CLEANLINESS AGAINST INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., L. D., D. Sc. Commissioner of Health. It used to be the custom for housewives to cleanse their homes twice a year and now advanced sanitation requires that the home must be kept clean at all times.

The benefit of cleanliness about the home reflects both upon the physical health and the morality of our people. The necessity of cleanliness in our homes has become so manifest that it is not worth while to dwell further upon it.

During the recent battle against infantile paralysis, we took two small towns which were badly infected with the disease and had the homes cleansed, insect life destroyed, food kept clean and no garbage, ash piles or manure was allowed to collect. The streets and alleys were made clean in each town and infantile paralysis rapidly disappeared. The cleaning up of the municipalities seemed to run parallel with the subsiding of the disease.

The fact that the disease spreads at times beyond the boundary lines of these dirty breeding places is no argument against the theory of cleanliness as a preventative of infantile paralysis. At present it is well to look upon filth and insect life as factors taking a large part in permitting the so-called plague to invade our homes.

There has been much said upon the possibility of an epidemic next year. This will not necessarily follow. It might however and certainly it will come back some day.

Cleanliness regarding our children, homes, stables, yards and towns as well as guarding our houses from all kinds of insect life must be insisted upon by each individual citizen and by those in charge of the health and cleanliness of our towns, country, villages and homes.

That man Wallace White is some driller. At one place he drills for water, and finds it, at another he drills to bury water and finds a sink. He always gets what he is after—if he keeps on going. Many others could do the same thing if they would.

Constables Pay for Setting Auto Traps.

Constables who have been setting traps for autoists and reaping financial harvests through arrests and threats of arrest, in Luzerne county, have been treated roughly by the grand jury.

One constable brought in eleven cases against autoists. All were ignored, and he was saddled with the costs. Another constable had ten cases ignored and was forced to pay the costs. The third had eight cases ignored, but the county was ordered to pay the costs.

The purpose of the grand jury, the members say, was "to teach 'fee crazy' constables of the county a lesson."

It had come to the attention of the jury that in many sections constables do nothing but prey on autoists, and that they have been collecting much easy money through arrests and threats of arrest.

The Youth's Companion Calendar For 1917.

The Publishers of The Youth's Companion are presenting, as always at this season, to every subscriber whose subscription is paid for 1917, a calendar for the new year. It is decidedly unusual, and strikingly artistic. The colors are well chosen and richly blended. It was made primarily, however, for actual use, and is well named the Practical Home Calendar.

Cows and Kerosene

Old Bossy gives excellent milk on sweet clover and new, tender grass. But if she gets into garlic or eats too many pumpkins—well, you know what happens then. But do you know what's wrong when your lamp smells, smokes and flickers? Very often it's because it's consuming the wrong kind of food—ordinary kerosene instead of

ATLANTIC Rayolight OIL

Atlantic Rayolight Oil doesn't smoke up the ceiling and foul the air with that nasty burning odor. Why? Because it's so highly refined and thoroughly purified that it can't. But it does give you a clearer light and a more radiant heat than you ever experienced in a lamp or oil stove before. Try it in your lantern some dark night and see the difference.

There's a big feeling of satisfaction in having a barrel of Atlantic Rayolight Oil on your place. Ask for it by name and be sure the brand name is on the barrel before you take it home.
