The KITCHEN CABINET

Faith is an invincible and invisible magnet, and attracts to itself whatever it fervently desires and calmly and persistently expects.—Trine.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Put a pound of round steak through the meat grinder with one green pepper and a slice of onion, season with a teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of pepper.

Another nice way to serve hamburger steak is as follows: The steak must be free from gristle and well seasoned to suit the taste.

Cranberry Tart.—Bake a pastry shell and fill it with the following: Wash one quart of cranberries and cook until soft with a cupful of water.

Any canned fruit may be served in this way. Beat it and thicken if necessary with cornstarch, cook well, cool and fill the baked shell. Cover with a meringue and bake until brown.

Fear paralyzes healthy action, mental and physical. Worry corrodes, poisons and pulls down the organism. It is a perverted mental state that externalizes itself in various physical ailments according to the peculiar tendencies or weaknesses of the one in whose organism its effects find lodgment.—Trine.

WHAT TO EAT.

We all enjoy new dishes; but for real enjoyment nothing takes the place of the old-fashioned dishes of our grandmothers.

Bean Porridge.—Soak two cupfuls of beans over night. In the morning bring to a boil, stir in a bit of soda as big as a pen, drain and cover with fresh water.

Serve a few nuts and raisins for dessert occasionally; they are wholesome and less expensive of time as well as money.

Apple Pie.—Slice into a deep buttered pie tin four tart apples. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon, dot with butter. Pour over them a dumpling mixture or a rather thin baking powder biscuit dough.

One Egg Cake.—Take one cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of sweet fat, two-thirds of a cupful of thick sour milk, one-half teaspoonful of soda, and the same of baking powder sifted with one and one-half cupfuls of flour.

Bringing Up a Family

Charlottesville, Va.—"I am the mother of five children and I have depended on Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to keep me well and strong."

Richmond, Va.—"While raising my family Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been a great comfort to me. I have two children who are 'Favorite Prescription' babies, and they are as healthy as any one could wish."

Fredricksburg, Va.—"Dr. Pierce's Anuric is the best kidney medicine I have ever taken. I was suffering with kidney trouble and bladder weakness."

CURRENT WIT and HUMOR

Few people realize the broad expanse of our nation's territory. "Sanctiass," commented Senator Sordatum, "I wonder if the response is not almost too broad. It is very difficult to cover all the points you would like to include in a speechmaking tour."

Ilogical Treatment. "Ma, why do people talk about the cream of things?" "Because the cream of a thing is always considered the best, my son."

An Elaborate Dinner. "Was it a good dinner?" "Splendid. All the time I was at their table I kept thinking that they were serving us food far more expensive than they could afford."

Obedying His Wishes. "Jim—And now that we are engaged let's keep it a secret for several months, dear."

A Considerable Genius. "Miss de Jones—Are you musing?" "Prof. Paddyrusky—Oh, yes, but if you want to play don't mind my feelings."

EARLY SYMPTOMS. "I'd like to see that office boy of mine thirty years from now."

Undisputed Autocrat. "The most eminent of men of strength there comes a loss."

Demonstration. "Straws show which way the wind blows."

Hard-Boiled Economy. "Eggs were less expensive then. Just now nobody can afford to risk spillins any part of one."

Joy of Economy. "Why do you smile when the high cost of living is mentioned?"

The Mind of a Motorist. "What do you regard as the most important of our railroad problems?"

The Logical One. "I wonder if it is dark inside the big airships?"

Its Sort. "What's oral surgery, pa?" "I guess it is the kind that mends a man's speech."

Experience. "First Stum Mother—Haven't those settlement girls nerve to come and tell us how to take care of children?"

His Failure. "The bad orator is a man who does evil with a good intention."

"How do you make that out?" "Because he often murders a good speech while trying to deliver it."

SOMETHING OF A SURPRISE WHEN SHIPS HAD FIGUREHEAD

Probably Prodigal Family Would Have Preferred Neighbors Selecting Another Time for Call.

"A parcel of us folks started out last night to give Jurd Proed and his wife a surprise party," related a resident of the Fiddle Creek neighborhood.

"Did you surprise her?" inquired an acquaintance from Strafford Ridge. "I reckon so. Leastways, when we busted into the house we found Miss Proed sitting Jurd down on the back on the floor by means of his hands and thumping him on the head with a mallet, while the children hopped around and bet grains of popcorn on which would win."

Force of Habit. "I don't want any more returned soldiers to work on my farm."

Changed. "Times have changed." "They surely have. You used to show your gentlemen friends your art treasures in the den upstairs; now the first thing you show them the stock you have in the cellar."

Many a Bachelor has made a number of women happy by not marrying them.

Poverty makes strange bedfellows, which fact accounts for a terrific amount of insomnia.

Designers of High Degree of Skill Put Their Best Efforts Into Their Composition.

For many centuries, down to the beginning of the nineteenth, the ornamentation of vessels, especially men-of-war, was profuse, intricate and florid. On the United States line-of-battle ship America, launched in 1782, and presented to France, the figurehead was a female figure crowned with laurel, representing "America."

Philadelphia furnished not only the greatest ship designer in the United States, but also the best ship carver in the world, William Rush. In this he was without a rival, and to a careful technical skill he added a fine sense of beauty and genius.

Leave Well Enough Alone. One day recently a three-year-old youngster of Greencastle, Ind., who makes her home with her grandfolks, was naughty. The grandmother looked down on the child with a frown on her face in an effort to show her displeasure at the act of the tot and this is what the little girl said: "Please grandmother, leave your face as God made it."

Her Own. "Was she self-possessed when you proposed to her?" "Yes, and—er—she is yet."

Generally speaking, the shortest day is the day before pay day.
