State College Professor Home After Overseas Duty.

Captain Elton D. Walker, head of the department of civil engineering, has returned to the Pennsylvania State College after more than eighteen months' service overseas. He was in charge of Company A, Fifteenth Engineers, A. E. F., in France.

In his work in France, Captain Walker was assigned to a wide variety of engineering work, including railway yards, warehouses, barracks and water supply projects for camps and for certain French cities. Not long before he sailed for home, Captain Walker was transferred to the section engineer's office, at La Havre, where he was in charge of the water supply and sanitary conditions in that district.

AARONSBURG.

One of the old landmarks of town is being demolished. The cabinet shop once owned by Wm. Condo is being torn to the ground. For a number of years the band and P. O. S. of A. lodge had their headquarters there. The band has now moved into the room above James Roush's blacksmith shop and the lodge into R. W. Mensch's hall.

Lieut. Johnson Tells War Story.

Lieut. Miller Johnson, son of Judge Albert W. Johnson, of Lewisburg, who has recently returned from across the sea, thrilled a large audience in the Lutheran church in his home town a week ago with a recital of a few of his experiences while fighting the Hun.

Lieut. Johnson was one of the officers of Co. K, 316th Infantry, and part of the 79th Division. Probably the greatest of Lt. Johnson's experiences on the other side was the battle of Montfaucon where he stated the Pennsylvania troops practically whipped the Germans, and took the town. At Montfaucon, said Lt. Johnson, Co. K, formed the first lines for their corps and as assaulting waves, we had our troubles.

"We progressed through the woods for about 200 yards when suddenly what seemed like a million German machine guns opened upon us. They had allowed our first line to filter through perhaps unintentionally and opened upon my second line. My platoon on the right taking up a front of 150 yards. I signaled the front line to move forward, everyone, crawling this time and for the second line to form the groups to combat the machine gunners. After forming the second line into groups my two men, one whom I called "Whitie" who were always with me, and I, crept toward the sound of the nearest machine gun. Every time we would raise our heads, we would hear the sound of the German Maxim. We continued foot by foot, when I decided that we must be getting close. I raised my head to see, and lo and behold I looked into the muzzle of a German machine gun, two feet in front of me, manned by two Germans, who had a sickly grin. One of them said: "Incommen." I had enough German to understand what that meant.

"Just as I was about to enter the shellhole containing the Germans and the machine gun, I heard "Keep down Lieutenent, here she comes," and bang, with a cloud of smoke was the explosion of a grenade. One German was killed and the other severely wounded and we left them to their fate and passed on. It was Whitie who had thrown the grenade."

The regiment that Lt. Johnson was connected with continued in the attack for four days before it was relieved. His company was the only one which suffered no casualties among the officers.

"This was accounted for because they all carried rifles," he said. "The German snipers whose business it is to pick off officers could not distinguish us from the men."

"During the advance tanks manned by the French soldiers were brought up to aid the infantry but the severe artillery fire of the Germans stopped the tanks. The French men who manned the tanks jumped from their machines and took to the rear in great fashion. One of them ran by me and I asked him what was the matter with the tanks. His answer was, "Too much Boche artillery. American no good. American damn fool. American no give damn for big artillery. American big damn fool."

MOVING AIR A REGENERATOR

Why One May Sleep on the Ground in Certain Localities Without Any Ill Effect.

In these days of apartments many people must sleep rather close to the ground. The ventilation here cannot be as good as it is higher and sunlight is usually almost an impossibility. The renting agent pointed out the fact to a tenant the other day that the sunlight, during part of the day, fell on the wall opposite and was reflected. It was pathetic.

Nevertheless, it is true that in any reasonably healthful climate, not infected by swamp miasma, people sleep on the ground in the open not only in safety, but with a distinct hygienic gain. It is particularly true of mountain or high hill regions. Men, out camping, have awakened in the morning to find themselves lying almost immersed in the water of sudden rains, and yet have experienced no ill effect. All of this leads us back to a previous statement that the system thrives when air has a chance to search in and circulate in contact with the flesh. It stimulates and electrifies.

Spanish Influenza can be prevented easier than it can be cured.

NO CHANGE IN LOAN CAMPAIGN

By E. PUSEY PASSMORE, Governor Third Federal Reserve Bank.

"Notwithstanding repeated statements from Secretary Glass, the proposed action of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives in determining the types of securities to be offered has apparently left much misunderstanding in the minds of many people regarding the coming loan.

"The Treasury Department announces that the Victory Liberty Loan campaign will begin not later than April 21st and must of necessity be of a character similar in essential features to those conducted in the past through the existing Liberty Loan organizations. The imperative requirements of the Treasury cannot be financed without such a campaign, for it is of utmost importance that the securities offered shall be distributed as widely as possible among the American people.

"Only the form and terms of the securities to be issued remain to be determined and depend upon the enabling legislation to be enacted by Congress, but, whether bonds or notes are finally determined upon, the total amount will be so large that it is absolutely essential that the widest possible measure of distribution be realized.

"Surely all who believe in the principles for which the war was waged and on account of which such tremendous sacrifices of lives and treasure have been made will appreciate the necessity of properly meeting the financial commitments of the government made during the conduct of the war.

"Director Mason and his associates, in conjunction with the Executive Committee are planning many new and novel features and already have the coming Victory Liberty Loan campaign in this district splendidly organized. The army of Liberty Loan workers who have done such effective work in the past, are deeply interested in the coming campaign and are determined to see this final loan put over in good shape. In order that their part of the war work may be creditably completed.

A New Mystery

In the quiet country community that he pestered with his presence, everybody hated Hamilcar Q. Glure—"Wall Street farmer," he called himself. Why shouldn't they? In the very first installment of "The Pest," a rattling new mystery story, starting next week in

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

we find him ruining a near-by dairy, underselling the truck-growers, beating a beautiful collie dog, and threatening one of his neighbors at pistol point. So it was no wonder that—

But it wouldn't be quite fair to give away the story. All I can say is that the editors tell me it's a humdinger of a mystery—the kind everybody likes—by Albert Payson Terhune.

But this is only one story, while in the fifty-two numbers of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN you get five or six of them—the kind that sell in book form for $1.50 to $1.65 each, these days.

All these are in addition to a wealth of the best sort of articles about farm, garden and home.

I will arrange to have your subscription start with the first installment of "The Pest," if you give me your name and the address with
