

THIRTY-FOUR YEARS AGO.

Paragraphs of News Taken from the Files of the Reporter of 1884.

March 19, 1884.
Many parties who have timber are getting out ties at 50 cents apiece, for the railroad through this valley.

W. H. Kreamer, of Centre Mills, will move to Centre Hall beginning of next week and will go into the mercantile business with Simon Harper.

Prof. J. W. Keller, of this place, assisted by Profs. Philip and Lowell Meyer, will hold a concert with his singing class in the Lutheran church, at Zion, on Saturday evening, 22nd.

Rev. James Arney, of Cassopolis, a son of Jacob Arney, of this place, filled the pulpit of Rev. Foster, of the Presbyterian church in this place, on last Sabbath morning, and for Rev. Roeder, of the Reformed church, in the afternoon.

Messrs. Vandyke, contractors, have commenced work on the extension of our railroad, westward. The superstructure of a bridge west of Spring Mills, will be the first work; the abutments built ten years ago are still good. The bridge completed, they expect to make progress toward Centre Hall with track-laying at the rate of one-third mile per day.

Frank Kennelly, of Spring Mills, on Saturday, fell from a house roof twenty-five feet high on a boardwalk and sustained slight bruises.

Wolfe and Grove furnish the timber for the railroad bridge this side of Spring Mills. It will require 40,000 ft. The Vandyke Brothers have brought on a lot of barrows, carts, etc., and are about to commence work for extending the road to Centre Hall.

Rev. Samuel Kreider, of the Mis' Institute, Selingsgrove, and formerly of Pottery Mills, has received a call from the Turtle Creek Lutheran charge in Allegheny county, and has already gone thither.

The first carload of rails for our railroad has arrived at Spring Mills and the contractor has commenced work on the extension.

Catarh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative power of Hall's Catarh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. An International Service Built on Tiny Profits Per Pound

Some industries have been able to get in step with war demands more quickly than others.

In many cases mighty plants have sprung up—but at a prodigious cost.

The packing industry was able to adapt itself to unheard of demands more quickly, perhaps, than any other industry. And this was because the vast equipment of packing plants, refrigerator cars, branch houses, etc., had been gradually developed to its present state of efficiency, so that in the crucial hour it became a mighty international system for war service.

And how had this development taken place?

Not by making vast inroads into the capital wealth of the country, but largely by using, from year to year, a portion of the profits, to provide for expansion.

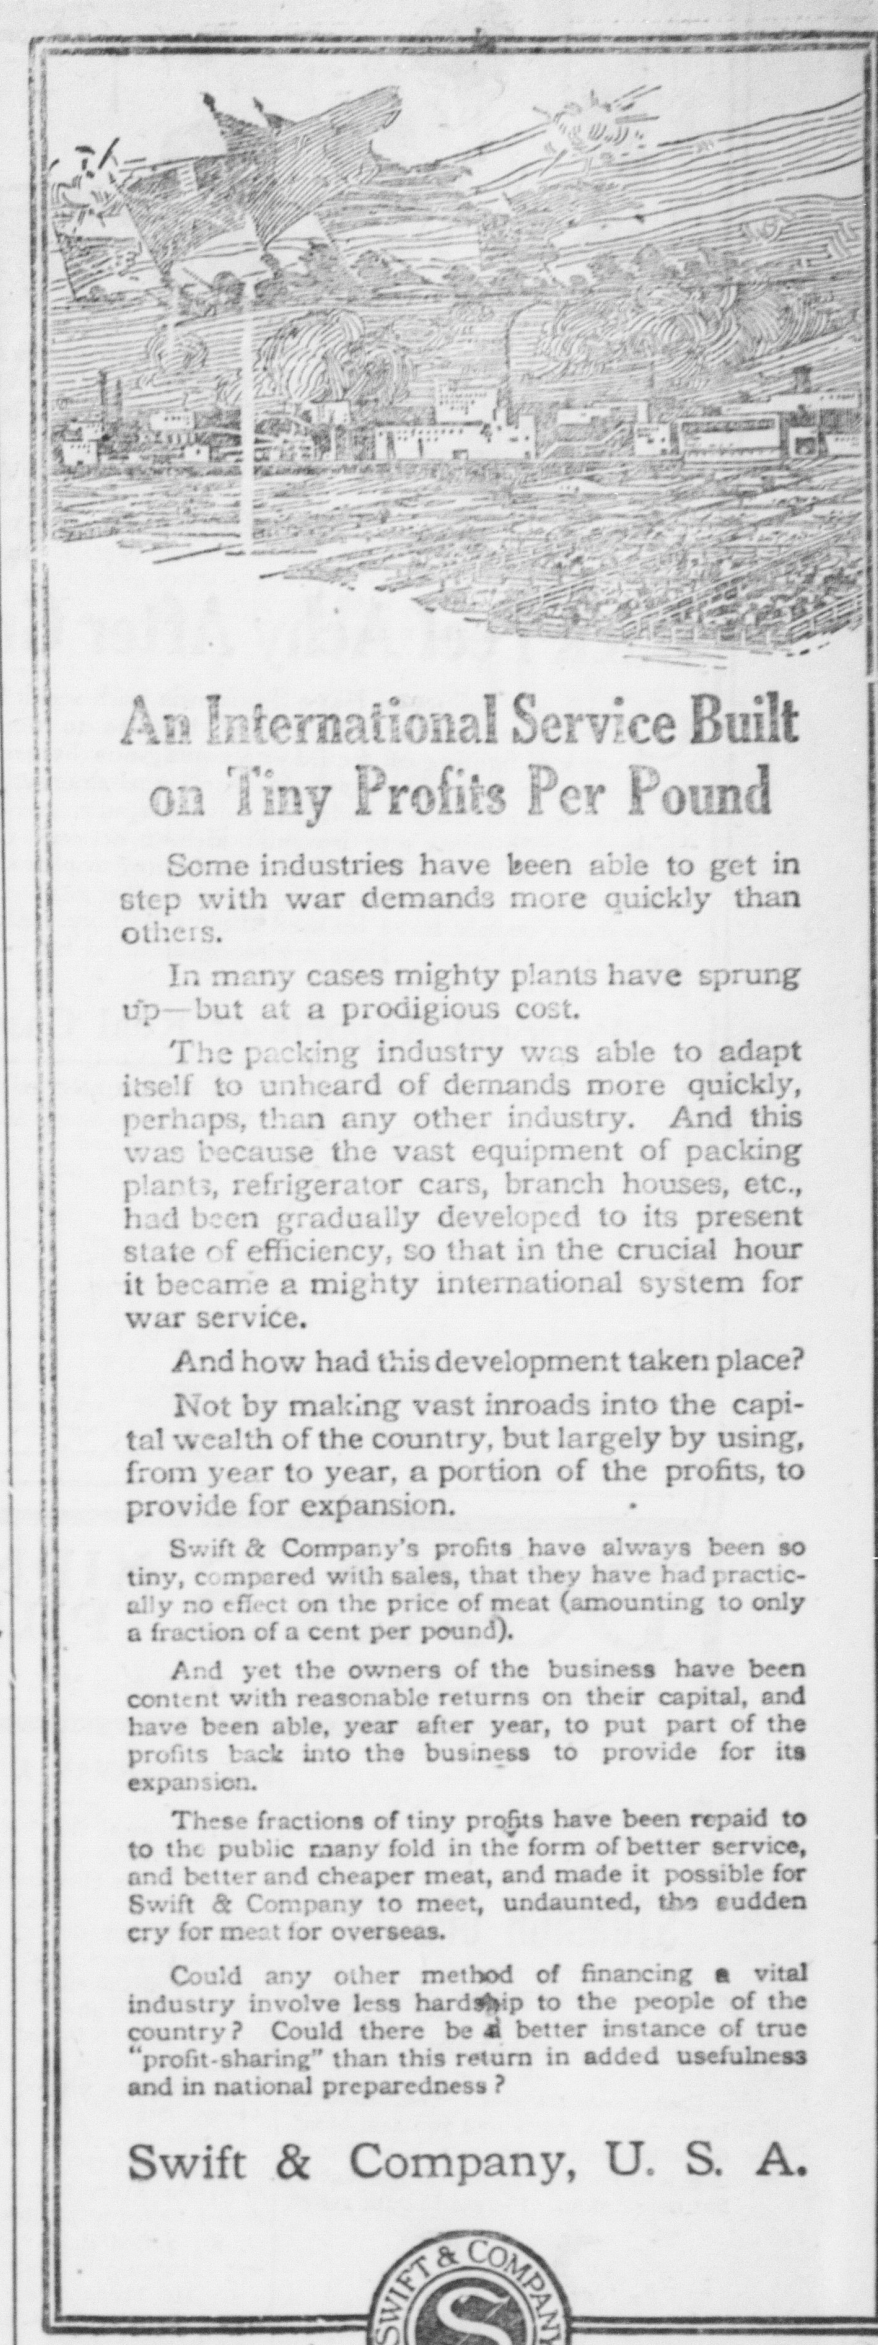

Swift & Company's profits have always been so tiny, compared with sales, that they have had practically no effect on the price of meat (amounting to only a fraction of a cent per pound).

And yet the owners of the business have been content with reasonable returns on their capital, and have been able, year after year, to put part of the profits back into the business to provide for its expansion.

These fractions of tiny profits have been repaid to the public many fold in the form of better service, and better and cheaper meat, and made it possible for Swift & Company to meet, undaunted, the sudden cry for meat for overseas.

Could any other method of financing a vital industry involve less hardship to the people of the country? Could there be a better instance of true "profit-sharing" than this return in added usefulness and in national preparedness?

Swift & Company, U. S. A.
