

BRACE UP!

The man or woman with weak kidneys is half crippled. A lame, stiff back, with its constant, dull ache and sharp, shooting twinges, makes the simplest task a burden. Headaches, dizzy spells, urinary disorders and an "all over out" feeling are daily sources of distress. Don't neglect kidney weakness and risk gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease. Get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped other people the world over. Ask your neighbor!

A Virginia Case
Mrs. S. A. Bethel, 521 King St., Chatham, Va., says: "I had terrible pains over my kidneys when I had pains in my back and often got so dizzy I would have to catch hold of something to keep from falling, and it seemed the headaches would never let up. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of all kidney trouble."

RUSSIA'S GRAVE MORAL ERROR

Forcible Seizure of Land Understandable, but to Be Regretted as Making a Precedent to Justify Dishonesty.

Article XIX.

By FRANK COMERFORD.

An examination of Russia, the patient, just before the treatment was started, reveals several findings which are necessary to complete the history and physical examination.
Russia was 78 per cent illiterate. This means that nearly four-fifths of the people in Russia could not read or write. It does not mean that they could not think. There is as great a difference between illiteracy and intelligence as there is between illiteracy and ignorance. I have met many Russian peasants who could not read or write, who had good native minds, genuine power of reasoning—homespun thinkers. The head of Russia had not been trained, but it was not empty.
There are many reasons for the illiteracy of the great majority of Russian people. The autocratic state was the principal conspirator against the Russian people getting an education. The autocrats knew that ignorance was the greatest insurance against uprisings, the greatest sedative to keep the slave from complaining. The Church in Russia, the Orthodox Church, was used to keep the light from the people. The czar was the "Little Father," the divine agent of God on earth, and the "Unholy Synod" of the Russian Church bowed, not before the Christ, but bent low before the czar. They betrayed Christ, even as they betrayed the sons and daughters of men, their own blood, the Russian peasants and toilers.
Religion Their Only Solace.
The people of Russia held firmly to their faith in God. The rest and ease their faith gave them was the only comfort they had. In moments of intense religious communion they were lifted out of themselves and for seconds forgot their burdens. These seconds were long spasms of relief, green spots in the endless desert waste of life.
How Christ must have wept when he witnessed the "Holy Synod," the monkish rascals, with their scraggly beards, silencing the protests of souls, throttling the cry for freedom, by quoting in his name that those who suffered most here would be highest in heaven. A blasphemy, a corruption of the Lowly One, who used the word brotherhood to define equality, and the fatherhood of God to express the justice that man owed to man.
It was agreed by and between the Holy Synod and the czars that the Russian worshippers of God must not know how to read or write his name. So it was that the orthodox church of Russia used religion to insult God and hold his creatures in bondage. It was the only great church in the world that did not provide prayer books for its members. It was argued that if the people had prayer books they would learn to read, and if they read the Christ message on the Sabbath they might read other strange and dangerous books on Monday and Tuesday and the other days of the week. They might misuse their ability to read, and read things like the American Declaration of Independence. The churchmen of the Byzantine painted the story of religion on the side of its walls. They gave the people an education by the picture book method we use for children before they have reached the kindergarten age.
Bolshevism Officially Launched.
The birth certificate of bolshevism was issued on November 10, 1917. "The All-Russian Congress of the Councils of Workmen, Soldiers and Peasants' Deputies decrees the form of the administration of the country, PENDING THE MEETING OF THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY. The provisional workers' and peasants' government is to be called the Council of People's Commissioners. The administration of the individual branches of state life is to be entrusted to boards, the composition of which is to secure the carrying out of the program proclaimed by the congress in close contact with the organizations of workers, sailors, soldiers, peasants and employees. The government authority belongs to the board and chairman of these commissioners, that is, to the people's commissioners, and the right of systematizing them belongs to the All-Russian Congress of the Councils of Workmen and Peasants' and Soldiers' Deputies and its Central Executive Committee."
The government of the czar was autocratic, not because it was a bad government and misgoverned the people. It was autocratic because the people did not have a voice in it. A good government that denied the people a voice would be equally as autocratic. With the fall of the Kerensky regime Lenin and Trotsky, and their bolshevik followers, did not have time and it was not expedient or possible to canvass the wish and will of the people at once, so they issued the promise I have quoted above. The words of promise are printed in capital letters.

It was their moral obligation to keep this promise made to the people. It was necessary to keep it, if there was to be a genuinely free Russia. Who could anticipate and who would dare write out and put into operation the plan of government without giving all of the people of Russia a chance to pass upon the plan and help formulate it through their own chosen representatives?
This was the first promise the bolshevik leaders made to the Russians. They broke it. It has never been fulfilled. In the constitution and decrees of the soviet government they have tried to explain, excuse and condone this breach of promise. Fairly interpreted, all they have said in defense of this abuse of power, this violation of trust, is in substance: "It was necessary to dissolve the Constituent Assembly; it might have interfered with our plans; it might have jeopardized soviet government." What right did they have to think, act, and decide for the people any more than the czar had?
In speeches and writings Lenin and Trotsky have since in a veiled way suggested that the peasants elected members of the middle class to represent them instead of peasants. What of it? If the peasants make mistakes they will learn and profit by their mistakes. They cannot become independent until they get a chance to exercise independence. No man can get muscle by letting another fellow use the dumbbells. The Russians—peasants, workers and bourgeoisie—are all human beings, and a government, to be democratic, must be, as Lincoln put it, "of the people, for the people and by the people." A government that is afraid of the influence and power of three or four per cent of the people isn't able to live, and it doesn't deserve to.
Gladly Obeyed Lenin.
Lenin issued his famous order, "Peasants, seize the land." This command was obeyed with great enthusiasm. They forgot all about freedom and the constitutional convention. They understood what land meant, they had been taught that by being denied it. They knew little about political phrases and framework. The order to seize the land tore from the serfs their heaviest chains. Lenin became their liberator—his was the voice that said "seize the land." Probably the peasants would have done it anyway. Disorder and unrest had destroyed all respect for property rights. Property rights had a different meaning in Russia than elsewhere; property rights meant the right to beat human beings, to buy and sell serfs. Yet the fact that Lenin had uttered the words made them reverence and respect him, even as a man will be thankful to one who has told him to be careful of a hole in the sidewalk, notwithstanding the fact he has already seen it. Bolshevism started with great popularity. This was the secret of it.
Of course the order to seize the land, all land, was based on the idea that the owners of land held title by and through their own wrongful conduct. God had made the ground and sunshine, and those who had taken title to it had only moved on and forced others off. This is the way the bolsheviks reasoned, and from this point of view they were consistent. From the world's point of view it was confiscation. It was dishonest. Many people believe that acquiring property is frequently the result of industry and thrift; in some cases the title to property is based upon cunning, scheming and force. All of us know that there are some who are without any private property because they prefer to squander their time, dissipate their energy and live shiftless lives. After all, it is a matter of opinion, and from the point of view of the bolsheviks the order "Peasants, seize the land" may have been justified.
But when the order was given, the peasants seized it not for the community but to own it privately. On this point there can be no difference of opinion among honest, impartial, fair-minded men, and when the peasants seized the land to hold, use and own it as their private property they were guilty of taking title by the very means others had taken the land, and against whom they had complained and cried "Thief!"
The Russian people have the power to think. They realize that they have acquired property by the very methods they have always condemned in others. Their natural selfishness may constrain them to keep this property. The sufferings they have gone through may mitigate the offense, but one effect was inevitable, and that effect the most serious that could happen to a people on the threshold of a free future. I refer to the weakening of their moral nature, the making of a precedent justifying dishonesty. I have found the ill effects of this act on the patient, Russia, in every subsequent symptom.

To Do Away With "Slackers."
Eliminating the "work slacker" is the new job which the American legion has taken upon itself, acting in conjunction with the war department's chain of employment bureaus throughout the country. This type of ex-service man, while not numerous, is occasionally a serious detriment to the work of placing ex-soldiers and sailors in satisfactory jobs. Their attitude of shiftlessness after getting the place causes dissatisfaction among employers who are really trying to help and give a black eye to other service men who still need work.

THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT YOUR CAR

Watch Your Generator and Storage Battery Carefully During Season Changes.

PROPER RATE FOR CHARGING

Great Care Must Be Exercised in Putting Right Amount of Current Through Battery to Restore Energy Contained in Cells.

Due to the change of seasons from the cold weather conditions to warmer it is well to see that the generator that may have been boosted to take care of the cranking conditions should be changed to take care of the cranking conditions brought about by warm weather. It is not necessary to have as much current flowing into a storage battery during the warmer weather as it is during the cold, because of the fact that the oil is not so heavy and the engine is not so hard to crank, says a writer in an exchange. The gasoline is easier vaporized and the ignition has more voltage, due to the fact that the battery can exert its full energy.
Change in Charging Rate.
The reason that we advise a change in charging rates at this season of the year is because of the fact that a great many batteries that have been used abnormally at this season of the year and during the cold weather have been worked to their limit; in other words they have been almost entirely exhausted and to start recharging these batteries, even while on the car, at a high rate will cause a rapid deterioration of the plates and also liable to cause a great deal of trouble from armatures becoming overheated and burning up, also the regulator or cutout on the machine becoming overheated and causing it to burn out. The charging rate considered which is proper for generators of certain types is between 10 and 15 amperes and it is not advisable to carry the charging rate higher than this because of the reflex action that this has on the generator and battery and regulating apparatus. It is always good to take into consideration that the lower charging rate is the better for a battery that has been worked hard than to start a rapid charging rate.
Bring Back Gradually.
There is a very similar condition existing between the charging of a storage battery and the case of a sick man. When the patient is on the road to recovery, the physician always advises that the food be carefully selected and the patient gradually be brought back to his full strength. The same applies to a storage battery. Great care must be taken with the proper amount of current put through the battery to restore the energy contained in the cells. It is also advisable at this time of the year before going into summer driving to have the voltage and gravity tests taken periodically so that the battery's recuperation will be brought back to a normal state without causing undue danger.

REMOVING CAPS FROM HUBS
Most Stubborn Cases Can Be Remedied by Use of Jack and Long-Handled Wrench.
Hub caps won't always come off merely by wrench persuasion, even when considerable manual effort is also used, says Motor Life. If the cap is so tight that you cannot budge it by your own efforts, bring the jack into the matter. Use a fairly long-handled wrench, and place the jack under the end of the handle. A few strokes of the jack will get the best of the stubbornest hub cap.

"AIR LOCK" VALVE WILL PROLONG LIFE OF TIRES, SAYS AN EASTERN INVENTOR

P. J. Griffen of Dorchester, Mass., has invented a new air lock valve which he claims will increase the life of pneumatic tires 50 per cent. This valve locks the air in the tube for all time or until a blowout or puncture releases it. It does away with rubber collars and plungers. This is now a prolific source of slow leaks in all plunger valves caused by rebound and drag on road and the fault of at least 75 per cent of rim-cut tires. The photograph shows the new valve attached to an automobile tire.

WHEEL WILL ABSORB SHOCKS
Outer Rim Provided With Channel Fitted With Thick, Specially Prepared Lubrico.

The Scientific American in illustrating and describing an automobile wheel, the invention of A. W. Althoff of Tulsa, Okla., says:
This invention relates to wheels of the floating-hub type, an object being to provide a wheel which will absorb shock. The outer rim of the wheel is provided on its inner surface with a channel in which the edge of the inner or floating portion movably fits, the channel being fitted with thick, specially prepared lubrico to absorb shock.
