

NOW RAISES 600 CHICKENS

After Being Relieved of Organic Trouble by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oregon, Ill.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for an organic trouble which pulled me down until I could not put my foot to the floor and could scarcely do my work, and as I live on a small farm and raise six hundred chickens, every year it made it very hard for me.

"I saw the Compound advertised in our paper, and tried it. It has restored my health so I can do all my work and I am so grateful that I am recommending it to my friends."—Mrs. D. M. ALTERS, R. 4, Oregon, Ill.

Only women who have suffered the tortures of such troubles and have dragged along from day to day can realize the relief which this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, brought to Mrs. Alters. Women everywhere in Mrs. Alters' condition should profit by her recommendation, and if there are any complications write Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of their 40 years experience is at your service.

FORTY LANGUAGES IN CAMP

Necessity of One Tongue Has Renewed Efforts to Establish Schools for Immigrants.

Recently an accurate census was taken concerning the different languages spoken by soldiers training in Camp Devens, Mass., which showed that 40 languages were spoken by the men in that camp. There were 2,269 men whose habitual speech is French; 1,354 who speak Italian, and so on down to the relatively few who speak Japanese, Serbian, Egyptian, Persian, Assyrian, Flemish and Arabic. Of special interest were the 625 men who speak German.

This is just one solution to a puzzle like that. There must be one language which all understand and of necessity that language is English. The facts disclosed by this investigation have renewed the efforts made to establish a system of schools to teach every immigrant the English language.

In the co-operative efforts in which the whole nation is engaged, such as war and many other things, one language is a necessity. Very little attention has been paid to that in the past, but the importance of it is being recognized among all classes of thinkers at the present time.—Omaha World-Herald.

GREAT VICTORY FOR PERSHING'S MEN

German Army Melted Away Before the Americans

THEY WORKED LIKE A CLOCK

Fierce Fighting in Some Quarters, But Nothing Checked The Steady, Relentless Movement Of The American Machine.

American Front.—Capture of over 15,000 prisoners, a mass of material and more than 100 guns in the St. Mihiel salient was announced by General Pershing.

"In the St. Mihiel salient we secured the desired results," the statement said. "In 27 hours we liberated 150 square miles of territory, took 15,000 prisoners, a mass of material and over 100 guns."

American Army Headquarters.—Nothing could better illustrate the increasing weakness of the German arms than the ease with which the Franco-American force entrusted with the task advanced in the St. Mihiel salient. It is true, the operation was admirably planned and carried out, but one rarely has witnessed anything like the ease of that first day's fighting.

There was, of course, a barrage, but not a very terrific affair as barrages go. After the barrage there was nothing very startling in the way of gun fire, and the machine rattle produced quite an effect, but only coming now and then.

All the while the Americans were going forward with the steadiness of a flood, trickling into woods on one side and passing out of them on the other, spreading about a village and overwhelming it, and breaking against a hill or a mountain and gradually working over the top. They moved like something worked by a clock, but always well ahead of schedule. Rain-soaked and slipping about in the mud, they still went forward, while back along the flood came long lines of gray blue creatures who had been swamped in its course.

Whatever way one looked there were sure to be Germans—men as fine as you could wish for, or creatures so poor that their presence in the line afforded the most damning proof of German insufficiency in manpower.

The mud had proved too much for many of the tanks, and the rainstorms had swept the airplanes out of the sky, but still the Americans went on, with just the booming of a few big guns behind them and a melting away of the enemy in front.

There was, however, plenty of fierce fighting. The Bois (name of wood deleted) was not cleared without a struggle, which for a time held back that part of the line. There had been a throwing out of mustard gas and some sharp machine-gun firing before some of the surrounded villages could be left behind and the attack resumed. But even these things did not check the steady movement of the whole army.

Notwithstanding the furious storm, the guns got along without a mishap. There is no disputing that the Boche made a poor showing, but he was for the first time up against an American Army on a solid front and he liked neither its pace nor its determination. It was a great victory for a new army, with new staffs in a new country, because it was a victory for exactness in thinking and precision in working.

That the Boche was meeting better men, we know; that the new machine was doing better work than the old, we didn't know. We are mighty glad to know it.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS HALTED.

Not Allowed To Leave For Russia Until Draft Pledges Given.

Washington.—A number of Red Cross workers and war correspondents who registered under the Man-Power act, were held up at a Pacific port while en route to Russia because of their local boards had not given them permits to depart. Telegrams to Provost Marshal General Crowder finally got them permission to continue their journey after they had given their pledges to return if called for military duty.

DEBS GIVEN TEN YEARS.

Then Writ Of Error To Supreme Court Is Granted.

Cleveland.—Eugene V. Debs, charged with violation of the Espionage act, was sentenced to 10 years in the Moundsville (W. Va.) Penitentiary on each of three counts of the indictment by Federal Judge D. C. Western-haver here. The sentences will run concurrently. Motion for a new trial was overruled and an exception on behalf of the defendant was allowed. A motion for arrest of the sentence was also overruled. The Court admitted Debs to $10,000 bail.

The Branch House Man

This is one of the Swift & Company Branch House Men.

They are all pretty much alike in the way they feel toward their work—and that is what this ad is about.

They know that most people couldn't get such good meat promptly and in good condition if it weren't for the branch houses of which they are in charge.

They know that the branch house is one of the most important links in the chain of preparing and distributing meat for a nation.

They know that Swift & Company must have its branch houses run at the highest notch of usefulness; that even a Swift & Company branch house won't run itself, and that it is up to the branch house man to run it properly.

Any branch house man who doesn't see his work in this light is transferred to some other place with Swift & Company to which he is better adapted.

They are picked men, these branch house men. Every time you sit down to a steak or chop, or cut of roast, you can give a grateful thought to the whole crew of them.

And remember, in a general way, that everything that makes life smoother and more convenient for you, is the result of the thoughtfulness and effort of a lot of people of whom you have never heard.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

Keen-Eyed Bellboy.

A keen-eyed bellboy at the Lincoln hotel and a man's hat prevented a serious loss to Mrs. D. Scott, 315 East Twenty-fifth street, one evening recently, relates the Indianapolis News.

Mrs. Scott was resting on the mezzanine floor with some friends after dinner, enjoying the music and trying to keep cool and comfortable. She was comfortable enough but not so cool.

In wiping the perspiration from her hands she pulled off a diamond solitaire, which fell down in the lobby. Mrs. Scott and her party got downstairs hurriedly and soon guests, musicians, bellboys and all joined in the search for the missing ring.

The search revealed nothing until one of the bellboys became inquisitive about a man's hat that was leaning up against a column. There the ring was, inside the hat, and Mrs. Scott went away rejoicing.

All these indicate some weakness of the kidneys or other organs or that the enemy microbes which are always present in your system have attacked your weak spots. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are what you need.
