RATIFY THE TREATY!

Readjustment of the world's economi and industrial conditions, which were so badly dislocated by the war, is im possible so long as there are fears and d ubts as as to international relations in the immediate future. The establishthe boundaries between new nations, the resumption of commerce with the late beiligerents, the extension of credits and a hundred other no less vital problems depend upon the conclusion of peace.

There can be no real, stable prosperity without peace. There can be no peace until the treaty between Germany and all the countries with which she was at war is an accomplished fact. The present status of uncertainty is sure to produce unrest among peoples everywhere and consequent disturbance of business.

The biggest and most powerful nation in the world-the United States-is seriously affected by its present position in the twilight between war and peace. its tasks at home and abroad before trouble of a serious nature. Europe and South America can find themselves.

Base Ball Game Won By Spring Mills on Saturday, By Reason of Better Playing. -Victors Play Snappy Game.

The Spring Mills baseball team continues to uphold its reputation for being he best club in the valley, and in the game on Saturday afternoon on the Fisher field at Penn Hall they trimmed the strong Rebersburg nine by a score of eight runs to one. John Corman, Spring Mills' twirler, pitched shut-out ball, and indeed the score should have been 8-o, a fielding error allowing an unearned run for Rebersburg. Corman's work was a feature of the game. The visitors, who believed that his speed and curves would be solved in the middle of the game, found that there was no diminution in his effectiveness as the game progressed, and the sum total of their efforts was only four safe hits, no two occurring in any one inning. Backed up during the latter's absence from town. by good support and by good stick work John is an obliging and efficient clerk. on the part of his team mates, Corman had no difficulty in winning.

R. Zeigler, the Rebersburg twirler, also pitched a good game and was de serving of a better fate. His colleagues wobbled on the defense, eight errors contributing toward their downfall. Really, Zeigler played a lone hand, get ting half of his team's hits, scoring the only run, and fielding superbly. He struck out nine batsmen to Corman's twelve. Osman's work at second base for Spring Mills was a bright spot in the afternoon's play. He accepted nine chances on a rough field without an error, also scored a run and hit safely twice. John Goodhart also wielded the club with deadly effectiveness and scored three times.

The following box score shows the de-
