Do all you can to encourage a safe and particularly sane "Fourth" this year. It is no time for mak-thc-sigle-scream-and-fire cracker stuff, but as a noted speaker said, time for deep and serious thought.

Kern, when a young man, was a resident of this town and from here went to prepare for the ministry. Later he was the first pastor of the Evangelical church to be returned for four years.

Coop & Lent's circus attracted a large number from this side to Bellefonte, on Saturday. Those who went only for the parade, which was scheduled to appear at 10:30 o'clock, and had to stand around in the hot sun until it finally showed up at 12 o'clock, were hardly repaid for their time. The parade lacked in big features, as did the show under the big top. All Centre county appeared to be "circus hungry" and the result was that an extra section of seats had to be erected to accommodate the crowd.

Wants Couch for Policeman. Council has reinstated William E. Hockenbrecht, a policeman, in spite of a recommendation of Burgess Keiser that he be discharged, the burress declaring the officer loafed in city hall instead of patrolling his beat, which Hockenbrecht admitted.

After his reinstatement the burress recommended that the borough buy Hockenbrecht a couch for use while on duty.—Sunbury (Pa.) Dispatch Philadelphia Record.

Gets Along Without Bananas. Since Italy's entrance into the war the commonest of fruits, the banana, has disappeared. In a recent trip, including five of the most important cities in Germany, I was unable to procure a single specimen of the fruit.—From "Is Germany Hungry?" in the Saturday Evening Post.

Poodle Dog Trees Housed. A 22-caliber poodle dog tree a 45-centimeter bobcat near the tankhouse of the city waterworks in Parley's canyon and kept him in a state of siege on the top of a telephone pole until the feline was shot by Louis Shrieker, caretaker at the tankhouse, according to the Salt Lake Tribune.

Spring Mills has a war hero. Milton Shunk, only son of Jerry Shunk, came home the night before Decoration, his parents thought, to spend the holiday at home. He left again in the morning telling his mother he had secured a good position at Lewisburg. The next word they had from him he had enlisted and was on his way to Ohio to a training camp. He feared his parents' opposition and took that way to spare his mother a heartbreaking farewell. He is but a lad of not yet nineteen.

Memorial Day was observed in a fitting manner and more interest was taken than in former years. The P. O. E. of A. had charge of the arrangements. That order met at the Grange Hall at nine o'clock, and accompanied by the veterans proceeded to the Union cemetery at Farmers Mills where they decorated the soldiers' graves, being assisted by the citizens and Sunday-school of that place. The address was given by Rev. R. R. Jones. At 2 o'clock the delegation visited the Holy Cross cemetery in Georges Valley. The address at this place was delivered by Rev. L. A. Miller. At 6 o'clock the members of the various Sunday-schools, citizens, soldiers, and different orders met at the Grange hall and from there proceeded to the Presbyterian cemetery. After decorating the several soldiers' graves they entered the church. Eight girls executed a pantomime while Miss Gertrude Musser sang The Star Spangled Banner, after which Prof. Stapleton addressed the crowd with an eloquent oration, pleasing all who heard it.

The flag raising on Memorial Day was attended by several hundred people. Prof. Ziegler delivered a most inspiring address which was appreciated by all.

Rev. J. A. Bright, of Topeka, Kansas, preached a very able sermon in the Lutheran church on Sunday evening. This being Rev. Bright's former home, he was heartily greeted on all sides by his friends.

English Soldier Somewhat Irreverent In Describing Alleged Occurrence at Mons.

W. B. Trites, the novelist, said on his return from the war:

"On the surface it appears that England in this war is showing more respect than France for religion. Thus, in France, a preacher got three months recently for preaching that the French losses and defeats were God's punishment for France's wickedness; but in England the papers are full of reverent discussion of the Mons angel legend—the legend of the white band of angels that protected the English troops in their great retreat."

"Now these things don't prove France less religious than England. They only prove her less foolish. For the Mons angels' yarn and the French preacher's vapors have nothing to do with religion. They concern human stupidity. And England has always been friendlier to human stupidity than France."

"I met one Englishman, a Tommy, who treated that Mons angel business right."

"And did you really see the angels?" I asked him in a Calais estaminet.

"Sure, sir," he said, with a wink. "But were you near them?"

"Near 'em, sir?" he said. "Why, me and a pal o' mine was so near 'em that my pal spotted an aunt o' his among 'em."

As the Years Roll On.

You remarked fatuously the other day, "I'm just as young as I ever was."

Oh, no, you're not! If young people weren't too polite, they'd soon undeceive you. You have been so busy leading a successful life that you have forgotten to notice that your successful life has been led. Youth is flitting you every day. Youth is through with you. You appeal to it for recognition, and it laughs at you.

You still young? You? No, indeed! Look at real youth pursuing its fantastic preferences; at Reginald Warneford, engaging a Zeppelin single handed, in regions near the sun; at Otto von Weddigen leaving his bride to carry on a desperate warfare under seas.

Do you honestly sympathize with them?—Atlantic Monthly.

Pineapple Cures Hiccups. One of the thousands of suggestions of cures which have flooded in upon George Sentz of Spring Grove, whose strength had for weeks been wearing away under the strain of continual hiccups, appears to have cured him.

Sentz was about to submit to an operation when a letter came from a Baltimore sympathizer, suggesting that he take four tablespoonfuls of pineapple juice.

He tried it and to his delight and amazement the hiccupping stopped.—York (Pa.) Dispatch to Philadelphia Press.

Made Good Use of Long Life.

William Wallace Spence of Baltimore, who died recently at the age of one hundred years and thirteen days, is said to have determined early in life that he would live to be a centenarian. He was a man of wonderful determination, and will power no doubt helped him to realize his ambition in this respect. In other ways also Mr. Spence was a notable man. He came to America with $100, but amassed a large fortune and spent it for the public good.

TUESDAY

HOW the old range does love to heat things up, especially when it's sizzling hot outside! Then, there's always the coal or wood to carry, always that constant raking and poking, pulling this and pushing that, to keep the fire going.

But the ironing must be done. There's no other way to do it, is there? No, not unless you have a New Perfection Oil Cook Stove in your kitchen.

NEW PERFECTION OIL COOK-STOVES

have made thousands of women happy—freed them from the ironing day and the everyday drudgery and overwork you have now.

A Perfection will heat the irons on Tuesdays. And it's always ready to bake, fry, boil or roast at the strike of a match. You'll be particularly interested in the separate oven and the fireless cooker. Your dealer will explain about them. Ask him.

THE ATLANTIC REFINING COMPANY Philadelphia and Pittsburgh

One of the many good points about a Perfection is that it burns the most economical fuel—kerosene. And the best kerosene is Rayolight. It's so highly refined that it burns without smoking, sputtering, smelling or charring the wicks. Look for this sign:
