For Their Health.

One of the most interesting and eloquent old-time pleaders at the Missouri bar, says Case and Comment, was Henry Clay Dean, the picturesque lawyer of Rebel Cove, Putnam county. The most striking evidence of his persuasive powers was not given before the jury in a courtroom, however, but in the gloomy corridors of the old jail at Kirksville.

Another veteran of the profession, Judge A. D. Risdon, tells the story. It was a matter of pride with Colonel Denn, he says, that in nine cases out of ten he could get a defendant off in a jury trial. But once he was called upon to defend a couple of young fellows for breaking into a railway car, and the evidence was so strong that even Colonel Denn saw no way out except to plead guilty and let the boys take the lowest sentence. Having reached this conclusion, Colonel Denn was admitted to the jail for a talk with his young clients. It happened that there were in the same prison two other men who had made arrangements with me to represent them, and, as there was great doubt as to their guilt, I had mapped out a defense that was about as certain as anything human could be to result in an acquittal by the jury.

All four men were in the same corridor, and of course my men could hear what Colonel Denn was saying to his clients.

He took a seat between the two boys, laid a friendly hand on their shoulders, and began in that smooth, pleasant way of his to tell them what life in the penitentiary was. He said he had been down there and looked all through the building and saw how it was conducted; that the yards, rooms—he never called them cells—and corridors were kept clean and well ventilated; that the men got three good meals a day with pie and cake on Sunday; that there were concerts by the band at frequent intervals; that each man was given a nice new suit of clothes and had his hair trimmed in a fashionable style. Of course there was, he admitted, a little work to do, but only enough for healthful exercise. Young men went down there pale and emaciated, with blowholes in their lungs, and came back strong, plump, clear eyed and active, the masters of a trade, with money in their pockets!

The next morning, when court assembled, the four men were arraigned. Denn's young clients eagerly pleaded guilty, and mine followed suit before I knew what they were about. Surprised and indignant, I hurried over to them.

"What do you fellows mean?" I demanded. "You don't want to go to the penitentiary, do you?"

They looked at each other for a moment and then one of them replied:

"It's this way, Judge; neither me nor Bill has ever been down there, and we thought we'd like to take a little trip for our health."—Youth's Companion.

FIRE AT PLEASANT GAP.

Dwelling House Destroyed During Absence of Sunday Family.

Fire of unknown origin, but presumably due to a defective flue, completely destroyed a frame dwelling house owned by White Rock Stone Quarries, along the public road from Pleasant Gap to Zion, on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. The house was tenanted by E. E. Sunday, employed at the company's stone operations near Pleasant Gap. Mr. Sunday and family were visiting friends at Lewistown that day, and a brother of Mr. Sunday was alone in the house when the fire broke out. With the aid of neighbors and a few persons passing in autos, much of the household goods was saved, including a player piano; 150 bushels of potatoes were also removed from the cellar.

The house was insured in the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Centre County, F. M. Fisher, secretary, to the amount of $500, while Mr. Sunday carried insurance on the household goods in the Grange company.

Elmer Hettinger Sells Farm.

Elmer Hettinger, who owned the William Kerr farm along Sinking Creek, sold it last week to Jacob Homan, of Farmers Hills. The farm contains about eighty-four acres; the price received was $5500.

Fifteen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Hettinger commenced housekeeping on the Kerr farm. Mr. Hettinger has proved a successful farmer, and his reason for selling was that he is desirous of either purchasing or renting a farm much larger than the one he has been operating. Owners of large farms looking for renters would do well to consult with Mr. Hettinger.

Over the Top for the Red Cross.

In less than five hours the entire enrollment of the Vocational School at Spring Mills swung into line as members of the Red Cross. This is the second year for the Vocational School to reach 100 per cent membership. The campaign was conducted by Miss Nancy Hunter, of Bellefonte, who is supervisor of Home Making at the school; and the success of the drive was due in no small measure to her enthusiastic leadership. The students of the school did not stop with this achievement, but actively canvassed the town for further additions to the honor roll.

Missing Phillipsburg Girl Found in New York.

Search for Miss Gertrude Little, twenty-three-year-old daughter of a prominent family of Phillipsburg, who has been missing a year, resulted on Tuesday in the arrest of Frederick De Cola on a charge of extortion, in New York City.

It is asserted that De Cola wrote to W. D. Little, the girl's father, that unless $175 was paid him she would not return home and the family would be disgraced. Little's attorney made an appointment with De Cola at a hotel and he was arrested after a struggle. He refused to tell where the girl was, but later detectives found her. She was taken into custody on a charge of incorrigibility. De Cola was held in $10,000 bail.

Returned Soldier Wins by Record Plurality.

The official count on Tuesday's election returns shows that Charles Phillips, an ex-soldier, of Mt. Carmel, was elected treasurer, having a plurality of 4,069 over his opponent, Jacob Leisenring, of Paxinos. This is the greatest plurality ever accorded a candidate in Northumberland county. Phillips was in an army hospital having his shattered jaw reconstructed during the greater part of the campaign. Charles K. Morganroth, another returned soldier, was elected district attorney.

Returns Thanks

L. Frank Mayes, recently elected treasurer of Centre county, requests the Reporter to thank both his Republican and Democratic friends for their support at the polls, and assures all citizens of Centre county that he will endeavor to administer the office to the best of his ability.

Mrs. Amanda Musser has returned home after spending a few weeks at Woodward.

Corporal Earl Cummings, who is still stationed at Carlisle, spent a few days with his mother in this place.

Mrs. David Mingle, of Woodward, spent a few days with the Clayton Bowler family.

The following parties from Lewistown and Yeagertown, motored to the John Grenoble home on Sunday: Lee Witt, Fred Grenoble, Mr. Silkman. The later gentleman's wife accompanied the party home after having spent two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grenoble.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Crouse motored to Fairview, Snyder county, on Saturday, spending the day with the lady's brother, Mr. Troxle. Miss Marion Haines accompanied them as far as Lewisburg and Walter Orwig and son Bright went along as far as Hartleton, where the latter will spend a week with his grandparents.

Prof. Gessner, teacher of the High school, was injured in a motorcycle accident on Monday morning. He was riding the tandem with Harvey Haffley and in some manner was thrown from the rear of the machine, bruising his shoulder and arm and injuring his foot. The professor was on his way to attend Institute at Bellefonte, and after receiving treatment continued his journey to the county seat.

The Whole Secret of A Better Tire

Simply a Matter of the Maker's Policies

This you will realize—once you try a Brunswick—that a super-tire is possible only when the name certifies that the maker is following the highest standards.

For tire making is chiefly a matter of standards and policies—cost plus care. Any maker can build a good tire if he cares to pay perfection's price.

All men know Brunswick standards, for Brunswick products have been famous for 74 years.

Formulas, fabrics and standards vary vastly in cost. Reinforcements, plies and thickness are a matter of expense. And these variations affect endurance. It rests with the maker how far he wishes to go—how much he can afford to give.

For there are no secrets nor patents to hold one back.

To ascertain what each maker offers one must analyze and test some 200 tires—as our laboratories have done.

Then it is a matter of combining the best features and building according to the highest standards.

Once you try a Brunswick you will understand how we have built model tires, regardless of factory expense.

Yet Brunswick Tires cost you the same as other like-type tires. Our saving is on selling cost, through our nation-wide organization.

We realize that you expect more from Brunswicks, and we assure you that you get it. ONE Brunswick will tell you the story.

And then you'll want ALL Brunswicks. No other tire, you'll agree, gives so much for your money.
