Bound to Be on Ballot.

T. P. Twibill and George Sterner, Philadelphia, brought mandamus proceedings in the Dauphin County Court to compel the Secretary of the Commonwealth to place their names on the primary election ballots as candidates for Judge in Common Pleas Court No. 5, Philadelphia.

They found the office closed on the evening of the last day for filing petitions and threw their papers over the transom. The papers were found next morning and rejected.

Not on Volunteer Basis.

State draft headquarters gave out a telegram from Provost Marshal General Crowder, in which local boards are warned against making up quotas from only those men who declare willingness to serve in the new National Army. It is said by him that such practice is in effect making up the quotas from volunteers.

The newly appointed boards in the middle district organized at Harrisburg and Scranton.

The State headquarters draws attention to the dates for calling the next two quotas of 30 per cent. each of the total number of men drafted, September 19 and October 3. Asked to Fix Urban Roads.

The first application to the State Highway Department for construction of State highways through boroughs to whose borders such roads extend was made at the capitol by a delegation from Susquehanna county, which asked that the department improve the highways in Montrose and New Milford. These towns are about nine miles apart, and on the main highway from Scranton to Binghamton.

The delegation included Judge H. A. Denny, Senator E. E. Jones, Representative Allen D. Miller and the county commissioners. They stated that New Milford had voted the money to cooperate for its share. The State will make a survey at once.

Only Barefooted Recruit.

Barefooted and wearing only overalls, blue shirt, sweater and cap, Milton Chreimer, a Lancaster county farm hand, hiked 16 miles over the mountains to Lebanon to enlist in the United States army.

VOLUNTEERS - WILL PICK GREAT 1917 CROP OF APPLES

For the first time in the history of LOCAL BODIES FORMING CREWS THROUGHOUT COUNTRY.

> Suggestions About Harvesting Made by the Government Food Administration.

A concentrated "drive" is now being made throughout the country for crews of fruit pickers to harvest the great apple crop of 1917. In most sections this year the important work will be done by volunteer pickers, men and women, boys and girls, eager to do John Williamson, of Liverpool, their part, and intelligent but unfamilraised a two-pound two-ounce potato. iar with the job before them. Under direction of the government food administration, public-spirited organizations eyerywhere are getting the crews made up and ready for work.

Each grower should now get in touch how many pickers he will need, when While Norristown pays 50 cents a he will need them, for how long, and hundred for ice, it may be purchased what arrangements he can make for

Let the grower tell his pickers how of fruit or vegetable, is like the tin that protects canned goods. As the tin that incloses a can of tomatoes guards the sterilized contents from the air. and as even a slight pinhole in this tin would allow the air to enter and carry germs of decay, so the skin of an apple protects its flesh, which is perfectly sterile, and the least cut, even a deat made by a finger nail, allows germs to enter and start decay. A cut so tiny that it can only be detected under the microscope at picking time will, nevertheless, start a germ invasion which will show up later.

For this reason great care must be taken in picking fruit. The grower should show their pickers how to grasp an apple and give it the skillful twist that separates it from the tree. He must caution them against dropping the apples carelessly in the boxes and baskets, and see that they have picking baskets and field boxes which are free from splinters and nails.

This year's crop will have to be Roy Hawkins asks $1,000 and Elmer lines in many sections. With a crew managed along somewhat different customary to grade and pack much of the fruit as fast as it comes from the trees. There will probably be a shortage of packers, and many growers will have to devote all their efforts to picking the crop and getting it into temporary storage first, and then packing it later

More good apples are spoiled every year by carelessness between the time they are picked and the time they are packed than in any other way. Fall nights are cool, but fall days are apt to be warm. Apples are left in the orchard several days and alternately cool and heat with the changes in temperature until their quality deteriorates. The proper way to care for apples is to put them into common storage as soon as they come from the tree. Almost any good tight building will answer for the temporary storage needed between picking and packing.

When fruit leaves the tree it contains vegetable heat just as an animal has animal heat, and as the carcass of an animal Will spoil after killing unless It is properly cooled, so fruit will, spoil unless cooled. With a tight shed, into which fruit can be carried direct from the orchard, the grower can use the cool nights of autumn to take the heat out of his fruit. Doors and windows of the temporary storage shed plentiful currents of cool air, and when the sun comes up and the outside air grows warm again this storage place should be closed to exclude the warm outer air as much as possible. and keep the fruit nicely cooled. If apples are handled in this simple and sensible way they will have prime keeping quality and the work of grading and packing can be postponed for several weeks.

There is a fairly large apple crop 86; No. 4 white, 84@85. throughout the country this year. It amounts to about two bushels for every man, woman and child in the United States. From the consumers' standpoint it is important to have as much of this fruit as possible go to market in first class condition, so that it may | 49 @ 52. help us conserve wheat, meat, fats and other staple foods for our allies. From the producers' standpoint it is just as important to harvest the crop in the best condition because the size of our apple crop this year is such that only the best fruit will bring good prices.
