"A Daughter of the Sun"—A Fast Dying Race. The Kanaka, as the native Hawaiian is called, is fast dying out. It is said that when Capt. John Cook, of H. M. S. Navy, discovered these islands in 1778, the islands had a population of 400,000, but in a little over one century, there remain but 25,000 according to the census of 1910.

Various causes have been attributed to this unprecedented disappearance of a whole race. They have for one thing inter-married with other races, in fact have been absorbed by the other races on the island. The interest in these natives of our island possessions have been kept before us almost continually by their native music which has taken us by storm.

The latest play dealing with Hawaii is "A Daughter of the Sun", a story of a Hawaiian Butterfly, written by Lorin J. Howard and Ralph T. Kettering, and produced by The Mutual Play Co. Nothing in the dramatic line since "A Bird of Paradise" has created such a furore. The atmosphere of these enchanted isles is maintained by a wonderful scenic equipment and also a band of native Hawaiian musicians, who furnish the music for the play.

"A Daughter of the Sun" will be seen at the Garman opera house, Monday, November 17. Prices, 35 cents to $1.50.

"I Never Knew You Could Keep Rats Out of a Butcher Shop." What Ralph Watkins says: "Figured rats around store had enough to feed on; wouldn't touch anything suspicious. Heard about RAT-SNAP, gave it a trial. Results were wonderful. Cleaned out rats out in ten days. Dags about store night and day never touch RAT-SNAP." Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by C. M. Smith, Centre Hall; W. C. Meyer, Spring Mills, Pa.

Why has no other instrument been subjected to the TONE TEST?

There are many devices for the reproduction of sound—more than ninety makes, it is said. Many are widely advertised. Why has but one been subjected to the Tone Test? The reason is clear. There is but one which can meet the Tone Test, and that is THE

New Edison "The Phonograph with a Soul"

The Tone Test is the supreme, and searching test of an instrument's quality. It is a Tone Test, the artist stands beside the instrument in direct comparison with the New Edison RE-CREATION of his voice. Occasionally the singer ceases while the instrument continues alone. Can you tell when the break occurs? That is the question. Can you distinguish the living voice from the RE-CREATED voice? Here two million people have sought to do so. Not one has succeeded.

More than 150 public Tone Tests have been conducted. Always the New Edison has emerged successful.

Come and satisfy yourself about the New Edison. We will gladly demonstrate it. J. L. Decker CENTRE HALL, PA. Bell Phone
