According to the report, the total number of days the jail was occupied during the year was 274, and the total expense $830.03. There were thirty-one persons incarcerated, and the average was $3 per day expense.

ALL SOLDIERS TO SOON BE BACK.

March Says That All Yanks But Ones Doing Police Duty Will Be Home in Six Months.

Within six months all American troops now overseas will be returned to the United States except those that will be left to do joint police duty with Allied forces, Chief of Staff March informed the Senate's committee on military affairs at Washington, on Monday. Gen. March said that 1,800,000 troops are still abroad and that as soon as the German merchant ships are turned over they will be brought home at the rate of 300,000 a month. By March 1 he said the 785,000 men still in cantonment camps would all be mustered out of service.

A bill appropriating $50,000,000 for land reclamation to provide work for the unemployed and returning soldiers was introduced in the Senate on Monday by Senator Jones of Washington. Soldier Elliot Smith Home.

Private Elliot Smith was received with a joyous welcome at his home in Centre Hall, last Thursday morning, it being his first visit home since returning from the fields of battle in far-off France. On account of his wounded arm he had been detained at the Camp Meade hospital. His visit home was of four days' duration, his furlough expiring at that time.

His injury was received while going over the top on November 6th, five days before the declaration of the armistice.

He belonged to company D, 60th Infantry, of the 5th Division. He had faced the enemy fire on five different occasions on these "over-the-top" advances and on the last trip received a machine gun bullet in the left arm, a few inches below the elbow. The wound was a clean one and is healing nicely under the care of the army physicians. While in Centre Hall Dr. Longwell gave the injured arm attention. No bones were broken and it is believed that the injured member will be restored to its original state in a comparatively short time.

"It all seems like a dream", is Private Smith's way of summing up the tales of the wonderful experiences he has undergone since leaving his home in Centre Hall a little over a year ago.

Lions Tagged Here.

Dyaks, natives of Borneo, are extremely truthful. So disgraceful, indeed, do the Dyaks consider the deceiving of others by an untruth that such is handed down to posterity by a curious custom. They heap up a pile of branches of trees in memory of the man who has uttered a great lie, so that the future generations may know of his wickedness and take warning from it.

The persons deceived start the tugong bula—the liar's mound—by heaping up a large number of branches in some conspicuous spot by the side of the path from one village to another.
Every passerby contributes to it and at the same time reviles the memory of the man who told the lie. The Dyaks consider the addition to any tugong bula they may pass a sacred duty, the omission of which will meet with supernatural punishment.
