60,000 WOMEN TO FIGHT FOR THRIFT

Will Combat Waste and Extravagance in Home Budget.

Federation of Clubs and Parent-Teachers' Association Advocate U. S.
Treasury's Plan For Savings.

"National Girl is up to the nation's women," said George E. Lloyd, Director of the Savings Division, Third Federal Reserve District, before the thrift conference of sixty women of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and the State of Delaware, recently held at Harrisburg.

Mrs. Henry D. Jump, Vice Director of Savings Department in the Third District, presided over the convocation. She urged her followers to practise thrift and economy in every household. "The thrift program must be as big as the war work program," she told the women, inviting their clubs and associations to aid the Federal government in improving the present economic conditions of the country.

"Thrift is the most burning question with every woman," said Miss Florence Doherty, of Johnstown, President of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. "Our 6,000 club women in Pennsylvania are already forming the squad for fighting the reckless extravagance which has gripped the country since the end of the war. The Federation stands firm behind the plans of the Savings Division of the Treasury. Together with Mrs. Jump we will push the work effectively.
After all, thrift is the basis of our national life. Home economics is thrift. Americanism is thrift. Child welfare is thrift."

In the twenty-four counties of central southwest of Pennsylvania under the general charge of W. Harrison Walker, the slogan of "Fight the profiteer and chastise the I. W. W.'s" has been adopted. "Thrift is an individual problem and no amount of legislation without thrift can be effective in reducing the cost of living or solving the problem of Americanization," Mr.
Walker remarked.

In making his appeal for the aid of women in the movement for savings and economy, Director Lloyd stated, "The country is economically sick.
Waste is rampant. No sooner was the truce signed than we loosened our habits of frugality and plunged into reckless extravagance. Forces of anarchy and disorder are among us. To relax our vigilance in the virtues of order, loyalty, industry and thrift is to neglect our foremost duty of citizenship."

The conferees strongly urged the inauguration of government savings societies in private and public schools, in the industrial plants, clubs and lodges; and to keep household budgets in order to show the detailed expenditures with a view of setting aside part of the budget. Educating of the working girls and the leisure group so that they may be an example to the wage-earner was discussed and methods for reaching every spender in the district were taken up.

Boy's Strange Action.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Bailey, near Tyrone, disappeared suddenly from his home on Sunday evening, creating much excitement. He was last seen doing evening chores at the barn and, when he could not be found, neighbors were told of the incident and a search was made over surrounding country, until near midnight. Mr. Meyers, driving the Tyrone and State College auto bus, was making a late trip and saw the boy on the road at the Glades, many miles from his home, apparently about exhausted. He took the lad to the W. E. Johnson home at Pine Grove Mills, arriving at midnight. The parents were notified and got the boy, taking him home. He could not account for his strange actions.

reaved family.

The many friends of Charles Grenoble good nature, kind heartedness and jovial disposition. "He was the kind of man who made friends wherever he went,

Long's barn caused it to collapse, carrying with it the upper portion of the barn and doing considerable damage.
The heavy timbers below saved the lower part from destruction. Three barn at the time. The building was erected almost fifty years ago by the State Agricultural Notes.

Organize and co-operate is a timely farm slogan.

York county ranks first in Pennsylvania in the number of canneries.

Chester and Clinton counties are advancing in the production of tobacco.

The good farmer is a man who grows big crops and at the same time returns a little more to the land than he takes out so he can go on producing big crops indefinitely.

A "farm" as defined by the Census Bureau may consist of a single tract of land, or a number of separate and distinct tracts and these several tracts may be held under different tenures as when one tract is owned by the farmer and another tract is rented by him.
