are exchanged without a hit, and then the seconds step in and—"honor is satisfied." At the word "Fire!" the pistol is raised instantly, and it must be discharged not later than the word "three," so the speed with which these words are given regulates the time in which it is possible to take aim. Therefore the speed with which they are spoken is agreed upon beforehand, this depending upon the seriousness of the duel. The words are timed with a metronome. If the encounter be very serious this is set at the slowest speed, 80 beats a minute, which gives time for taking accurate aim. A speed of 140 beats a minute allows no time for aiming, and therefore, is used when the seconds consider the duel should be made as little dangerous as possible.

Rural Life, the Nation's Hope.

I warn my countrymen that the great recent progress made in city life is not a full measure of our civilization, for our civilization rests at bottom on the wholesomeness, the attractiveness and the completeness, as well as the prosperity of life in the country. The men and women on the farms stand for what is fundamentally best and most needed in our American life. Upon the development of country life rests ultimately our ability, by methods requiring the highest intelligence, to continue to feed and clothe the hungry nation; to supply the city with fresh blood, clean bodies and clear brains that can endure the terrific strain of modern life; we need the development of men in the open country who will be in the future as in the past the stay and strength of the nation.—Theodore Roosevelt.
