Western Canada's "Horn of Plenty" Offers You Health & Wealth

Western Canada for years has helped to feed the world—the same responsibility of production will rest upon her.

While high prices for Grain, Cattle and Sheep are sure to remain, price of land is much below its value. Land capable of yielding 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre can be had on easy terms at from $15 to $30 per acre—good grazing land at much less.

Many farms paid for from a single year's crop. Raising cattle, sheep and hops brings equal success. The Government encourages farming and stock raising. Railway and Land Companies offer unusual inducements to Home Seekers. Farms may be stocked by loans at moderate interest. Western Canada offers low taxation, good markets and shipping; free schools, churches and healthful climate.

For particulars as to reduced railway fares, location of land, illustrated literature, etc., apply to Dept. of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or F. A. HARRISON, 210 North Third St., Harrisburg, Pa. Canadian Government Agent

At Least He Was There.

When he was minister of the Interior in the Sarrien cabinet, M. Clemenceau prescribed for the functionaries of his department precise office hours which were to be rigorously observed. One day, early in the afternoon, he called his bureau chief, Mr. Winter, and said:

"Let us take a turn in the bureau."

Obviously his command had had little effect. Office after office was found empty. At last, in a nook under the roof, they came upon a poor devil of a clerk who, overcome by the heat, had fallen asleep at his desk. Mr. Winter sprang forward to shake and rouse him, but Mr. Clemenceau checked him:

"Sapristi! But, no! Don't wake him, or he, too, may run away!"

FELT SOLDIER SPOKE TRUTH

No Doubt Colonel Blank, in His Heart, Realized Just How Tough He Did Look.

Colonel Blank, who had been such a tartar at all inspections that his name was a byword in his regiment, was in the thick of the Argonne fighting and for six days was unable to shave. For six days he was unable to pry the mud from his clothes or rake it from his hair. And in this unfamiliar state he was hauled at the end of the sixth day by a doughboy who seized a moment of leisure to shave by a mirror hung on a knife stuck in a tree.

"Hey, there, Buddie!" the doughboy shouted. "Do you know you look like h—? Better come up and get a shave or Colonel Blank will land on you like a ton of bricks!"

Colonel Blank accepted the invitation.—Stars and Stripes.

King's Stuart Portrait.

It is interesting to hear of the king buying an old portrait of James II, for it suggests that the romantic interest in the house of Stuart which Queen Victoria felt very strongly is hereditary. She made collections of Stuart souvenirs, hated Queen Elizabeth, shared Scot affection for Mary Stuart, and reproached Macaulay with having been hard on the memory of my ancestor James II. "Not your majesty's ancestor," said Macaulay, "your majesty's predecessor"—and was very proud of his reply.—London Mail.

Real Cause for Complaint.

"Eh-yah!" admitted Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "In the good old days it was nothing uncommon to have as high as seven fights to every dance. But since this yur infernal bone dry law has cracked down on us we often have seven dances to one fight, which strikes me as spreading the fighting out mighty thin."—Kansas City Star.

The Reason.

"I call this my war garden."

"Why so now?"

"Because I feel it has only a fighting chance."

Poor Relations.

"Any poor relations in your family?"

"Yes. We are the ones."

Revenge.

"You can get a seat pretty soon," said Claudine of the rapid fire restaurant, to a customer who was unable to find a vacant stool. "That gent will be through right away."

"Don't you believe it!" was the reply. "This skinny guy here is spending his money and eating himself sick just to keep me out of my lunch, because I took his girl away from him at the dance last night. I can stand it as long as he can."—Kansas City Star.

The Elephants.

Little Bobby was taken to see the welcome home parade. His previous experience with parades had been limited to those of Ringling Bros. After watching the passing lines of soldiers for about half an hour, he turned to his mother and asked, "When will the elephants get here?"—Indianapolis News.

Fought the Midnights.

Johnny came home from Sunday school quite thrilled by the lesson. "It was all about the Midnights," he said. "The what?" asked his father. "The Midnights," repeated the boy. "Teacher told us how Gideon fought the Midnights and knocked the daylights out of 'em in no time."
