

DEATHS.

Miss Eva Moyer, daughter of J. K. and Mary E. Moyer, died at her home in Rebersburg on Monday morning, after a year's illness which began with an attack of pneumonia while teaching school. She was in her forty-eighth year. Funeral service will be held this (Thursday) morning, to be conducted by Rev. J. D. Hunsicker, assisted by Rev. J. R. Brown, a former pastor, of Esterly. Interment in the Union cemetery.

As a public school teacher Miss Moyer was highly successful. She was a graduate of Palatinus College, Myerstown, and then followed teaching in the public school for eighteen years. She also taught several terms at Bethany Orphan Home, Womelsdorf, and at the Greenville orphanage.

Through baptism and confirmation she united with the Reformed church of which she became a faithful and devout member. She was the oldest of a family of ten children and is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Flora Limbert, John N. Moyer, of Rebersburg; Mrs. Sarah Bray, of Freland; Mrs. Elizabeth Krieger of Toledo, Ohio; H. Bruce Moyer of Corning, New York; Mrs. Rebecca Ziegler, of Mont Alto; J. K., of Corning, New York; and Miriam, of Orangeville, Pa.

James Gunsallus, a well known resident of Nittany, and who with his wife celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary a few months ago, died on Sunday a week ago after a brief illness with pneumonia, aged eighty-three years. He is survived by his wife and the following children: Mrs. Nettie Stover, of St. Marys; William, of Mill Hill; Mrs. J. D. Cassidy, of Lock Haven; Mrs. Henry McCloskey, of Mackeyville; Charles, of Nittany; George, of Lamar; Mrs. George Fisher and Thomas, of Huston, and Mrs. John Delaney, of near Centre Hall. He also leaves one brother, Ira Gunsallus, of Blanchard. Burial was made in the Baptist cemetery at Blanchard, Thursday morning.

Baby Burned to Death.

A most distressing accident occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mays, who tenant the George Harper farm near Pine Grove Mills, on Saturday evening when their sixteen-month-old son, John, was burnt to death. The parents were at the barn doing the evening work and left the little fellow in charge of Edward, his three-year-old brother. Playing about the stove, a spark ignited the little tot's clothing. Edward ran to the barn but being in a badly scared condition could do nothing more than indicate that something was wrong at home. Hurrying to the house the parents found the baby's clothes burned from its body and the child in great suffering, dying three hours later. It was buried on Tuesday afternoon.

For You, Mr. Farmer.

Guy W. Jacobs, who since his graduation from The Pennsylvania State College in June, 1910, has been in the employ of the York Manufacturing Company, of York, as an erecting engineer of ice plants, during which time he has been in all parts of the United States, severed his connection with that firm last week to accept the position of manager of the Stubenville (Ohio) Ice Company, a concern which has a daily output of 120 tons of ice.

Mr. Jacobs' desire to quit the road and settle down prompted him to take this step. He has gained a lot of practical experience in the ice business which will prove an asset in assuming his new duties. The phrase "settled down" which is referred to above as the motive for change of work, may be taken at its full meaning, for it is becoming generally known that single life is losing its charm and ere long the order of the Benedictines will have a new member. The fortunate young woman is a school teacher and lives somewhere in Texas. Mr. Jacobs, from Monday until Wednesday morning, was at his home in this place arranging some matters preparatory to leaving for his new location where he will probably be found for some time. The Reporter is more than glad to note the rise of this young man, whose friendship the writer has enjoyed since early school days.

HARRISBURG NEWS LETTER.

completely destroying his already badly-damaged reputation. The outlander may wonder why the victorious Penrose crowd may desire peace with the Vares, but it is expensive to keep up continuous political fights, especially when the liquor interests are not particularly interested. Then again the Vares have the city administration of Philadelphia and McNichol just must get in on some of the big contracts that are to be let soon. Thus the battle of contractor-bosses goes on and Pennsylvania looks on and smiles contentedly because her fair name has long since been lost and there is no "worst to come."

There was plenty of heat in Harrisburg when the committee assignments were announced Tuesday. The Penrose control of both Senate and House was absolutely maintained and the Brumbaugh-Vare crowd fared better than the Democrats. It was the first time in many a year that such chastisement was given the Republican who disclaimed Penrose ownership, and it really required the services of every $6 per day ventilator-tender to keep the Capitol in anything like ordinary condition.

A delegation of over 100 prominent business men of Scranton came to town to interview the Legislature and urge some remedial legislation for the mine caves which are now a great menace to Scranton and which will ultimately affect the entire anthracite region. And these are the heads of committees to whom they will be required to entrust the future of their important city: Hess, a farmer of Lancaster county, Chairman of Mines and mining Committee of the House, and Baldwin, of Potter, Chairman of the same committee in the Senate. Some other members who have been assigned to the mines committee of the House are Goodnough, a lumberman from Cameron county; Chesnut, a farmer from Fulton county, and Lanius, a farmer from York.

STATE AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

The valuation of all livestock in Pennsylvania is estimated at $181,000,000 and it is estimated that there is an annual loss from preventable diseases of approximately $85,000,000.

The Dairy and Food Bureau of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture purchases and analyses between 6,000 and 7,000 samples of food each year in order to protect the public in securing pure and clean foods.

Although no indemnity has been paid by the State during the past year for cattle destroyed to prevent the spread of tuberculosis there have been practically as many requests for tuberculin tests as in the previous year. Estimates show that the amount of commercial feeding stuffs annually sold in the State is 900,000 tons with a value of at least $20,000,000.

Drainage and water supply systems on 290 farms in the State were laid out by the engineer of the Farm Advisers Bureau of the Department of Agriculture during the year.

With the exception of two western States, Pennsylvania has more tenant farmers than any other state north of the Mason and Dixon line.

Had Swallowed Bullets.

During an incidental operation in the abdomen of a patient at Swansea (Wales) hospital, the surgeons observed that the appendix was remarkably long, though not inflamed. Investigation showed that it was full of "bird shot." Forty-two small lead pellets, weighing altogether one dram eight grains, were removed. The patient later said he had been accustomed to eating frequently rabbits which had been shot. In the course of his gastronomic treats he had unconsciously swallowed the small bullets. He recovered.

Why the Operator Repeats the Number

When numbers are called from memory, the voice is apt to be uncertain and halting. In order to make sure that she has heard correctly, the operator repeats the number after you.

If you will always listen to this repetition, saying "Correct" when such is the case and advising the operator when it is not, one of the most troublesome difficulties in telephone operating will be eliminated, and your service will be benefited accordingly.
