

Too Sick To Work

Many Women in this Condition Re-gain Health by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Convincing Proof of This Fact.

Ridgway, Penn. — "I suffered from female trouble with backache and pain in my side for over seven months so I could not do any of my work. I was treated by three different doctors and was getting discouraged when my sister-in-law told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. I decided to try it, and it restored my health, so I now do all of my housework which is not light as I have a little boy three years old." — Mrs. O. M. RHINES, Ridgway, Penn.

Mrs. Lindsey Now Keeps House For Seven.

Tennille, Ga. — "I want to tell you how much I have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About eight years ago I got in such a low state of health I was unable to keep house for three in the family. I had dull, tired, dizzy feelings, cold feet and hands nearly all the time and could scarcely sleep at all. The doctor said I had a severe case of ulceration and without an operation I would always be an invalid, but I told him I wanted to wait awhile. Our druggist advised my husband to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has entirely cured me. Now I keep house for seven and work in the garden some, too. I am so thankful I got this medicine. I feel as though it saved my life and have recommended it to others and they have been benefited." — Mrs. W. E. LINDSEY, R. R. 3, Tennille, Ga.

"How do you suppose some people spent their spare time before motion pictures were invented?"
"I don't like to appear unkind to those persons, but before they started to spending practically all of their leisure moments in photoplay houses they knew a great deal more about their neighbors' private affairs than they do now."

Not Like Home.

The bright boy in khaki was dilating on the woes of army life.
"Yes," he said to his old mother, "we don't get much in the way of fancy foods, or anything like that. Our camp cook's all right on stews and soup, but he can't go beyond them. The other day you know, when I went back, I took a cucumber with me that I was going to share with one or two of the boys. I gave it to the cook and asked him to get it ready for us, and what if you think he did with it? Put it in the oven and baked it."
"Oh, poor boy!" said the fond mother. "A pity I couldn't have been there to look after you. I'd have boiled it ovely for you!"

Advance Notes On Winter Wear

Paris.—This year the season at Biarritz has opened quite brilliantly. Everyone is cheered up by the arrival of the splendid "Sammies," who are already established favorites in France. Everyone is of the opinion that the entry of America into the war is the beginning of the end. And indeed we, who have lived in France all through the past three years, have almost come to the end of endurance.

At Biarritz in the autumn season we always look for advance notes on the winter styles. Nearly all the important dressmakers of Paris have branch establishments at Biarritz and it is here that the first show of winter fashions takes place.

Biarritz is almost a frontier town and so close to Spain that the Spanish women, who are devoted to dress, have made it a second Paris; it is here that they purchase their beautiful winter toilettes in the fall, and it is here that they, or very many of them, are worn for the first time, just to take off the newness and—so they say—to get the better of the sharp customhouse people when crossing the frontier.

Lovely Models for Autumn.

Paquin is showing some rarely lovely models this autumn, in a dainty little "magazin," which is close to the sea front and side by side with the famous Maison Lewis.

One Paquin model seen was a charming and eminently useful dress expressed in midnight-blue charmeuse and "shrapnel-gray" poult de sole.

The ceinture was handsomely beaded in blue, gray and silver, and the long tassel matched. Round the decollete neck of this little dress there was a narrow band of skunk. This is essentially a useful style of dress, for it might be worn on almost any occasion, always looking smart and uncommon without being in any way sensational; it is the kind of dress which has gone far to make Mme. Paquin's reputation.

I can imagine this model copied in black charmeuse, with ceinture and tassel in scarlet, blue, silver and jet beads, and the touch of skunk on the collar, or again, in sapphire blue silk finished cashmere with belt and tassel in cut steel beads worked on pale gray suede and a handsome steel tassel. In fact a dozen different variations suggest themselves, for the outline of the model is charmingly original and simple.

Original Tailored Suit.

The figure illustrated shows a highly original tailored suit created by Redfern. Here you have the large turnover collar which is a feature of the autumn season. These collars are to be found on many of the new coats and wraps and they are exceedingly comfortable and easy. The Redfern model was carried out in tete de Negre duvetine and brown and white checked velvet. The skirt is slit up the sides in doll fashion and where it opens it shows panels of the checked velvet; this little coatee hangs straight at the back and is cut in the inevitable sack style.

"Monk's cloth" is very much in evidence in the advance models shown at Biarritz just now. Callot is using this cloth for specially effective driving wraps, and she advocates very brilliant and rich colors, such as brick-red, rust-red, military-scarlet, japonica-pink and emerald.

Callot is mixing skunk with ermine on some of her new evening wraps, and is thus obtaining most attractive results. For example, a flowing wrap, very like the loose robe worn by Chinamen of high degree, made of bright japonica-pink faced cloth and lined with black charmeuse brocade in aluminum threads. There was a wood collar of ermine bordered with skunk, and the two furs appeared side by side on the wide sleeves of the wrap. Down the fronts there were three beautiful aluminum ornaments which served to fasten the cloak.

Garments for Motoring.

A more ordinary garment, intended for motoring or for wearing over a smart frock on a chilly day, was made of pale beige monk's cloth and lined with printed Indian silk which showed wonderful shades of blue, red and gray on a white ground. There was a deep shoulder cape which was almost covered with embroideries worked in a heavy make of beige silk and a roll over collar of beaver fur which exactly matched the shade of the cloth.

This was a very harmonious and desirable garment and I was not surprised to hear that it has already proved a great success; copies of it in different colors and materials seem to be pouring in. Another favorite winter material is velvet-pile blanket cloth, an English stuff which is in great favor with the Parisiennes.

I saw a driving wrap made of this material at the Paquin display; the color was clear beige and the wrap was finished with a deep collar and immense cuffs of soft beaver, while the lining consisted of black and white striped taffetas.

This was a thoroughly useful wrap and one which I can confidently recommend to my readers. The rage for beaver fur is fierce as ever, and the correct thing is a beaver-colored tailored suit trimmed with bands, collar, etc., of the best quality beaver fur. With such a costume a smart little hat in bright emerald velvet would be worn.

Pretty Hat for Autumn.

Lucie Hamar is creating many lovely things this autumn. I have illustrated one of her latest novelties, which is making a big sensation amongst the pretty Spanish girls. This is a delightfully becoming drawn silk hat in a demure shade of lavender which has around the crown a band of gray squirrel and in front a handsome beaded ornament in mauve, gray and silver.

This is one of the very new shapes and entirely satisfactory. The hat is quite small, with a cloche brim and a corded silk crown. It was to accompany a smart tailored suit made of lavender cloth which was trimmed with bands of squirrel. The coat of this suit was finished with a straight, throw-over tie made of cloth and fur. These throw-over ties are the latest craze, which is not surprising as they are infinitely becoming and very easily made.

These ties are attached to the coat itself and take the place of an ordinary collar, one end being left loose and thrown round the neck and over the shoulder at will.—Idalla de Villiers, in the Boston Globe.

Feathers Coming Back.

Speaking of phantasies recalls to mind the fact that old Mister Ostrich is destined to be losing his tail feathers again. For several years he has been permitted to glory in his plumage, but now it's all off. Feathers are coming back, strong and in numbers. The new cavalier shape, which is soft and pliable, with brim hoisting itself up gayly on one side and drooping on the other, is not a cavalier hat at all, unless a long curled ostrich plume encircles the crown and slides down at the back, caressing the wearer's hair.

Blue Serge Worn With Gold.

Blue serge is always in favor, and it always looks nice; but not always does it look smart. A means of making it so is embroidery used in a strikingly feminine way. A couple of straps in front done in pale gold, the border of a deeply turned-back color similarly finished, and the effect is charming. The skirt part sets in long plaits, and inside the turned-down collar is a fold of wavy chiffon. The sleeves are wide to near the wrist, when they fall in lappets, the cuffs being continued close to the wrists. Gold braid can be tactfully used with effect.

Feed the Fighters! Win the War!!

Harvest the Crops — Save the Yields

On the battle fields of France and Flanders, the United States boys and the Canadian boys are fighting side by side to win for the World the freedom that Prussianism would destroy. While doing this they must be fed and every ounce of muscle that can be requisitioned must go into use to save this year's crop. A short harvest period requires the combined forces of the two countries in team work, such as the soldier boys in France and Flanders are demonstrating.

The Combined Fighters in France and Flanders and the Combined Harvesters in America WILL Bring the Allied Victory Nearer.

A reciprocal arrangement for the use of farm workers has been perfected between the Department of the Interior of Canada and the Departments of Labor and Agriculture of the United States, under which it is proposed to permit the harvesters that are now engaged in the wheat fields of Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota and Wisconsin to move over into Canada, with the privilege of later returning to the United States, when the crops in the United States have been conserved, and help to save the enormous crops in Canada which by that time will be ready for harvesting.
