After Being Relieved Of Organic Trouble by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oregon, Ill.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for an organic trouble which pulled me down until I could not put my foot to the floor and could scarcely do my work, and as I live on a small farm and raise six hundred chickens every year it made it very hard for me. "I saw the Compound advertised in your paper, and tried it. It has restored my health so I can do all my work and I am so grateful that I am recommending it to my friends."—Mrs. D. M. ALTERS, R. R. 4, Oregon, Ill. Only women who have suffered the tortures of such troubles and have dragged along from day to day can realize the relief which this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, brought to Mrs. Alters. Women everywhere in Mrs. Alters' condition should profit by her recommendation, and if there are any complications write Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of their 40 years experience is at your service.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Why use ordinary cough remedies when Boschee's Syrup has been used so successfully for fifty-one years in all parts of the United States for coughs, bronchitis, colds settled in the throat, especially lung troubles? It gives the patient a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectoration in the morning, gives nature a chance to soothe the inflamed parts, throw off the disease, helping the patient to regain his health. Made in America and sold for more than half a century.—Adv.

The Modern Method.

Mrs. Patterson called upon an acquaintance and found that the latter's 10-year-old son had developed a face that was considerably too large for him. "So Willie has the mumps," remarked the caller, with a critical glance at the victim. "What are you doing for him?" "We sent for the doctor," answered the mother. "That's the medicine he left on the table yesterday." "How times have changed!" remarked Mrs. Patterson. "When I was a little girl we used to treat mumps by taking a strip of salt pork, plentifully sprinkled with salt and pepper, and binding it around the throat." "Yes, we thought of that, but at the present price of pork we decided it would be cheaper to get a doctor!"

Complex Indeed.

A teacher in the North Vernon schools was grading some manuscripts from a recent examination, says the Indianapolis News. One of the questions asked ran like this: "Define and give an example of a complex compound sentence." In answering the question one pupil gave the following as an example: "The only saw that I ever saw was a buzzsaw down in 'Arkansas'." The teacher is under the impression that the answer was somewhat complex.

An honest man wants only what belongs to him—and what he can persuade others to let him have.

Neutrals Will Have An Opportunity To Present Suggestions To League Of Nations Commission—Wilson Dines With House.

Paris.—The Dominion delegates here heartily concur in the view of the British delegation that the question of the equality of treatment of all nationalities throughout the world is not a matter for the League of Nations. A prominent Australian expressed the opinion that the commonwealth was not prejudiced against the Japanese, but had a great admiration for them. Nevertheless, he said, Australians believed that it would be better for the future world if each race should develop along its own distinctive lines.

The chief consideration, the Australian continued, was the industrial one. Australia aimed at building up in the most rapid manner an all-British population of more than 15,000,000, and her chief attraction was her high wages and pleasant industrial conditions. The Asiatic worker, as known in Australia, however, was a cheap worker, and therefore, the Australian continued, if the doors were opened to Asiatic immigration they would have to be closed to Europeans.

A Canadian delegate declared that the question of immigration must be settled individually by each country. Canada, he said, hitherto has had no complaint regarding the Japanese in Canada. Their immigration was limited, he pointed out, and only a few hundred were admitted yearly.

President Wilson will act as chairman at the meeting of the League of Nations commission which will be held Saturday morning, when all proposed amendments and changes will be considered and the plan put into definite form.

This will be the first meeting of the commission since the covenant was adopted the day before Mr. Wilson left for America and it will consider proposals of neutrals and also any other suggestions which have taken definite form.

Lord Robert Cecil and Thomas W. Gregory, former United States Attorney General, are now here and are among those who have sought to draft a proviso relative to the Monroe doctrine in such form that it will meet the approval of legal experts.

The commission plans to hold continuous sessions until the work of revision is completed.

LABOR COST A FACTOR CABLE OWNERSHIP PROBLEM

The Attitude Of The Steel Manufacturers Toward The Board Proposals Was Not Announced.

Washington.—Initial steps toward bringing about a reduction of prices and stabilization of the basic commodities were taken at a conference of representatives of the steel industry with the Department of Commerce's recently organized industrial board. The steel men, headed by E. H. Gary, chairman of the American Iron and Steel Institute, met with the board and later held a separate conference.

The attitude of the steel manufacturers toward the board's proposals was not announced. The board, however, in a statement issued after the joint conference said that while "an actual decision on a lowered scale of prices" had not been reached, "satisfactory progress has been made."

Chairman Peek, of the board, was quoted as saying the steel men had shown an entire willingness "to cooperate in making effective any program that will hasten the return to normal conditions."

The statement issued by the board follows: "After meeting with leaders of the iron and steel industry, representing approximately 90 per cent. of the country's production, the industrial board announced that satisfactory progress had been made but that a final decision on a lowered scale of prices would not be reached until after full consideration of all phases of the subject.

The question of prices was not touched upon at the first conference. The entire time was devoted to a discussion of the general situation and the necessity of a reduced schedule of steel prices at the present time in order to stimulate buying.

"We found the steel men entirely willing to cooperate in making effective any program that will hasten the return to normal conditions," said George N. Peek, chairman of the Industrial Board. "It is as yet impossible to tell just how long it will take to formulate the new price schedule. We do not expect, however, that action by the industry and the board will be long delayed."

War Department Announces Data Ascertained Through Questionnaires At Camp Devens.

Washington.—Overwhelming indorsement of a universal military training system, coupled with equally strong support for the existing disciplinary relationship between officers and men of the army, was expressed by a representative group of the selective service men of the Twelfth Division, Camp Devens, Mass. Just before the organization was demobilized last January the opinions of the men, numbering 1,330, with an average length of service of 10.7 months, were obtained through a carefully arranged questionnaire system with every safeguard provided to insure absolutely free expression of opinion and with such distribution in the division as to make the answers representative.

The report on the inquiry was made public at the War Department. It is headed:

"Our military system as it appeared to America's citizen soldiers."

Although half of the men questioned were rated as dissatisfied with military life, the report shows that 89.5 per cent. of the replies expressed the soldier's belief that he personally had benefited by his army life, 79 per cent. were glad of their training aside from feelings of patriotism and 88 per cent. favored universal military training as a national policy.

A substantial majority agreed that the existing relationship between officers and men was necessary and disapproved the social mixing of the rank and file.

The largest number of suggestions as to improvements in the service received had to do with better fitting uniforms or changes in mess arrangements.

There were more than 20,000 men in the Twelfth Division at the time of the inquiry, representing 47 States. The organization was awaiting orders for France when the armistice was signed. It then suffered more than two months of waiting for demobilization before the questionnaires were sent out, and the officers who devised and supervised the inquiry point out that it was thus calculated to reflect army morale at its low ebb.

Every provision was made to ascertain the views of discontented men in order that the results might have real value of the army. The commanders of the 80 companies were furnished with 18 questionnaires each, and instructed to give them to six men of high intelligence and rated as good soldiers, to six others of equal intelligence but supposed to be discontented with army life, to three good soldiers of average intelligence and to three others of average intelligence who had indicated views hostile to military discipline. The men were told to submit their answers only immediately upon or after discharge, so no fear of subsequent action by their officers would impede the free expression of their views.

Mr. Schlessner in Misery From Kidney Complaint. Doan's Gave Complete Relief.

"Heavy work brought on my kidney complaint," says Wm. Schlessner, 6408 Suburban Ave., Weirton, Mo. "One morning when shoeing a horse I was taken with a sudden pain in my back and fell flat on the floor. If I had been hit with a trip hammer, the pain was wearing the life out of me. At times, I couldn't get a wink of sleep because of the misery and I had to get up every few moments to pass the secretions that were highly colored, of foul odor, filled with sandy sediment and terribly scalding. My bladder felt as though it were a fire. The pain brought stupor and a reeling sensation in my head; the torture of it cannot be described. If I got onto my feet I couldn't walk but felt dizzy and all in a flutter and everything would turn black. My head ached so it seemed as though my eyes were being dragged out. I started using Doan's Kidney Pills and I was soon rid of all the trouble."
