

LOCALS.

The fifth month of school came to a close the beginning of the week.

Miss Dorothy Ruble went to State College this week where she has found employment.

C. L. Goodling, farm manager at Penn State, is taking treatment at a Baltimore hospital.

Miss Edna Hoffman, of Altoona, is visiting her friend, Miss Lena Breon, near Centre Hall.

Did we really know, previous to the patriotic concert, that we had real little artists in our community?

Donald Coldron, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Messer Coldron, is rather seriously ill with a peculiar malady.

If you want the job of carrying the mail to and from the railroad station, read the poster at the post office stamp window.

Mrs. Milford Luse and daughter Margaret, of State College, spent several days the past week with friends in Centre Hall.

The trains during the past week have gotten back to the half-hour and hour late schedule. That's an improvement over the week before.

William Gfrerer, who since the latter part of November has been visiting relatives in several of the middle-west states, is expected to arrive home some time this month.

Mrs. P. H. Luse and two sons, Fred and George, expect to leave for Bellevue, Ohio, to-day (Thursday), where they will visit Mrs. Luse's brother, William Spayd, for a short time.

John M. "Jack" Horner, former secretary of the Penn State Y. M. C. A., and who on several occasions at the meetings of County Grange gave short talks on his work, is doing war-work at the front in France.

W. A. Magee came up from Philadelphia on Saturday and accompanied Mrs. Magee and their two sons, who have been at the Huyett home since the Christmas holiday season, to their home in Wenonah, New Jersey.

Albert V. Moyer is the soldier coming nearest home who lost his life on the torpedoed troopship Tuscanis, sunk by the Hun's a week ago. He is from Lewistown Junction and his name is officially reported among the missing.

State College must be pleased with their new High School principal, Prof. W. O. Heckman, judging from the State College Times. That paper in its last week's issue printed a brief sketch of the principal's life and a picture of him.

A valuable cow belonging to Frank Gfrerer west of Centre Hall, broke one of her hind legs and had to be killed. The animal when being driven to water, turned off the beaten track, got into deep snow and floundered with the above noted result.

Miss Verna Rowe, one of the efficient operators in the local Bell telephone exchange, expects to leave for South Bethlehem to-day (Thursday) for a week's visit with her sister, Miss Isabel Rowe, who is a teacher in the public schools at that place.

Monday was a beautiful day, a lot of sunshine and a balmy air giving the impression of a spring day. Mercury soared to forty-eight degrees which is a difference of sixty-eight degrees from the kind of weather prevailing just a week previous when thirteen below zero was recorded.

Roy Shaeffer, who accompanied his wife to Philadelphia two weeks ago where she underwent an operation in one of the city hospitals, returned home last week and reported that Mrs. Shaeffer had passed through the ordeal successfully and was on a good way to recovery.

A near panic was occasioned in the High school at Philipsburg on Thursday morning when several large pieces of ice, weighing about fifty pounds each, fell through one corner of the sky light. Miss Margaret Owens and Miss Selena Paul were the victims of the accident, both being hit by broken glass and ice.

In making a remittance to the Reporter, Mrs. Kate Harpster Moore, of Missoula, Montana, writes as follows: "It will be twenty-eight years this coming April since I left Centre Hall and we are still just as anxious for the Reporter. It keeps us in touch with home. My life is spent doing for those in war. Our own church has given thirty-two young men."

Fred Stover, of Centre Hall, was ordered to report for war duty at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Virginia, on Tuesday. The young man was called on before as alternate, but as the full quota reported for duty he was held over until above date. Mr. Stover is a son of Mrs. Sara Stover, of this place. This is the second of Mrs. Stover's children to be called, Miss Anna being called as a war nurse a few weeks ago.

As secretary of the Centre Hall auxiliary to the State College Chapter Red Cross, Miss Freda Bailey forwarded to the State College Y. M. C. A. secretary the sum of $34.85, for general Y. M. C. A. war work. The sum represents one-half the net proceeds of the patriotic concert held in Grange Aradia, last week, by local talent. The other half of the funds was retained by the local auxiliary of the Red Cross.

LOCALS

Having received a supply of coal, Sunday-school will be held in the U. Ev. church Sunday morning.

Mrs. Maude Peters, of Oak Hall, was operated upon at the Bellefonte hospital Friday; late reports say that her condition is rapidly improving.

The Income Tax Man, F. D. Darshew, will extend his stay at Bellefonte for three days next week—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—for the benefit of those who have not yet attended to this important matter.

The Reporter handed out and mailed a considerable number of garden seed packets within the past week, but we still have some on hand. Those who have not yet received seeds may have them by applying in person or mailing a card.

Following the patriotic concert on Thursday evening the performers were invited to the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Bitner where the Red Cross Auxiliary served a very delightful luncheon as an appreciation of the efforts of the concert folks in behalf of the Red Cross work. Sandwiches, pickles, ice cream, cake and coffee were consumed with a genuine relish by those present.

A sledding party from Colyer were entertained in a delightful manner at the J. H. Horner home at Tusseyville on Tuesday evening. Ice cream and cake formed the refreshments and plenty of good patriotic music on the Victrola helped to make the evening an enjoyable one. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Royer and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Stoner and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Orvis Horner, Miss Esther Bitner and Miss Willa Weaver.

To meet the demands of the War and Navy Departments of skilled draftsmen, a class of twelve girls in mechanical drawing has been organized at Oil City by the engineering extension division of the Pennsylvania State College. Instructors say the women draftsmen are especially neat in their work and have become skillful and rapid in technique. Additional classes are to be formed in other cities of the State upon application to the college for instructors.

Two Burnham men, Alexander Baker, and Paul Heckkovech, have been granted a patent by the U. S. government on a device to protect automobile tires to such an extent that the wear and tear on the rubber fabric is reduced to almost nothing. The invention is a protector that may be described as follows: A strip of spring steel of the required length and width is pressed into a shape which will entirely enclose a tire mounted upon a wheel. A set of clamps are used in pairs to attach the steel protector firmly upon the wheel rim. The tire is completely enclosed when the protector is in position and wear and tear upon the rubber fabric is reduced to practically nil. A pair of steel coil springs holds the beveled ends of the protector securely together when the device is clamped upon the wheel.

County Agents to Deal Fertilizer to Farmers.

Nitrate fertilizer will be distributed to the farmers of Pennsylvania this spring through the extension department of the State College. The United States Department of Agriculture, which has arranged to supply the needs of American agriculturists, will impart sufficient quantities of nitrate of soda from the fields of Chili. County agents, working under the direction of State College authorities, will handle the local distribution of the valuable plant food. In counties not having farm bureau and county agents the fertilizer will be parcelled out by designated individuals after they have studied the situation in their respective localities.

Linden Hall

William Catherman had a relapse last week but is now better.

Mrs. Roy Catherman came from Milton on Monday for an indefinite stay with Mr. and Mrs. William Catherman.

Mrs. Mary Page fell on the porch on Thursday afternoon, breaking her hip; as she is almost eighty years old her condition is serious.

David Barlet and Mrs. Libbie Hull came over from Bellefonte on Friday to help care for Mrs. Page, who shows very little improvement.

On Sunday morning Roxanna, the nine-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClintic, was severely burned over her body by the explosion of a can containing lard and kerosene which she placed too near the stove.

No. 2.

Miss Ruth McClintic was a guest of Sara Frantz, of Centre Hall, last week. Boyd Weaver, of Lewisburg, is visiting friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Oran Osman are visiting at State College.

Miss Irene Tressler, after spending a few days with friends at State College, returned home Friday.

Mary Page fell while carrying water and broke her hip.

Through volunteers alone many colleges have already given to the Army and Navy 50 per cent. of their students.

ORGANIZE FOR A DRY NATION.

Pennsylvania Fight for National Prohibition to Open on St. Valentine's Day.

The first big drive in a campaign of all dry forces in the state to secure ratification by the legislature of Pennsylvania of the National Prohibition amendment will commence in Harrisburg on St. Valentine's Day, Thursday, February 14th, when the Dry Federation of Pennsylvania holds its state convention there. Delegates from all over the state representing all political parties and all elements interested in the fight against booze will attend and the managers of the affair promise lively sessions. Among the matters which the convention will consider is the manner in which the candidates will be selected and supported for the state legislature in the May primaries, who the drys shall support for governor, how the dry element in the old line parties will be amalgamated into the campaign for a dry state and the adoption of plans for guiding the dry fight throughout the commonwealth.

Passport regulations of the State Department now restrict the number of American women permitted to go abroad to those whose presence in France is imperatively required by some relief agency recognized by the United States Government.

Members of the Paris association of chocolate manufacturers because of the shortage of sugar now make only tablet chocolate, having abandoned entirely the manufacture of various kinds of chocolate coated candy. The association has requested that throughout France the manufacture of chocolate candies be prohibited, and the importation of such products be prohibited.

Frequent reports come from Holland of the death of stall-fed animals attributed to spoiled or otherwise unwholesome food. In many cases the animals had been given acorns, chestnuts, and beechnuts, shelled and unshelled. It is said horses have died within 24 hours after having eaten raw and unshelled beechnuts in considerable quantities.

Dealers in feedstuffs are again being warned that after February 15 they will not be permitted to trade without a license from the Food Administration. Every manufacturer, importer, dealer, handler, or storer of about 60 of the principal ingredients used in making commercial mixed feeds is included in the requirements. This covers baled hay, shell and ear corn.

No individual licenses are now required by the War Trade Board for the exportation of horses to Canada and Newfoundland. Shippers will be given notice through the press if there should be a change in this ruling in the future.

THINGS THAT SALT WILL DO

Use It to Remove Stains and Dirt From China, Enamel and Carpets —Big Help in the Kitchen.

Salt and hot water will thaw a frozen drain pipe.

Remove tea stains from delicate china cups.

Sprinkle in blackbeetle haunts it will kill the pests.

Added to snow it will make the mixture much colder.

Salt and water, warm, will stop chilblains from aching.

Thrown on a fire it will extinguish a burning chimney.

Added to the rinsing water it will prevent clothes from freezing.

Placed under baking tins in an oven it will prevent their burning.

Salt is said to stop neuralgia if sniffed into the nostril on the affected side.

It will quickly clean a discolored bath or enamel utensil.

A lump of salt placed in the sink will keep the drain clean.

Placed first in the frying pan it will prevent grease from spluttering.

Salt and water rubbed into the scalp is good for falling hair after illness.

Salt and water removes the lines in new curtains and makes washing easier.

Salt and water will prevent the red borders in towels, etc., from running if the towels are steeped in it for 24 hours.

Thrown on the fire once a day it will prevent the accumulation of soot in the flues.

A teaspoonful of salt to a pint of warm water rubbed into weak ankles is said to strengthen them.

Added to potatoes when nearly done salt insures firmness and prevents them from going to pieces.

Sprinkled over carpets before sweeping it will preserve the colors and keeps away moths.

Rubbed into an inkstain on a deal table, after the spot is dampened, salt will remove the mark.

Salt and coal dust mixed with water, put into tins to mold and dried make excellent briquettes.

Thrown on fallen soot salt will prevent the carpet marking, and enables the soot to be swept up cleanly.

Twelve Big Ones Growing.

Twelve 10,000-ton ships are now on the ways of a single company in Seattle. Under the stress of necessity methods of construction have been developed that promise to revolutionize the ship building methods of the world. To begin with, the vessels are all standardized. Parts are fabricated for a dozen ships on the same plans. The material is carried from the shops to the ship on aerial tramways. The work is done largely by machinery. The old method was to rivet the sides together plate by plate. The new method puts the plates together in the shops in large sections which are swung into place by heavy cranes. This wholesale way of throwing material together makes it possible to launch a large ship in 90 days instead of six months or a year. If the Eastern shipyards are able to keep up with the Pacific coast in the race for quick building, the American merchant marine will be something for the world to reckon with in a very few years.—Nebraska State Journal.
