Train Wieck at Port Matilda,

The ancient stunt of one train endeavoring to pass another on the same track was again tried at Port Matilda about 9:15 Thursday night with the result that one man received slight injuries and two big engines are consigned to the shops for extensive repairs. PG 16 eastbound with twentynine cars, Engineer Joseph Twitmire, received orders to take the passing side at Port Matilda for Extra 3070 westbound with forty-seven empties and three loaded cars in charge of Engineer James W. Kleckner and Conducter Sharp. It is said that the latter crew not only ran past the "stop signal" but also gave wide 1463 berth to their meeting point. When PG 16 was about fifteen or tweny feet 1499 in on the passing siding the westbound 1478 crashed into them. Both engines were badly damaged. The westbound train suffered the loss of three cars in the smast -up while the PG had but one car out of services and it only had the front truck off the track. The on y one injured was Fireman C. H. Harp, of Suppury, who jumped from his engine when he saw the collision was it.evitable. He sustsined slight injuries to his leg.

Setting forest fires in Pennsylvania is no longer the pleasant pastime in used to be. Since the legislature of 1915 put teeth into the forest fire law and provided for the establishment of a bureau of forest protection within the Department of Forestry, more prosecutions and investigations in connection with forest fires have been started than in all toe previous years since the creation of the Department.

In all, thirty-six cases have been referred to the Attorney General's Department by the Commissioner of Forestry during the past year. Legal action was authorized in ninteen of these cases. Four convictions have secured to date, thirteen cases are still 1437 pending, and there have been but two acquittais. In several additional cases criminal action was not directed by 1427 the Attorney General because of ex- 1428 treme poverty of the defendants and absence of criminal intent in setting

No fewer than thirty-nine bills for the extinguishment of forest fires were paid by those who were responsible for starting the fires, and in these cases no criminal prosecution was ordered. In cases where fires were started by children at play, parente, school teachers, and scout masters were informed, and the bills for extinguishment were submitted to the parente.

Two of the cases which attracted much attention were those of Frank Holden and Lewis Venemens, both of Lycoming county. Holden confessed to setting twenty-five forest fires in one day, when accused by the forester in charge of the Pine State Forest, at Waterville. He has since been 1446 sentenced to the Huntingdon Reformatory. Venemens refused to assist a fire warden in extinguishing a forest fire, when he had no legitimate excuse for refusal. He was held under $300 bail for court, but on appealing for clemency and promising to give assistance in the future, he was released on payment of costs and fine amounting to about twenty-five dollars. Other cases of the same kind are pending in Lackswanns county against Relph Weizel and Christian Brady.

WHY MILK REFLECTS LIGHT

It Throws Back Rays in Every Direction.

One is often apt to forget that color s merely a reflection of light, and that anything which reflects light per fectly will be the color of that light.

The most nearly perfect form to reflect is a sphere. The moon is bright because it reflects the sun. The earth is bright for the same reason, as one can see at the time of new moon when the part of the moon hidden from the sun by the earth shines faint-

Milk is like a collection of moons.

It is a liquid filled with minute droplets of fat, each of them a perfect sphere. When the light strikes these, it is reflected at every angle, reflect ed on to other droplets of fat and by them reflected on and on, until from every point in the milk the white light that strikes on the outside is re-glass, but so small that several thousand could be put on the head of a pin, and you will see the reason for the reflection, or the white color of

When, in the case of milk, the number of these little reflecting drops grows smaller, then the light is not reflected so much, and the liquid grows more transparent. Absence of full reflection makes milk less white, or, in a sense, more bluish, as the semitrans-parency of air makes blue sky, and of
