

THE CENTRE REPORTER.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1918.

THIRTY-FOUR YEARS AGO.

Paragraphs of News Taken from the Files of the Reporter of 1884.

March 5, 1884.
The Governor has appointed James C. Boal Justice of the Peace for the vacancy until May 1st, next, when his regular commission of election for five years begins.

The musical performance at Boalsburg in the Reformed church, a few nights ago, was a fine affair, conducted by Prof. Ph. Meyer, assisted by Lowell Meyer, and backed up by the musical talent of Boalsburg, among which were Mrs. Dr. Woods, pianist; Misses Rankin, Condo, Kuhn, Hoffer, Weber, Meyer; Messrs. C. Meyer and J. P. Weaver.

Mr. Mallin, the general manager of this telephone district, we are informed, has the promise of 15 instruments between Centre Hall and Aaronsburg, via Coburn. We trust such extension will be made, and thus bring us on "speaking terms" with the east end of the valley.

The certain completion of our railroad has drawn the attention of business men to this place. We hear of a Montandon party intending to erect a steam grist mill; a party from Spring Mills talks of putting up a grain house; a Mr. Miller, of Montour county, thinks of locating a foundry, and still another party talks of starting a bakery.

REBERSBURG.

Scott Stover transacted business in Bellefonte last Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. Brown and two children, of Reading, are visiting in town for a week. Rev. Brown filled the Reformed pulpit on Sunday morning.

Henry Showers, of Wolfs Store, bought the James Miller property at Smulton and will move there next spring.

Allen Brungart, at present the tenant on the J. W. Harter farm, has rented the Frank Shultz farm, owned by E. A. Bair.

Mrs. Lee Nicolas and Mrs. P. T. Schreckengast, both of Tylersville, spent last Thursday at the S. G. Stover home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Musser, of Penns Cove, spent Sunday visiting relatives in town.

Last Sunday evening a child was born to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McMullen. The child lived but a short time. Burial was made in the Lutheran and Reformed cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. James Miller, of Sunbury, arrived at this place on Saturday. Mrs. Miller is just recovering from an attack of pneumonia and will stay at the home of her parents until she has fully recovered.

A CREED FOR US AT HOME.

When the boys come marching home I am going to look them square in the eye. Either dependency or essential business may keep me from joining their ranks, but when they return I shall be able to look them in the face because I shall have done my utmost.

Big men, with big commercial reputations, who have accepted jobs only to lie down on them; little men who have dodged the draft by fraud—these the boys will laugh to scorn when they come home covered with glory. But if one of these heroes laughs at me, I shall produce my record—my Liberty Loan, War Savings Stamps, Red Cross, War Work record—and they will say, "You did your share to keep us going toward Berlin."

No blush shall ever steal across my face at the sight of khaki.

Unabashed I shall stand to watch the Victory Parade. My entire time, my fortune, such as it is, my whole heart and soul, are in this war, God grant that it shall be so till the very end and that I may ever be a part of that great army of hard-working men and women who stays at home and everlastingly stuck at it.

To further the sales of W. S. S., your Chairman has designated the week of November 25th as "OVER THE TOP WEEK". Every Banker, Postmaster, District Chairman, School Teacher, and in fact every patriotic citizen interested in our brave boys is urgently requested to sell and also to buy W. S. S. to the limit during the week.

Centre County must "Go over the top." We must continue to support our boys until "They come marching home."

An Armistice has been agreed to, but our boys will be needed for important service "over there" until all the details of a lasting peace have been agreed to by Germany and her Allies, that will be entirely satisfactory to France and her Allies.

Let us continue to support our boys. It is our duty. Buy W. S. S. during the WEEK OF NOVEMBER 25th to the limit of your ability.

Very truly yours,
W. HARRISON WALKER,
Chairman War Savings Committee for Centre County.

Bellefonte, Pa.

Howard Heinz, Food Administrator, Shows How Our Duty Is Increased Instead of Diminished.

With the imminence of peace there is every reason to believe that the American people will feel they can return immediately to pre-war conditions regarding food. This is a very grave error, as the enclosed statement from Howard Heinz, U. S. Food Administrator for Penna., clearly demonstrates.

To County Federal Food Administrators:
Through the surrender of Bulgaria, Turkey, and Austria, the Mediterranean has been freed entirely from the submarine menace, thus bringing about a material alteration in the flow of certain of the world's food supplies principally of wheat which will now be released in considerable volume from India, Australia and the Southern Hemisphere generally.

These previously unavailable stocks, taken in connection with our own bountiful wheat crop of the present year, will naturally change somewhat the conservation plans made in August, but the change will be in direction only and not in principle.

With millions of population, in both the recovered allied territories and the conquered nations, who must be rationed and fed in the name of humanity and with no lessening of the previous demand upon us, our duty and our obligation is increased rather than diminished and the sacrifice and self-denial of the American people in the coming months must be greater than ever before. Therefore, our request for the saving of every kind and nature, and by every available means, is in no-wise abandoned or even modified. On the contrary our program is likely to become more drastic as time passes and this thought should be deeply impressed upon the minds of the general public at every opportunity.

Yours very truly,
HOWARD HEINZ,
Federal Food Administrator for Pennsylvania.

Jake Bitner, formerly of Colyer, and now tenant on the Bunnell farm near Siglerville, received Tuesday the first farm tractor to be seen in that section. It is driven by gasoline and kerosene and weighs 5,000 pounds. It is built to pull three plows at one time and will also drag as high as seven disk plows or harrows. It develops 10-horsepower on the drawbar and 25-horsepower when used in threshing, grinding, etc. The Bunnell farm is composed of 2 1/2 acres of farm land and with the scarcity of labor something of this kind was a necessity. It will do away with six horses and one or two men, and will plow ten acres per day with ease. The operation of this machine will be watched with interest by other farmers, and if it is a success, no doubt more of them will be purchased.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Why Compare Beef and Coal Profits?

Swift & Company has frequently stated that its profit on beef averages only one-fourth of a cent a pound, and hence has practically no effect on the price.

Comparison has been made by the Federal Trade Commission of this profit with the profit on coal, and it has pointed out that anthracite coal operators are content with a profit of 25 cents a ton, whereas the beef profit of one-fourth of a cent a pound means a profit of $5.00 a ton.

The comparison does not point out that anthracite coal at the seaboard is worth at wholesale about $7.00 a ton, whereas a ton of beef of fair quality is worth about $400.00 wholesale.

To carry the comparison further, the 25 cent profit on coal is 3 1/2 per cent of the $7.00 value.

The $5.00 profit on beef is only 1 1/4 per cent of the $400.00 value.

The profit has little effect on price in either case, but has less effect on the price of beef than on the price of coal.

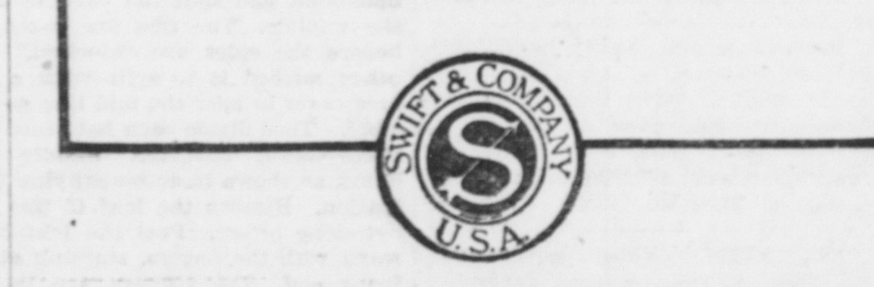

Coal may be stored in the open air indefinitely; beef must be kept in expensive coolers because it is highly perishable and must be refrigerated.

Coals handled by the carload or ton; beef is delivered to retailers by the pound or hundred weight.

Methods of handling are vastly different. Coal is handled in open cars; beef must be shipped in refrigerator cars at an even temperature.

Fairness to the public, fairness to Swift & Company, fairness to the packing industry, demands that these indisputable facts be considered. It is impossible to disprove Swift & Company's statement, that its profits on beef are so small as to have practically no effect on prices.

USE SNAKES TO KILL SNAKES

South America Has Discovered an Excellent Way to Cope With the Universal Pest.

In South America, where the snake pest is a very serious proposition, they are now using snakes to catch snakes.

Even in the most civilized parts of Brazil over 1,000 persons are killed annually by snake-bite.

The mongoose, which proved so effective in Jamaica and elsewhere, is of little use here. Necessity is the mother of invention, and nature and science together have at last discovered something which it is hoped may eventually exterminate the dreadful pest.

The discovery is nothing else than a "beneficial" snake which is harmless to man, and which kills and eats the poisonous species.

The mousurana, as it is called, is a thick, muscular snake about four feet long. It is possessed of an insatiable appetite for poisonous vipers, and it can tell of the approach of one in the same way that a pointer will "scent" game. When tackling its prey, which is frequently considerably bigger than itself, the "good" snake assumes a lethargic air as if it were gluttoned with food and could not fight. Seeing this the bad snake immediately attacks.

This is just what the other wants; for, being rendered by nature completely immune from the poison, it seizes its enemy before it has had time to recover from the charge, and gives a fatal bite at the base of the brain.

MUCH IN PLEASANT MANNER

Man Uniformly Courteous, Has an Advantage Over Rival With Morose Bearing.

A pleasing manner is an important essential to success in any business. A gentle, courteous manner will win recognition anywhere. So much depends upon first impressions, and these are favorable or unfavorable according to whether a man is polite and courteous or brusque and nervous in bearing.

We cannot always judge a man by what he says or does, but the way in which he says or does a certain thing will prove the best index to his character.

A pleasant, courteous bearing will help a man to success in business, where a boorish, impatient manner will turn away customers. The brusque man may be as well meaning as his more affable rival, but people have not the time nor inclination to find out what is beneath the rude exterior; they prefer to patronize the man who makes it plain that it is a pleasure to serve; that the world is a mighty pleasant place, and that he is glad to be alive.

If you are not the possessor of a pleasant manner, start in to acquire it. You will find it an immense help in making a success of anything you undertake.

Enriching the Language.
The growth and change which are inseparable from all living language cannot fail to interest the student, and a special interest attaches to the incorporation of the names of well-known men. Thus Wellington has come to mean a sort of boot; Brougham, a carriage, and Gladstone, appropriate enough, a traveler's bag, as that great man advocated the "bag and baggage" policy, which seems likely at length to be adopted.

Other names have been turned into verbs as well as nouns. For instance, the murderer Burke's name is perpetuated in the words to burke, burked, burking and burkism, while in quite recent times Captain Boycott's experiences resulted in the language being enriched by the phrases to boycott, boycotter, boycotting, etc.

The most notable case was probably that of the great and good man, Rev. T. Bowdler, D. D., who by publishing a "family edition" of Shakespeare in 1811, added the words "bowdlerize" and "bowdlerism" to our language.—Exchange.

Good Reason.
"I don't have the kiddle at the theater very often," said an actor who recently returned to New York for the usual brief run in a house where the bill changes weekly, "but during the holidays I let my mother bring him down for a matinee, and arranged to have a box for them. The youngster remained remarkably quiet (for him) during the entire performance.
"That evening at dinner I jesting-ly remarked:
"Son, how did you manage to be so good during the show?"
"His answer surprised me.
"Do you think I wanted you to scold me, daddy, before all those people?"

Great Soldier's Mistake.
When General Moreau was in England he was once the victim of a rather droll misunderstanding. He was present at a concert where a piece was sung by the choir with the refrain:
"Tomorrow, tomorrow."
Having a very imperfect knowledge of English, he fancied it to be a cantata given in his honor, and thought he distinguished the words:
"To Moreau, to Moreau."
Each time the refrain was repeated he rose to his feet and gracefully bowed on all sides, to the great astonishment of the audience, who did not know what to make of it.
