Proper attention to trees and careful spraying resulted in a fine yield of fruit free from all blemish.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, of Huntingdon, who motored to Linden Hall on Sunday to visit relatives, experienced a break-down of their car on the way home Sunday evening, on the road between Linden Hall and Oak Hill, and in order to get home had to enlist the aid of a Centre Hall garage man, while the Hall's big Cadillac car had to be left behind for repairs.

C., and other points, for sight seeing. Back in 1867, when mere lads, these gentlemen left the Red Mill section with their parents and both have prospered extensively while engaged in farming pursuits. Out in Colorado Mr. Klingler is harvesting a 16,000-bushel apple crop this year, which represents a small fortune in itself.

Elmer C. Miller, the grammar grade teacher, missed having a bad wreck by a narrow margin last Thursday night. Mr. Miller, C. M. Smith, C. W. Booser, and Edward Durest were returning from Phillipsburg where they attended the fiftieth anniversary of the Phillipsburg lodge, F. & A. M., and on the road between Julian and Fort Matilda, while driving his Dodge car at 25-mile-an-hour clip, a slight turn in the road was not observed by Mr. Miller, who at the time was attempting to turn on the spot light. The car shot off the road and was running along the almost perpendicular side of a six-foot embankment. Seeing that he could not regain the road, Mr. Miller turned the car downward and reached level ground without the slightest injury to those inside the car or the car itself. It required considerable effort to get the car back on the road, but it was done without any additional aid and the journey homeward continued.

President Proclaims October 24 "Liberty Day" in Loan Drive

By the President of the United States A Proclamation

The second Liberty Loan gives the people of the United States another opportunity to lend their funds to their Government to sustain their country at war. The might of the United States is being mobilized and organized to strike a mortal blow at autocracy in defense of outraged American rights and of the cause of liberty. Billions of dollars are required to arm, feed and clothe the brave men who are going forth to fight our country's battles and to assist the nations with whom we are making common cause against a common foe. To subscribe to the Liberty Loan is to perform a service of patriotism.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Wednesday, the twenty-fourth of October, as Liberty Day, and urge and advise the people to assemble in their respective communities and pledge to one another and to the Government that represents them the fullest measure of financial support.

On the afternoon of that day I request that patriotic meetings be held in every city, town, and hamlet throughout the land, under the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury and the immediate direction of the Liberty Loan committees which have been organized by the Federal Reserve banks.

The people responded nobly to the call of the first Liberty Loan with an oversubscription of more than 50 per cent. Let the response to the second loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to hearten the men who are to face the fire of battle for us.

Let the result be so impressive and emphatic that it will echo throughout the empire of our enemy as an index of what America intends to do to bring this war to a victorious conclusion.

For the purpose of participating in Liberty Day celebrations all employees of the Federal Government throughout the country whose services can be spared may be excused at 12 o'clock Wednesday, the twenty-fourth of October.

In witness whereof I have set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done in the District of Columbia this twelfth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-second.

By the President, WOODROW WILSON

ROBERT LANSING, Secretary of State.

Protecting Trees from Mice. With the approach of winter proper precaution should be taken to protect fruit trees from injury by mice, rabbits or other destructive agents. If all litter, mulch or weeds are cleaned away from the trees in the fall, and soil is mounded about them as late as possible before hard freezing, injuries from mice occur much less frequently. An accumulation of mulch and weeds close to the tree base offers ideal conditions for mice to work in. Screens made of wire with two meshes to the inch and cut eighteen to twenty inches square are very efficient protectors against both mice and rats, if they are worked down into the soil and the litter kept cleared away from them. Coating of undiluted lime-sulphur applied late in the fall are also of value in keeping rodents away from the trees. Winter injury to the crowns can be avoided by mounding slightly around the trunks in the fall, or at least seeing that no depressions occur. Borers should be dug out carefully in the spring and fall. Coating of lime-sulphur placed on the trunks after the spring search has been made will aid in checking their harmful work.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. See.
