THE CENTRE REPORTER, CENTRE HALL, PA.

Coming Silks Cast

New Castle .- Peter Shoaf, of 313 ed several years ago. Sycamore street, has received a letter from his son, Vincent Shoaf, arise from her bed and prepare midline under fire.

Connellsville .--- Only the fact that the door of their bedroom was closed saved the lives of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smith, who were badly burned in escaping from their burning home. Neighbors living near noticed the smoke and flames on the lower floors Edward Jacobs, a Drums farmer, and immediately gave the alarm.

Harrisburg .- Reorganization of the department of forestry for the purposes of administration and a survey of the water resources of the state for purpose, of formulating policies of water conservation and forestry development, are provided in two bills introduced in the house by C. J. Goodnough, chairman of the house forestry Marysville territories. Whole families committee.

township road supervisor system is provided for in a bill introduced by having difficulty in securing help to Assemblyman Phillips, of Clearfield, feed their live stock because of the Phillips substitutes a county supervisor who would have full charge of all | neighbors. construction and maintenance work done on township highways.

Harrisburg .-- The county supervisor system has the approval of the state highway department. Assemblyman Phillips, however, has tacked on to his measure a provision returning to the counties one-fourth of the auto and Frank Klanick, two local miners, license receipts "in proportion to the whole number of miles of local roads in each county." The department has not approved this provision.

Harrisburg .- Establishment of an gan was similarly burned. state health insurance commission to continue the investigations begun by the commission of 1917 and an approprintion of $25,000 are provided in a bill presented by Mr. Ramsey, Delawere. The commissioners are to hold heatings, and after studying remedy legislation to make a report to the legislature.

Harrisburg .-- Senator Crow, of Fayctte, presented a bill in the senate fixing the salary of the governor at $18,-000 a year. The salary, if the bill becomes law, would not be effective until the next governor takes office in 1923. The present governor receives $10,000. the bucket under which he was pass-The bill also increases the salary of ing fell upon him. the governor's secretary to $7500. The present salary is $5000.

Harrisburg .-- Representative Neary, the legislature to prevent the carrying be concented. Violation of the law German hospital on July 20. er a year's imprisonment, or boot, for the first offense, and a fine of $28%, with an obligatory prison sentence of three months to two years for the secend offense Harrisburg .- A oll! providing for compulsory personal registration and voting and three of an bills attactud electors were presented to the house till' requires formation of phrites before pre-emption of tames are filed; another makes qualifications for assistance at primaries the same as at a general election and the fourth establishes qualifications for signers of nomination papers. Hazleton .- The Hazleton Ministerial association adepted resolutions protesting to the legislature against adoption of the bill of Representative. Richard Powell, of Luzerne county, repealing the "blue laws" of 1794. The organization fears a carnival of Sunday amusements and sport events if the statutes are abrogated. Mauch Chunk .-- The executive committee of the Consistory association of the Reformed churches of Carbon county, of which the Rev. I. A. Habenhold, pastor of Jacob's Reformed church, of Weissport, is chairman, has fixed Carbon county's allotment of the $110,000 to be raised by the Reformed churches of this country to aid war-stricken Belgium and France | dent; W. H. Manges, vice president; at $1761. Marysville .-- For the sixth successive term, Mrs. Jennie Wox has been elected president of the local Civic club. She was active in the formation of the organization and has been its president ever since. Mrs. Elmer Sellers and Mrs. C. A. B. Clouser are vice presidents. Mrs. Pearl B. Hipple, recording secretary ; Mrs. John G. Berger, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William Dice, treasurer. New Castle .- Four persons of the same name secured marriage licenses at the courthouse recently, and, of reception of the "boys" when they recourse, none will make any change in name after the ceremony is performed. Miss Fannie R, Byler will marry Eli M. Byler, and Miss Rena R. Byler will marry John D. Byler. The girls are sisters, but are not relatives of the bridegrooms-to-be. New Castle .- Final reports of the roll-call Red Cross drive in Lawrence county show that 41,320 members were goods business here, has retired. enrolled in the county.

New Castle .- Civil engineers engaged by the county commissioners to study the Mill street bridge proposition reported in favor of a steel structure as against a concrete span. The contract will probably be awarded. The lowest bid for the bridge is $113,-600. The bridge will be 213 feet long and will replace a structure condemn-

Uniontown.-Because she refused to 30Sth signal battalion, in which is night lunches for her husband when inclosed a copy of a commendation he came in, Mrs. Albert Bursworth, or citation he received for heroism of Ohioplye, alleges that he beat her in action in rebuilding a telephone to such extent that she was forced to leave her home. Her petition for an absolute divorce was granted.

Hazleton .- The first horse theft in a number of years in the Hazieton region occurred during the night, when some one stole a steed, with saddle and bridle, from the barn of Slatington .- Citizens of Slatington have acquired an option on a large park on the outskirts of the town, which will be fitted up as a municipal recreation grounds as a memorial to the borough's 200 soldiers in the war. Marysville .- Influenza has broken out badly again in the Blain and of six and seven have been stricken Harrisburg .- The abolition of the in a number of instances, and farmers, ill with the disease, are often great degree of illness among their

New Castle,---Names of Lawrence county persons who belong to the Pershing limit club-having subscribed their limit for W. S. S .- are being taken overseas to General Pershing by R. W. Egan, of Pittsburgh. Nesquehoning .- Michael T. Mulligan were severely burned through an explosion of gas at the No. 2 shaft of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company here. Four years ago Mr. Mulli

Uniontown .-- Twice reported dead by officials of the war department, Ralph Wilson surprised the members of his family, at Fairchance, near here, by walking in on them, The young soldier was wounded and is now in hospital No. 3, at Rahway, N. J. He has written the war department that, to clarify the records he will appear before officials there and be identified as being very much alive.

Shenandoah. - Russell Tetweiler, eighteen years old, a crane worker on a steam shovel at Locust Mountain collicity, was crushed to death when Bloomsburg .-- A half hour after they received the joyous news that their son, Elmer Snyder, was safe in o? Philadelphia, introduced the bill in New York, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Snyder, of Bloomsburg, received a telegram of firearms. It requires a perm t from from the war department, teiling of tae sheriff to carry v expons that can the death of their son. Clark; in a loaded with coal and coke without any to an official report made public by the freight officials of that company. Connellsville .- With his heart laid bare as the result of an accident in by Mr. Walker, Fulladelphia. One a mine near his home, in Ballskin township, Clarence Wingrove had barely recovered from the wound which was believed by the attending physicians to be fatal when he was attacked with influenza and now he is convalescent from that disease.

We shall have plenty of chances to | shown in the picture reveals as pracrun after strange new gods in silk tical and pretty a frock as ever greetcess. Their triumph is assured. Even in the season's styles.

This new model embodies some very Printed silks are slated for the new ning with a group of three, uppermost season and foulards in lovely colors and adding one row to each group unare figured with flowers and leaves til that above the hem numbers seven. and made up often with plain georg- These long stitches of heavy silk conette, in such lovely frocks that there stitute one variety of the "thread emare not two opinions as to their suc broider," that plays a prominent part various tricot weaves proclaim that the hips-a departure from the manufacturers foresee a vogue for this straight silhouette that is noteworthy. meterial greater than that it has al- It may be the forerunner of more ready had. In cross bars of contrast- curved lines to follow and welcome for ing colors it is best adapted to sport variety's sake. A panel set in the wear, but in plain colors it makes front of the jacket is embellished with a handsome dress for the street. this thead embroidery and a double In the vanguard of slik frocks fot row of small buttons., Revers that spring there are the taffetas that wom widen toward the bottom and a neck en watch for and in which they have finish in a fold of white georgette are an abiding interest. Nothing so fat pretty and the girdle formed by three would be punishable by a fine of $104 Uniontown.-The five hundred cars has supplanted the tage a frock. It cords run in the silk is new. A buckle holds its own because it is so wear- and three loops of silk-covered cord at destination are, on sidings on the able; that is, it is a versatile gown each side finish it off. The cuffs com-Pennsylvania railroad between Fair- suited to many of the goings on that mand attention. They are made of mont, W. Va., and Belle Vernon and occupy the time of the women of to- deep plaits of the silk instened down Fairchance and Greensburg, according day. The two-piece dress-or suit- with little buttons.

Peggy came down the terraced steps from her sister's bungalow and looked wistfully up and down the street. Here were the trees all crimson and gold, her long summer visit coming to a close, and this glorious afternoon free, with no amusement in store.

Peggy's wide eyes seeming not to find that for which they sought, she wandered aimlessly up the broad road. Near its top stood a great house behind a stone garden wall. Peggy had always admired this wall, the trees dropped over it so protectingly, and there were glimpses of flower-bordered paths within.

Today, on the walk before the house, stood a baby carriage, and smiling enchantingly from beneath the carriage hood was a dimpling love of a baby.

"You darling !" Peggy responded to the smile, while the baby put forth a chubby hand with an evident invitation for its clasping.

"You friendly little thing !" Peggy exclaimed.

"Goo-" answered the baby. No attendant was in sight; probably the child's mother had left it while she stopped at the great house. Peggy decided to visit with the baby until her return.

Gratefully the little one put forth efforts to entertain. The girl's laugh rang out at its droll tricks-hide and seek with the tiny skirt of its dress. peek-a-boos between chubby fingers. But no mother was forthcoming.

Loath to leave the adorable little thing, Peggy made a trip of investigation up the flower-bordered path.

The baby's lusty cry at her desertion caused her to go farther and ring the front-door bell. To all appearances, upon this glorious October day the great house was vacated.

"Some careless nurse girl," Peggy indignantly reflected, "had forsaken the baby for her own pleasure. She must already have been gone some time. No wonder the tiny one had so gleefully welcomed her presence."

Peggy returned, to find baby's smile of greeting banishing the tears. She decided to push the carriage slowly down the stone walk until the one in charge should appear. But no one came

Baby, indeed, seemed the only object of life in all the silent surroundings. Peggy continued to push the carriage. "Just as well to give the neglectful one a scare," she considered. And as she went on, new vistas of fall scenery invited.

She had never looked before from the hill to the valley. Baby cooed delightfully, while Peggy's thoughts went wool-gathering.

"Let me see," said the man matterof-factly, "the first time I saw you was on your college campus." "Yes," nodded the girl.

"And the second, crossing a busy city street?" Peggy agreed.

"Then there was a time when you came glowing through the door of the railroad train-"

"Glowing?" smiled Peggy.

"You looked that way to me," said the nice man; "like a vivid flower in a dreary place."

"Thank you," answered Peggy prim-

"And this," the man went on, "Is the only time I have seen you away from your sister's veranda, when you were not accompanied by the same fellow. Your flance, I suppose?" The question was extremely casual.

"My young brother," Peggy replied. Tom Price took his big hands from the carriage handle and stood still before her. "Your brother!" he lamented; "and all this time I've been trying to keep from falling in love with another fellow's girl."

"You have no right to speak to me like that-" Peggy began severely, but immediately her anxiety was transferred to the nearness of a surrounding stone wall.

"This is the place," she whispered, "where I-took the baby. I've been away quite some time. Would you mind walking with me as far as the front door? If his mother should happen to be angry-"

"Just you leave it all to me," Tom magnanimously suggested.

As there was still no response to their summons at the great house door, perplexed and feeling rather guilty, Peggy followed her protector's advice and waited with him upon the veranda.

Her eyes softened as the nice man rocked the baby in his arms. "He is not a bit afraid of you," she murmured. Then Tom Price laughed. "Why should he be?" he said. "He is my sister's kid. She left him in my care for a couple of hours this afternoon. I'd just gone to hunt up his nurse when you came and stole him."

"And you didn't tell me," Peggy accused. "You kept walking along and never told me."

The nice man reflected baby's smile. "I had to find out about that other fellow, you see," he said.

SEE EXTINCTION OF COYOTE

Stock Raisers Confident That Their Skulking Enemy Will Soon Be Entirely Wiped Out.

According to stock raisers and farmers, especially in Kansas, the corote seems to be fast becoming extinct. The fencing up of blg pasture districts where practically every acre is stocked with cattle has robbed the coyote of his once free and open range.

Because of his depredations on young and helpless domestic stock a bounty has in many places been set upon his head and he has long been a fugitive, hunted and killed by every farmer and stock raiser. The greater part of these bountles are collected in the spring months before the mother wolf has left her den with her family. So persistently has the warfare of extermination been carried on that the coyotes which rear their families in safety must be cunning indeed. The coyote has long borne a reputation for cowardice, to say nothing of other unworthy qualities, but in the opinion of some this is unfair to the beast. His warfare on sheep long ago led to the institution of coyote drives, especially in the far Northwest. Hundreds of men turn out and manage the thing pretty much as is done in the case of a rabbit drive, when great numbers of jackrabbits are driven into a sort of corral, where they are killed. On one occasion many men and boys in southern Idaho worked all day driving in the coyotes and when they, the men and boys, had all converged at the corral they found just one coyote In it, and he got away!

weaves; some of them glorious prod- ed a spring day. ucts of looms set to new tasks. There interesting details in its makeup. First are wonderful silks among the novel- the skirt narrows toward the bottom ties for spring; knitted-looking fab- and has a wide hem. Rows of long rics and familiar silks woven in an running stitches, arranged in five amazing variety of new patterns. groups, run around the skirt, begintricot is shown in printed patterns and The jacket or short coat widens at

Northumberland .- Borough council adopted a resolution alleging that the Northumberland Water company is not living up to an order of last summer requiring an adequate water serv ice in Northumberland,

Blain,-Arrangements for a series of night education lectures for farmers of Perry county has been arranged to be held under the auspices of the agricultural department of the Blain Vocational school.

Perkasie .-- Returning from service in France, Raymond Hunsberger found that his wife died just six weeks ago.

Altoona .-- Further reducing the production of coal in the central Pennsylvanis bituminous field in an effort to maintain prices, many coal operators are now operating their mines only three days a week-Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. York .- Nearly 200 residents of Spring Grove, this county, Jackson, North Codorus, Heidelberg, West Manchester townships, met at Spring Grove and organized the Spring Grove Good Roads association. Eighty-four were enrolled as members of the association. W. M. Lau was elected presi-H. H. Hawkins, secretary; W. L. Glaffelter, treasurer.

Uniontown .- Mayor John D. Carr has' just appointed a committee of prominent and representative men to act as a committee of welcome when Fayette county's soldier hoys ceturn to their-homes. He named Judge E. H. Reppert, John Lynch, Joseph Rosenbuam, Harry Whyet, Charles Lenhart, Dr. W. Hamilton Spence and H. M. Fry to be known as "the mayor's committee." The committee is empowered to make its own plans for the turn.

New Castle,-Lawrence county commissioners have awarded the contract for erection of a new steel bridge over the Neshannock river to F. S. Wilson, for $113,800. The work will be started at once.

Chambersburg -- David D. Sollenberger, after forty years in the dry

Stroudsburg .--- Monroe county, which has a dry representative at Harrisburg did not have a prisoner in its jall in 1918, according to figures glyen out by the county auditors.

fabric Reading .- The Berks County Agricultural society fixed the dates of the Reading fair for September 16-20. Elizabethtown .- This borough has called a meeting of citizens to plan for the erection of a community house to the memory of the local boys who died in France.

Blouses of georgette crepe are at this way, using much deeper shades of day, in passing. least as numerous as any other kind, yellow paper to make them. To get and become soiled as quickly. But just the right tint it may be necesthey require special, but not difficult, sary to experiment by first tinting treatment in washing and ironing, small pieces of crepe or a portion of This is a work that women do for the waist that is covered by the skirt, ter with this same Tom Price had themselves, and it is worth while to The blouse will look lighter when it is raised in Peggy's usually adamantine do this work for chiffon, light weight dry than when it is wet. It is better heart, she might have been more exsilk, satin and lace blouses. Nearly to deepen the tint by redipping than plicit in her description. everyone has learned something of the to make it too strong at first. The art of tinting or dyeing blouses, when method of tinting with gasoline will time and wear fade those that are col- be given in another article, ored or yellow those that were white. Women who have learned how to launder their own fine blouses turn them out as good as new after unnumbered washings, or tint them into first one color and then another, according to their fancy.

The various manufacturers of dyes have placed on the market many colors that may be used for tinting by mixing with water. Colored crepe papers, soaked in water, yield several lovely tints. But one may get almost any color desired or match any hue by us. frock of rose flowered white pussy wiling tube paints and gasoline as a tint- low taffeta. The pattern was done in ing medium.

blocks, flowered and plain silks cut in The washing of crepe and other triangles, and the blocks joined by sheer fabrics is simply a matter of strips of pink satin ribbon. It was handling them gently. Make a warm lined with plain thin silk with a sheet the blouse repeatedly in this, squeezsuds of water and white soap and dip of cotton wadding laid between. Veiled Shoulders. ing the solled portions in the hand or rubbing them very gently. If much soiled wash through a second suds and rinse in clear, tepid water. Do not twist or wring to dry, but lay in a towel and run through a wringer. girdle of sapphires gives the finishing Do not allow to dry before ironing, but touch of richness. Such a design would be effective if carried out in a fold in a tarkish towel for awhile white satin with an overdress of black and iron while damp. Use a moderately hot iron and iron on the wrong side, stretching the material to its proper shape-otherwise it will shrink. Do not allow any part of the waist is necessary to iron part of a crepe or silk waist on the right side, owing to bines perfectly with shades of taupe. the way in which it is made, place a Ermine is used with best effect on thin muslin between the iron and the bluck velvet, though this color is is first washed and rinsed. After that which run through the brown hairs. It is rinsed in a water to which color has been added. This color can be bought in drug stores and sometimes in other shops. For pink very pretty model of black satin, the entire shape tints can be got from red tissue paper, covered with an allover pattern of and lovely yellow hues are obtained in embroidery done in gold thread.

"This was the first day of her long stay in which the nice man had not passed her sister's home."

In her own thoughts-and strange to say, he was often in her thoughts-Peggy referred to him as the "nice man.

There was something so wholesomely frank in the good-natured face, even in the man's swinging carriage. Peggy wondered dismally how it was that they had not become better acquainted. Her sister introduced them one

"Oh, that is Tom Price," she carelessly remarked.

If the married sister had guessed at the wild commotion the chance encoun-

In some inexplicable way, in the many places where Peggy had happened to be during the past changing year, this "nice man" had bobbed up, until recognition between the two became an astonishing fact. Peggy fancled him eager for a meeting; yet, after her sister's introduction, Tom Price passed on his contented way-with but Scraps from old dancing frocks a daily, distant bow. And now she of taffeta or satin in pastel shades must go home!

make very dainty guilts for the bou-"Goo-" reminded the baby.

doir. One charming quilt of this kind Peggy glanced about in surprise: was evolved from a cast-off evening she had gone farther than she knew, coat of pale pink sllk in a morning Then suddenly, apparently "out of the glory shade and a discarded dance nowhere into the here," a umu's figure loomed up before her.

"How de do?" said Tom Price.

Peggy stared, then she laughed. "I might have known that it would be you." she said. "This is about the only corner where we had not met." The nice man's grin expressed satisfaction.

"Couldn't be too often to suit me," he remarked pleasantly. "Where did you get the baby?"

"Oh !" she murmured ; "I did not realize it, but I guess-I've kidnaped him."

"Severe penalty for that," said Tom Price, and his eyes twinkled,

"It is really serious," Peggy protested. "I have been most thoughtless, Perhaps some distracted mother is now wringing her hands over his absence, He was so captivating, you see, I just kept pushing him on from before the blg stone house, where I found him.

"The house is at the top of the hill I must get him back directly." Breathlessly she swung the carriage about. The nice man took hold of the handle. "Let me help you," he suggested; "If the police are on your trail, I may be able to help you out. I'm pretty well known around here." Silently Peggy accepted his aid. The baby 'aughing into their faces, they made their way back down the road. | -Alaska Citizen, Fairbanks.

To Control Jute Trade.

It is understood that the English government is to keep control of the flax trade during the next season, and that it purposes to give greater facilities for the export of yarns and cloth, as well as to deal liberally with requests for permits, etc., for the home market.

Meantime the surprisingly heavy increase in the price of raw materials has made all quotations nominal. There being only one seller in Russia now, the government has had to pay what may be called an exorbitant rate for the fiber.

Changes are also rapidly developing in jute-goods trading arrangements. The granting of grading permits and export licenses has been put on a different footing. More encouragement. will be accorded to the shipment of yarns until it is found that this is interfering with the weaving of cloth for home outlets.

White Whale in the Yukon,

Deputy Marshal J. C. Wood of Fairbanks, Alaska, is authority for the story that a white whale has made its appearance in the Yokon river opposite the mouth of the Tanana river. He noticed the mammal on his recent trip up from Ruby. The deputy says that preparations are now being made for the capture of the whale as soon as the river freezes up a little more. The whale was headed for some place on the Upper Yukon, but the Ice run prevented it getting any further that Tanana. It frequently comes up to blow and has been seen by a number. of residents of the lower river towas

The overdress of one evening model s made high in the back and low in the front, as it is now considered more becoming to vell the shoulders. The lace and a girdle of jet.

Julie Bottom leg

Dainty Quilts.

Furs and Velvets. Taupe velvet is popular, because it to become dry before ironing. If it is so soft in shade and so lovely with moleskin. Moleskin or beaver com-

beautifully combined with kolinsky When a crepe waist is to be tinted it on account of the black markings

Hat of Black Satin,

An unusual just is a Napoleonic