DEATHS.

James Wells Evans, a highly respected citizen of Gregg township, died at his home in Georges Valley, about two miles west of Spring Mills, on Monday afternoon at four o'clock. Mr. Evans had been ailing for more than a year and for the past seven weeks was confined to his bed. A complication of diseases and advancing years was responsible for his death.

Mr. Evans was a son of James G. and Rebecca (Colyer) Evans and was born in the vicinity where he died, on March 4th, 1843, hence was past seventy-four years of age. He was one of a family of three children, the other two being Rev. L. Kryder Evans, of Pottstown, and Rev. J. M. Evans, of Butler. The deceased followed farming all his life and about sixteen years ago removed from the old Evans homestead. He was married to Miss Sarah Hess, who departed this life in 1900. Three children remain, as follows: Irene, Catharine and James Evans, all at home. Mr. Evans was a faithful member of the Salem Reformed church at Penn Hall for many years. His pastor, Rev. M. D. Geesey, will have charge of the funeral services which will be held at the home on Friday morning. Burial in the Salem cemetery.

Sarah Elizabeth Gingerich, the bright little daughter of Mrs. Ella Gingerich, died at the parental home in Boalsburg early Monday morning, after several months illness with rheumatism. She was aged eleven years, seven months, and six days. The mother, these sisters and brother survive: Mildred, Catharine, Margaret, Harry and Marie. The father, John Gingerich, died only a few weeks ago. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon and burial made at Boalsburg. Rev. S. C. Stover officiating.

W. H. Dornlezer, a prominent citizen of Clinton county, died at his home at Lamar, aged seventy-two years. HARRISBURG NEWS LETTER their legislative representatives is to be determined by the amount of the appropriations which they secure for the local charities. Reinforced by this sentiment back home the legislator is forced to submit to the will of the boss who controls these charity appropriations.

"The existing methods of making appropriations to the charitable institutions of the state is responsible for the fact that our government has become a government of the special interests," by the bosses and for the spoils.

"If these appropriations are justified they are matters of right and not favor. Our proposition as embodied in this bill is that the right should be recognized, that the poor, the maimed and the stricken should be treated and cared for and that the state should pay the expense thereof. We would recognize right of the unfortunate to treatment and the right of the hospital to reimbursement. We deny the right of a political boss to distribute millions of dollars of public funds as a favor to the recipient for the purpose of creating a debt to him who collected through the ballot box."

"Our proposition is to support charity for the benefit of the people and prevent its capitalization as an asset of a political boss."

Rarely has Pennsylvania's government, crippled by self-seeking politicians who it be, presented a more pitiable spectacle than the quarrel over the "spoils" which started last week between the legislative-created Commission of Public Safety and Defense and the gubernatorial-created Committee on Public Safety.

Pennsylvania's course in public defense matters since war on Germany was declared by congress has been, at best, lamentable. Support of the national administration has been confined mainly to words—and many of these words were resolutions by the legislature, produced by Democrats who, hamstrung by Republican factionalism, were unable to go further than words. The only exception to Pennsylvania's dawdling was the manner in which National Guard units responded to President Wilson's call for police duty; there was no opportunity for pettiness.

The Legislature haggled for weeks over the method by which the $2,000,000 public defense appropriation carried in the Woodward-Euckman bill should be spent. Governor Brumbaugh, having consented to a "war board" headed by himself, allowed the bill to lie on his desk for days without action.

No sooner was the money made available by his signature than a quarrel broke out between the commission and the committee. Unfortunately, nobody has been able to find at the bottom of the difference the slightest trace of patriotism. It simply has gotten down to the usual quarrel over the spoils.

LIKE THE WHISKERED MAN

War Has Caused Quite a Change in the Views of Waiters in New York Hotels.

Broadway hotels, restaurants and lobster palaces are full of whiskers. They are not the alfalfa variety that are raised in Kansas or the hayseed kind from the small towns. These whiskers are luxuriant looking, nicely trained, are groomed and perfumed, writes the New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh dispatch. Each hirsute appendage bears the stamp of Russian, Persian, Italian and Latin-American cultivation. The war has driven thousands of foreigners of great wealth and social position to these shores, and they have brought plenty of money with them to enjoy the gay life. The facial drapery is a ready-money sign to the servitors. Let any man with whiskers and a polished manner take a seat at the restaurant tables and the waiter immediately begins to figure up the size of the tip he will receive. Some of the tips are said to be so large from these foreigners that the waiters are almost on the verge of nervous prostration. Strange, too, not long ago the man who hid his face behind a beard was looked upon by the serving men as a tightwad. Gascon gave him the once-over and cursed fate for having to serve him. But now they welcome the man with whiskers with a smile and an itchy palm.

British Sea Food.

Whatever may come to Great Britain in the way of high prices for meats she still will have a limitless supply of fish, a food supply denied to Germany and her allies. The London market quotes a good demand at fair prices for turbot, brill, halibut, soles, plaice, whiting, hake, gurnet, skate, live cod, red mullet, dorset, haddock, live and dead eels, etc. English mackerel are quoted at four shillings, about a dollar, for twenty, and dead cod at seven shillings six pence a stone, that is $1.87 for 14 pounds. Four boats at Yarmouth landed, in spite of rough weather, 180 barrels of fresh fish. The price of herring went up from 80 shillings to 120 shillings a can—that is, a barrel. Along the coast of Scotland many vessels were out. At Aberdeen 16 vessels, all trawlers, landed a total of 53 tons. These with one exception were one-night trippers.

"Those Pesky

Punctures Picked My Pockets"

HOW much money have you spent—how much worry, annoyance and loss of time have you suffered—from punctures and "blow-outs"? What would you give to be absolutely free from these costly and disagreeable incidents of motoring?

We can show you a way to do it—equip your car with ESSENKAY, the real substitute for air in automobile tires and never again will a "flat tire" have any terrors for you.

No More Punctures or "Blowouts"

ESSENKAY Tire Filler is no experiment. It is a demonstrated positive success! It prevents punctures and "blowouts," doubles tire mileage, cuts tire cost in half, rides like air over smooth surfaces and easier than air over rough roads; does away with the expense and added weight of extra tires, tubes, rims, etc.

We are the exclusive agents for ESSENKAY. We install it in your car, and give you a careful, continuous, personal service that insures you absolute freedom from tire troubles.

Come in Today—Don't Delay!

SATURDAY

BAKING day. A roaring hot fire! Goodness knows it's hot enough anywhere this weather, but that kitchen is almost unbearable. Why should it be? There's another way. All over this nation busy housewives are using and they get the same big brown loaves, crisp cookies and flaky pies without heating up the whole house and wearing themselves all out.

A Perfection is always ready to fry, boil or roast. No waiting for the fire to draw up. No carrying wood, shoveling coal and toting ashes. The fireless cooker and the separate oven are two big features. Ask your dealer.

Perfection Oil Cook Stoves burn the most economical of fuels—kerosene. And the best kerosene is Atlantic Rayolight. Ask for it at the store that displays this sign: "Atlantic Rayolight Oil for Sale Here."
