Farmers up the valley were seen plowing several days last week.

James Frohm bagged a fine red fox on Saturday, making a total of four "reds" and one "grey" this winter.

The Decker Brothers, of Spring Mills, have formed a co-partnership with Cleveland Eungard for the sale of farm tractors.

C. M. Smith, the local merchant, is attending the Consistory meetings of the Free and Accepted Masons, at Williamsport, this week.

Good-bye, January, you have been kind and considerate of our coal pile. Your successor will have to "go some" to equal your record.

The Beatty Motor company, of Bellefonte, has unloaded five carloads of Fordson tractors in Centre county, within the past few weeks.

The continued spring-like weather is bound to prove disastrous to fruit trees which are showing indications toward budding. Trailing arbutus, the first flower of spring, is shooting forward under the sun's warm rays.

If you get any local pro-German stuff classing the Armenians as a lazy shiftless people, unworthy of aid, investigate the propagandist. He will be found to be one or all of these things—ignoramus, fool or an American.

The Potters Mills schools are about to lose two of their school teachers. Miss Bertha Miller has been tendered a clerical position in the War Department in Washington, and Mrs. Ellis Hennigh will resign her school in a short time.

In commenting on the work done by the degree team of the Centre Hall lodge of Odd Fellows, on a recent visit to the State College lodge, the "Times" says: All the brothers agreed that they had never seen the work surpassed, if equaled.

With 37 per cent of the farmers of Pennsylvania owning automobiles, the proportion of such fortunate joy-riders probably exceeds that in any other occupation. The number of such owners increased from 39,700 in 1916 to 53,716 in 1918—apparently a very good indication of the agricultural prosperity of the State. No one grudges the farmers this opulence, for they have contributed their full share to the winning of the war.

To-morrow (Friday) January, 1919, closes her books with a record for mildness that has no equal in several decades. It only requires a comparison of figures with the January of last year—which was of the other extreme—to indicate how spring-like the month which is rapidly approaching the end, really was. The average maximum temperature for the present January was 40 degrees, while that of the 1918 January was 23 degrees. The minimum figures were 21 degrees for the former and 6 degrees for the latter. Expressed in terms of coal the 1919 January would show a big balance on the credit side of the ledger. As for snow, the present January was "snowed under" by the score of 28 inches to 5, these figures representing the snowfall for January 1918, and January 1919, respectively.

W. S. S. Certificate Received.

The 1919 series of W. S. S. certificates have been received at the local post office, and now the new stamps may be purchased. The price for January is $4.12 for each stamp. The maturity value, January 1st, 1924 is $5.00; the same conditions applying to the 1918 series are operative for the current year.

While your bond has temporarily depreciated in value, the W. S. S. you hold are worth just exactly as scheduled on the table printed on each certificate. Instead of leaving your surplus funds lying idle, why not invest them, if only for part of a year, in W. S. S. There is no expense to you and the cash is always ready when you need it. The W. S. S. is the best Government investment offered.

Dies While Walking on Street.

As the result of a coasting accident which he suffered ten days ago, Quay Emory Bubb, aged seventeen years, died suddenly Monday morning at his home, Reedsville. He was apparently recovering from his internal injuries and walked over the street at his home a few minutes before he passed away. It is believed that he over-exerted himself, probably causing a severe strain upon the injured internal organs. He died within a few minutes after his collapse on the street. He was hurt while coasting on a Reedsville street, his sled and an automobile colliding.

He is survived by his parents, Samuel and Lizzie (Gilbert) Bubb and the following brothers and sisters: Earl, Charles, John and Dessie at home; Boyd of Sigleville; Samuel in France; Mrs. James Beaver, of Sandmines.

The funeral services will be held Thursday forenoon, 10 o'clock, Rev. E. B. Davidson officiating. Interment will be made in Woodlawn cemetery, Milroy.

"Hell Will be for Rent," Says Sunday

The rain of tears is over. The slums will soon be a memory. We will turn our prisons into factories, our jails into storehouses and corncribs. Men will walk upright now, women will smile, children will laugh, hell will be for rent. If any state fails to ratify the amendment the star in the flag that represents it should be draped in mourning.

Uncle Sam's knockout blow that sent the Kaiser and his junker gang of cut-throats and John Barleycorn and all his cohorts to the mat for the count makes me more proud than ever that I am an American and have lived to see this day.
