W. Harrison Walker, Esq., of Bellefonte, Chairman of Group 3 of the Third Federal Reserve District of the War Savings Division, who has done more than any other one man in promoting the Thrift movement in Pennsylvania, brought before us with vividness, the great importance of Thrift. He suggested that a part of one's income be laid aside for future use before any is spent; that the savings be invested in a safe security paying a good rate of interest, government bonds and Treasury Savings Certificates being a good example; and that the remainder of one's income be wisely spent so as to receive full value for every dollar spent. It was impressed upon us that in order to make Democracy safe, the people must become more thrifty. This can be accomplished largely thru the schools. This inspiring address brought before the teachers, more strongly than ever, the need of the thrift movement.—The above taken from an article written by the Cameron County Teachers Institute, and appeared in the Cameron County Press under date of Sept. 11th, 1919.

MAKING THE MOST OF PEACE

Treasury Savings Division Speakers Tell State Fair Crowds How to Insure Prosperity.

The public speaker's job of keeping the nation on edge for the successful prosecution of the war has been succeeded by the job of inducing the American people to make the utmost out of peace.

Public speakers are co-operating extensively for this purpose with the Savings Division of the United States Treasury Department. The Savings Division has adopted as its slogan "Work and Save," emphasizing the principle through which the nation will secure maximum peace-time returns in progress and prosperity.

State fairs in New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania have been providing good publicity opportunities for the national thrift movement. About fifty big fairs are included in the schedule beginning in August and running up to October. Thrift posters, placards and leaflets have been distributed at all fairs. Speakers have addressed large crowds and will continue to urge the "Work and Save" idea throughout the fair season.

When attending a fair, if you notice a Thrift speaker in action, give him a few minutes of your time. He will have something worthy of your attention and for your benefit. Accept all thrift literature tendered you and read it thoughtfully.

The thrift movement is not merely, as presumed by many people, a campaign for the raising of funds for the government. It is bigger and broader than that. It is for the present and future welfare of the American people.

The fundamental principles are maximum production in industry, regular saving of money, wise spending and safe investment. The investment feature will provide the capital to finance business expansion which brings individual as well as national prosperity.

More than $88,000,000 will be collected as interest, this month, by investors in the Third Liberty Loan. If those who receive this money squander it, the effect will be felt in higher cost of living. Save your Liberty Loan interest and make it earn more interest. Invest it in government Savings Stamps.

Fewer Cigars, More Cigarettes, Now Used.

Fewer cigars and less chewing and smoking tobacco were used in the fiscal years, internal revenue statistics just issued by the treasury department show. Cigarettes, however, show a rapidly increasing use, this year's consumption, on which taxes have been paid, being more than two and a half times larger than in 1913.

One reason conjectured for the increase consumption of cigarettes is the increase of smoking among women. The official report, however, does not touch upon that.

AARONSBURG.

Fire broke out in W. A. Guisewite's wood house, last week, and before it was discovered appeared to threaten the neighborhood. A bucket brigade saved the day.

Fred Rauchan was treated to a birthday celebration, last Friday, at the home of his father-in-law, W. A. Guisewite. A large number of friends were present.

Miss Amanda Haines and Miss Esther Bradford have returned to State College where they have charge of a fraternity house.

Rev. and Mrs. Gessey, of Louisville, Kentucky, visited among their former parishioners last week.

Sinus Stemm and wife, of Millmont, autoed here Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Boob have returned to their home in Akron, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. George Potter, of Phoenixville, were supper guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Guisewite, last week.

Mrs. George Stahl, of Milton, spent a few days with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Auman and two sons, of Youngstown, Ohio; Philip Eisenhower, wife and son, of Akron, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Grove and baby, of Laurelton; Merl Eisenhower, wife and son, of Bellefonte, spent some time visiting relatives in this place.

State Agricultural Notes.

We never accomplish anything worth while if we attempt to imitate a crab. A sour soil won't digest the plant food in fertilizer and manure. Lime is the remedy.

Many goose berries and currants die in winter because of late summer growth due to the leaves being eaten off by worms early in the season. This may be readily prevented by spraying with lead arsenate.

Before storing roots or potatoes in a cellar see that it is thoroughly dry, and that all refuse from last year's storage is completely removed. Debris of this sort causes rot in the incoming roots or potatoes. A coat of whitewash is useful in keeping down rots due to fungi.

Conditions favorable and farm work made good strides. Seeding of wheat is in progress in the southern and central counties. Early planted corn ready to cut. Buckwheat doing well. Pastures and meadows in good condition.

Turkeys Decreasing in Pennsylvania.

Reports recently collected by the Bureau of Statistics, State Department of Agriculture, show that the number of turkeys being raised this year in Pennsylvania is 80 per cent. compared with the normal or usual number as against 77 per cent. last year and 80 per cent. two years ago.

Secretary Rasmussen says that the decline in the raising of this noble bird is to be deplored. Farmers should be encouraged and urged to raise more turkeys in order that this important farm sideline may be rehabilitated. Many Pennsylvania families will have to look to other states for their Thanksgiving and Christmas turkey unless conditions change for the better.

The flock is important for its food value, besides it will materially lessen the grasshopper and other insect pests which frequently injure the growing crops.
