John Oliver Hobbes House Sold.
Steephill castle, Ventnor, Isle of Wight, has been purchased privately by Sir Thomas Brooke-Hitching. Recently when offered at auction the property was withdrawn when there was no advance on $25,000. The mansion, which is of some, is a representation of an ancient castle in Norman Tudor style, with embattlemented roof, turrets and towers, and is seated amid extensive grounds overlooking the sea. It was the family residence of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Richards, the parents of Mrs. Craigie ("John Oliver Hobbes," the widely known author), who did much of her literary work there.—London Telegraph.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

Jinxed.

One hot day I met Browne as he was getting out of his car. We are both auto fans, and naturally fell to discussing our machines.

"I'm certainly jinxed this season," said he, mournfully. "I've had ten tires go bad on me since the first of May."

"Gee whiz!" I exclaimed, sympathetically.

The words were scarcely out of my mouth when a terrific explosion occurred in the rear of Browne's car. The extra tire strapped to the back of his car had exploded. He had pumped it up too hard and the extreme heat had done the rest.—Exchange.

Brainy Man.

"Got a cold, eh? Are you suitably dressed? Do you wear medium under-clothing?"

"Well, yes. That is I have a very light suit and a very heavy one."

"Do you mean to tell me you've been wearing one and then the other?"

"Yes. I thought they would average up all right."—Boston Transcript.

In No Great Hurry.
Winkley gazed at the new triplets with fatherly pride, but not a little apprehension in his eye, nevertheless. "What are you thinking, dear?" asked Mrs. Winkley softly.

"Nothing, dear, nothing," he said, falteringly; "only don't you think that it would be wiser for us hereafter to build up our little family on the installment plan?"—Stray Stories.

Somewhat Sarcastic.

Senator James A. Watson of Indiana has a story about his first law case.

It was out in Russellville, Ind., and the youthful attorney was called to defend a fellow-citizen against a bootlegging charge. It was a clear case against Watson's client. The outcome was the maximum sentence of $500 and a year in prison.

Next day Watson called upon his client at the county jail.

"I suppose you did all you could for me," glumly admitted the convicted man. "What is your charge?"

"A hundred dollars," stated Watson.

"That's a lot of money, ain't it?" growled the client.

"Well, you can't get an able lawyer for nothing," he was told.

"I suppose if I had hired a half-dozen able lawyers like you," retorted the convicted client, "I would have pulled a life sentence."—Washington Star.

Pernambuco's Steady Growth.

Pernambuco is now the third largest city in Brazil and the largest commercial center in the country. The active construction of buildings and thoroughfares started a few years ago has continued, notwithstanding the difficulties encountered during the war. Pernambuco's growth and present prosperity are due to its cotton and sugar production, which has placed a great deal of wealth in the hands of the plantation owners, cotton dealers, and merchants.

REMEDY DEFECTS IN BUTTER

Use of Churn Numbers Would Enable Inspectors to Sort Out Various Churnings.

Some of the defects noted by butter inspectors of the United States department of agriculture are: Old cream flavor, wavy or mottled appearance, too much salt, and rancidity in the butter. These defects are reported to the shipper when the inspection certificate is sent him, so that he may know why his butter scores low and may remedy the defects.

The use of churn numbers, so that the receivers can more readily sort out separate churnings, is urged by food-product inspectors of the bureau of agriculture. In one lot of butter, for example, the score varied from 88 to 92. As no churn numbers were shown, the only way the receiver could separate the butter was by examining every tub. If churn numbers had been shown it would have been a simple matter to separate the various churnings and sell them according to score.

It is not possible to take time to examine every tub, so the butter is sold according to the samples taken, and at a discount if the samples vary much. If there should happen to be just one poor tub in the shipment and the sampler found it, the whole shipment would suffer; while if churn numbers were used, only the tubs in that churning would receive the lower score.

DON'T WASTE FUEL IN DAIRY

Exhaust Steam Can Be Advantageously Used in Pasteurizing Milk and Sterilizing Cans.

Many factory operations of the dairy industry require the use of heat, although they demand little power. As exhaust steam contains about 90 per cent of its original heat, it can be advantageously used in pasteurizing milk and cream and in sterilizing dairy equipment in the average commercial plant, according to specialists. They advise that all dairy factory men utilize this waste steam during the current winter, when fuel is scarce and high in price. Information on how to use steam effectively will be furnished free of charge when request is made to the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

VALUE OF BULL AS BREEDER

High Average in All His Daughters Is Final Measure—Four Years Are Needed.

The number of daughters a bull has in the advanced registry is not sufficient measure of his value as a breeder. Neither can his value be measured by a few high-producing daughters. High-average production in all his daughters is the final measure, and that cannot be determined by using the bull two or three years. Four years are needed to measure the value of any bull.

CARE FOR CREAM SEPARATOR

It Should Be Thoroughly Washed and Sterilized After Being Used—Particles Harmful.

The cream separator should be thoroughly washed and sterilized after each time it is used. Particles of milk or cream left in the separator act as a "starter" to hasten the souring of the cream.

SOME ESSENTIALS FOR COWS

Animals Will Do Better If Not Confined Too Closely—Warm Stables Necessary.

The cows will do a great deal better if not confined in too close quarters. They require above everything else plenty of exercise, fresh air, and good clean water. Good warm stables are a necessity.

FIND WEALTH IN WINTER

Canadian Farmers Turn Winter Months to Good Account.

Large crops and good prices for the wheat, oats, barley and flax from Canadian farms have made the winter months in California at times resemble a meeting of a Canadian farmers' institute, but the practice among successful farmers of spending their winters holidaying seems to be on the wane. After all, nothing can be more tiresome than having nothing to do, and the farmers of Western Canada are now finding winter employment light on their farms which rivals the attractions of the sunny South.

Live stock is the explanation, according to a six-foot Westerner who dropped into the Canadian Government Information Bureau at 311 Jackson street, St. Paul. He was on his way back to Western Canada with a carload of selected breeding stock which had carried off blue ribbons at several state fairs in 1919. "We have found," said he, "that there is just as much pleasure and a great deal more profit in developing a herd of prize stock as in listening to the murmur of the sad sea waves. Where we used to grow grain exclusively now we are raising stock as well. The fact that steers raised in Western Canada took the grand championship at the International Live Stock Show at Chicago two years in succession shows how well we are getting along. And instead of depleting our bank rolls we add a tidy sum to them."

"But don't you find the life monotonous?"

"Not in the least. You see, we have a rural club which meets in our school house, where we thrash out all kinds of problems. Here we exchange ideas and also have occasional talks from government experts, and the man who goes abroad for the winter only realizes how much he has missed when at a summer picnic he hears an address by a neighbor that would do credit to a college graduate.

"It was at one of these meetings that we decided to import a prize-winning stallion, and today our district is raising some of the best draft horses in Canada. The carload of breeding stock which I am now shipping to my farm is indirectly the result of our club meetings. We are going to make that little corner of Saskatchewan one of the big stock centers of America. Why shouldn't we? Everything is in our favor—climate, fertility, cheap land, free grazing land adjoining lots of farms, creameries, government supervision. You know how energetic the northern climate makes a man? Well, it's just like that with stock. They get to be great, husky fellows, hardy and big-rumped—and that counts on market day."

"Come up and see me some time," were his parting words as he left to catch his train. "I'll show you some of the finest land and live stock out of doors, and treat you to a real farm meal—everything but the coffee and sugar grown right on my farm. That counts some in these days of high prices."—Advertisement.
