RAILROAD STRIKE LOOMS UP AGAIN

Employees Prepared for a Fight to the Finish

EFFORT TO AVERT CRISIS

Railroad Administration Officials Intimate That The Situation Will Be Solved In Part By Natural Economic Forces.

Washington.—Railroad employees are prepared for a final fight with the railroad administration for increased wages, time and a half overtime and improved working conditions before the Government surrenders the roads to private control. Unmistakable notice to this effect has been served by Timothy Shea, of the firemen, appearing before the Board of Railway Wages and Working Conditions.

"If our demands for a living wage should not be met when the time approaches for turning back the railroads to their private owners," Mr. Shea said, "we shall demand as a condition precedent to the change the realization of the fundamental rights of labor, the living wage, the eight-hour day on all Federal controlled roads, time and one-half for overtime, and other principles to which the Government pledged itself during the war, which have now been made a part of the treaty of peace, and which so far the Railroad Administration has never fulfilled."

"While Mr. Shea was appearing on behalf of the firemen only, it has been recognized generally that wage increases for any one class of railroad employees meant an advance for all to maintain equality between the workers. Furthermore, Mr. Shea said, he anticipated that the failure of the Government's efforts to reduce the cost of living, which he frankly expected would make necessary advances in pay for all workers, and predicted that by November 1 the wage board would be forced to consider further requests for general increases from railroad employees.

"Thus it is the view here that the Government, as operator of the rail transportation, will be face to face in a few weeks with virtually the same labor crisis which arose during the summer. At that time, President Wilson denied the request of the shophmen for a general increase in pay on the ground that the 'vicious circle' of rising wages and mounting prices had to come to an end, and that the country should be given a fair chance at reconstruction after the war period.

How Director General Hines and his assistants propose to meet the situation has not been divulged. It is considered certain, however, that if any wage advances are given, President Wilson first will be consulted. Railroad administration officials declare the relations with the union men have never been so good as at present, and in pointing to the last report of the Labor Department, showing the decrease of 15 per cent. in living costs in August, intimate that the impending crisis will be solved in part by natural economic forces, plus Attorney General Palmer's efforts to take the inflation out of prices.

RESERVATIONS TO TREATY ADOPTED

Allies Must Except Before Pact is Effective

MAY LEAD TO WITHDRAWAL

Vote In The Committee Was 11 To 6, One Democrat Voting With Republicans—Republicans Stand United.

Washington.—Reopening its consideration of the peace treaty, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee adopted ten revised reservations, including a provision that the Senate qualifications must be accepted by three of the other great powers before the treaty ratification becomes effective.

Among them was a new proposal which administration senators declared would break down the economic boycott features of the League of Nations covenant and a reservation on Article X differing only in the transposition of one phrase from that which President Wilson has announced he would treat as a rejection of the treaty.

Then ten reservations were part of a list presented by Chairman Lodge and declared to represent a compromise behind which a majority of the Senate is pledged to stand. The administration members of the committee headed by Democratic leader Hitchcock, tried in vain to secure modification of the majority proposals and then voted solidly against all of them.

Showing for the first time, however, a willingness to include reservations of an interpretative character in the ratification resolution Senator Hitchcock and his colleagues offered substitutes for several of the reservations presented, but not a single substitution or change was made at their suggestion.

The ten subjects covered by the reservations were: Withdrawal from league memberships; Article X; the right of Congress to authorize mandates; national supremacy over domestic questions; the Monroe Doctrine; Shantung; limitations on the reparations committee; the power of Congress to determine contributions to league expenses; the right to increase armament in certain circumstances, and the right to continue trade with a covenant-breaking state.

In the vote on every one of these reservations, Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, who had stood with the "mild reservationists" against all previous committee proposals voted with the majority. In every case, too, Senator Shields, Democrat, Tennessee, voted with the Republicans, the count on all important roll calls relating to the reservations standing 11 to 6.

LABOR DEMANDS FACE CRISIS

President Wilson's Vigorous Steps to Save Its Life

SENDS NOTE TO LANE

Right To Bargain Collectively Lost—Slate Thus Swept Clean And Parley Back Where It Started.

Washington.—After a day of uncertainty, during which President Wilson sent to Secretary Lane, chairman, a message of conciliation to be used as a "last resort," the National Industrial Conference cleaned its slate by rejecting all collective bargaining resolutions as well as the labor proposal for intervention in the steel strike.

The public group aligned with capital on the vote against both the original collective bargaining and steel strike resolutions, although the declaration on collective bargaining was proposed by the public delegates. Prior to the vote on the original declaration, the employers' substitute and two new amendments by Thomas L. Chadbourne, chairman of the conference's central committee met defeat. Only the employers favored the substitute, and labor and capital united in their opposition to the amendments.

When the conference reconvenes, it will be in practically the same position as at the opening on October 5. In adjourning the session Secretary Lane declared that the conference "had produced nothing" and advised it to take a new start by adjourning for several days while a co-ordinating committee of not more than six members frame a program of action.

Defeated on every point, and having lost the support of the public group which heretofore has been on the side of the workers, the labor delegates left the conference hall disheartened and feeling, as some of them said, that little could be gained by further meetings.

Should labor show a disposition to bolt the conference, Chairman Lane will undoubtedly use the President's letter in an effort to avert the crisis. Reading of the letter was said to be entirely discretionary with the chairman, who declared that he would not produce it unless the situation became acute. Although labor may force the disclosure of the contents, it was generally predicted that the workers would not withdraw. The President's message, it was understood, reiterates the purposes for which the conference was convened, emphasizes the urgency of the need for allying industrial unrest and make a plea for further work on the part of the conferees.

The Women's Royal Air Force huts, Miss Hennant declared, were in the midst of the camp. The women here were surrounded by Americans. Washington.—One of the most interesting petitions yet submitted to the Senate in connection with the Treaty of Peace is that presented through the Vice-President by more than 14,000 ministers of the gospel, who appeal to the Senate for immediate action upon this all-important measure. The clergymen, who represent about 20 denominations, want the treaty ratified without amendments and without reservations which vitally affect the treaty.

PRESIDENT ABLE TO GIVE ATTENTION TO PUBLIC AFFAIRS.

Washington.—Announcement that President Wilson had appointed Owen D. Young, of Schenectady, N. Y., as a member of the public group of the National Industrial Conference, was cited by White House officials as refuting reports that Mr. Wilson's illness had rendered him incapable of attending to any business. These officials said it was not the first official act the President had taken since he became ill. Rear-Admiral Grayson, his physician, it was asserted, however, would continue to do what he could to dissuade the patient from giving his attention to any affairs other than those regarded as absolutely essential. The appointment of Mr. Young was considered necessary, inasmuch as a place in the public group of the Industrial Conference had been vacated by the ill health of Fuller Callaway, the delegate originally appointed.

HOW THE WAGES JUMPED.

Statement By The Bureau Of Labor Statistics.

Washington.—The increase in the earnings per hour of employes in 11 principal industries during the last six years was greatest in the iron and steel industry, according to a statement made public here by the Bureau of Statistics of the Labor Department. While in some departments the pay was greater than in others, in all departments collectively the hourly wage of steel and iron millworkers in 1919 was 221 per cent. of the hourly wage in 1912, or 2 1/5 times as great.

The smallest increased earnings were those in the millwork industry, where the increase of 1919 over 1913 was but 51 per cent. In the other nine industries for which figures were given the increases varied from 52 to 94 per cent. These included cotton, woolen, silk, clothing, underwear, shoes, furniture and cigar factory workers.
