POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS
JURY COMMISSIONER.
We are authorized to announce the name of A. O. Ripka, of Centre Hall township, as a candidate for the nomination of Jury Commissioner on the Democratic ticket, at the Primaries, September 15, 1917.

LOCALS.
Miss May V. Rhone, of Harrisburg, is assisting in the work at Grange Park headquarters this week.
I will be in Centre Hall with a fine line of hosiery, beginning September 17th.—Mrs. C. E. Royer, Spring Mills, Pa.
Miss Ruth Smith began her first year's school work on Monday morning as teacher of the eighth grade of the Boalsburg schools.
Harry Burns, state organizer of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, will visit Centre Hall lodge on his next regular meeting night, Friday of this week. A good turnout of members is desired.
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Goodhart, of Johnstown, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Berkeley, motored to Centre Hall on Sunday, spending the day on the park. They returned to the Flood City the next day.
Read Montgomery's ad. in this issue. This well known clothing house is preserving its standard of quality all-wool clothing at moderate cost, despite the tremendous advance in the cost of clothes making.
On Saturday afternoon of this week the McMill-Huyett Lumber company will hold sale at Waddle of a number of dwelling houses, sheds, etc., located at Waddle, Scotia and Circleville. L. F. Mayes is auctioneer. See posters.
M. E. McWilliams, of Pennsylvania Furnace, was a caller at this office on Monday in the interest of the Sunday-school convention of the tenth district of Centre County, to be held in the Lutheran church at Pine Grove Mills, Sunday, September 16th.
Miss Grace Ishler, of Centre Hall, resigned her position as a teacher of the school at Clarence, to accept a similar position at Birmingham, Huntingdon county, at a substantial increase of salary. Miss Ishler will leave on Saturday, to begin work on the following Monday.
Ira Foreman, of Youngstown, Ohio, came to Centre Hall on Monday to visit relatives. He is a son of Edward Foreman and was but a bit of a lad when he left Centre Hall with his father. He has been in the railroad service, yet at the same time was making preparation to enter Columbia university, and on his return to Ohio will enter that institution to take up one of the lines of mechanics.

STATE AGRICULTURAL NOTES.
It is estimated that there are 24,000 silos in Pennsylvania and the average capacity of each is 65 tons.
Reports on the harvesting of the potato crop indicate that the yield is much smaller than was anticipated in many counties, few tubers growing to the stalk.
Estimates place the Pennsylvania apple crop at about two million bushels less than last year. The peach crop is much larger than a year ago.
It is estimated that the pear crop in the State will be about 447,000 bushels. This is about 50,000 bushels less than last year.
Pennsylvania canners have contracted for the crops of 5,200 acres of corn, 834 acres of peas, 2,187 acres of tomatoes and 206 acres of snap beans.
October and November seem to be the popular months for the farmers to dispose of their products as statistics show a disposition of 15.5 per cent. in October and 15.7 per cent. in November.

NEARLY 200 TENT-HOLDERS.
A List of Those Who Are Enjoying the Week Under Canvas at the 44th Grange Encampment and Fair.

Nearly two hundred families, coming from three dozen different towns in Central Pennsylvania, are located in the canvas tents on Grange Park this week. The names and addresses of the tent-holders are appended.

WATCH YOUR CHILDREN.
Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Sam. and O. Drzen, M. D., LL. D., D. Sc. Commissioner of Health.

School days are here. For weeks our children have been scattered in their respective homes and in many cases living in the open air. Now the days are here when they begin to congregate together at the school houses and often under bad sanitary conditions.

This is the season that weighs heavily upon the conscientious health officer. Experience has taught him infallibly that the congregating of the sick and the well will again cause the annual increase of children's disease. Increased deaths will occur in spite of all that can be done by the Health Department in conjunction with our educators to safeguard the health of our children.

This work to increase safeguards over the health and lives of our children is only in its infancy. Until it is full grown we must appeal to the parents and guardians of the children to help us. We all love our children and would sacrifice our lives to save theirs, yet we do not make sufficient study of how to care for them.

The first thought in the morning should be the child. We should not content ourselves with greeting our sons and daughters with an impulsive and affectionate kiss and hug, and then rush to other duties that the day has brought with it. Instead, the first duty is to tarry with the child sufficiently long to determine whether or not it seems well. Without letting the child appreciate that there is a suspicion of its being sick, get to see the tongue, notice how it swallows, look for any spots or rash on the skin, for congested eyes, for a hot skin, for want of usual good cheer.

If the child shows any indication of sickness it should not be permitted to associate with the other children in the house, and under no circumstances should it be permitted to go to school. Its life is first, education second.

While it does not do to be pessimistic, it is better to consider any sign of illness the possible forerunner of some one of the diseases that children are so susceptible to.

For the child's sake it should be kept away from other children, as has been suggested, and unless the condition clears up in a very short time medical aid should be called in. A stitch in time saves nine. Such precautions as mentioned may not only save your own child's life but an epidemic of measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria or other communicable disease, not only in a school but maybe in a whole community. What is asked of mothers and guardians of children is so little and means so many human lives that certainly the warning is worth taking.

Luck Was With Him.
In Gold Hill, Nev., in 1877, one of the mining bosses—Tule by name—had trouble with some of the laborers in his mine. One night three of them attacked him in a barroom. Two of them pinned him down, while a third stood over him with a revolver. The muzzle almost touched his stomach. Once, twice, thrice, a fourth and a fifth time the weapon snapped. Tule closed his eyes. Each moment he expected to be his last. The disgusted ruffian threw his disappointing weapon on the floor with an oath and, joined by his aids, left the place.

Tule wiped the cold sweat from his brow, mechanically picked up the discarded weapon, went to the door and fired off every charge, remarking that it was just his luck.

Where Coconuts Grow.
Coconuts are one of the largest money-making crops of the Philippine islands. While they will grow in almost any province, there are localities that are especially known for their great nut production. There was until recently no system for planting these trees, as plantations were usually sold after the trees were two or three years old. The object was to get as many trees on a given area as was possible to grow. These plantations were then sold for so much a tree. When it was seen that the trees would not bear the quality of fruit they should, more pains were taken in the planting and some definite planting scheme adhered to. This has greatly increased the size of the nut and the quality of the meat.

His Excuse for Theft.
It was stated at Brentford police court that two men charged with burglary got away with a bag containing 180 farthings and left behind a note which read: "We are two poor rejected men who are doing this to keep us out of the workhouse."—London Daily Telegraph.

Rewriting the Lines.
The Maid—Hah! I know you in spite of those colored glasses. You are Piffles, the gentleman yegg.
Piffles—Girl, you speak falsely. True, I am Piffles, but this is not a pair of colored glasses. It is a mask and no one except the audience can recognize mwh.

Her Question.
"When your father and I were married, he was getting only $15 a week."
"Was pa trying to dodge being drafted for military service?"

Leader of Philadelphia "400" Accepts Offer of Job as Chief Executive of Florida Town.
Florida has crossed the Rubicon of woman suffrage, according to a Moore Haven (Fla.) correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger. The population of this city has petitioned a Philadelphia society woman who has been farming a 2,000-acre ranch in the famous Everglades to accept the mayorship of this city. She has accepted after the two man candidates personally requested her to take the office. Mrs. George Quintard Horwitz, the new mayor-to-be of this city, the first woman to break through the stone suffrage wall on the solid South, is one of the most widely-known women in the North.

In Philadelphia she has taken the lead in social, philanthropic and relief movements. In Florida she has answered the call of the nation for food-stuffs. She gave up her winter home in Palm Beach and took up the development of her estate in the Everglades. As the result she shipped from her farm more than fifty carloads of potatoes.

She will ship from that same farm in a few months more than 30,000 bushels of corn, hundreds of hogs and many head of cattle. She is now preparing to plant hundreds of additional acres of foodstuffs.

Moore Haven was incorporated several months ago and it is the only city in the state with equal franchise rights for men and women. At a mass meeting two men were nominated for the mayorship. The fight promised to be spirited before the election.

The next morning one of the candidates asked Mrs. Horwitz to serve. She answered that if the people wanted her she would accept. A petition signed by all qualified voters was handed her that night.
