

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Roses are in full bloom. Season ticket sellers for the coming Chautauqua have canvassed the town with fairly good success.

Rev. and Mrs. M. S. Derstine, of Clearfield, visited the former's sister, Mrs. J. H. Puff, this week.

Saturday evening, at 7:00 o'clock, the local Odd Fellows will hold memorial exercises in honor of deceased members.

Mrs. Charles W. Geary and two children, of Newport, are visiting relatives in Centre Hall. Mr. Geary was here over Sunday.

Eugene T. Gramley, of Spring Mills, was graduated from the Pennsylvania State College, on Wednesday, in the school of electrical engineering.

Sunday was a big day for Penns Cave, where visitors at Penn State, for "Commencement Sunday," spent the day visiting the great natural wonder.

William and George Reiber, sons of Mrs. Della Reiber, had their tonsils and adenoids removed in an operation performed at the Bellefonte hospital one day last week.

Mrs. Carrie L. McClellan, of Spring Mills, R. D., publishes letters of administration on the estate of her late husband, W. Franklin McClellan, deceased, in this issue.

Frank J. Phillips, of Colyer, is driving a new model "Four Overland," for which he has the sub-agency in this territory. He recently sold his Ford car to A. A. Klinefelter.

A Children's Day service will be rendered by the Lutheran and Reformed Sunday-schools of Tusseyville, in the Union church, on Saturday evening of this week, beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

Gay W. Jacobs came in from Steubenville, Ohio, to attend the reunion of his class, 1910, at Penn State's commencement exercises, on Tuesday. He also visited his relatives in Centre Hall during the trip.

One of the most beautiful appearing home surroundings in the town is that of the Mrs. W. B. Mingle property, where beautiful flowers in profusion and well kept lawns invite the eye of the passer-by.

A pleasing addition to the choir of the Lutheran church is two violinists, Harold Durst and William Reiber, the former a mere boy. Both of the young men display talent in the use of the stringed instrument.

Mrs. F. P. Geary and daughter Agnes made a trip to Philadelphia, last Thursday, where Mrs. Geary had her eyes treated. The big city with its many places of interest and its hum of industry was a wonderful treat to Miss Agnes.

Mrs. J. G. King has been a patient sufferer with rheumatism, but does not permit her affliction to crush her optimistic spirit nor drive away the habitual bright smile from off her face. Mrs. King will be seventy-five years of age on July 29, next.

If you are troubled with your eyes, don't fail to see the Harrisburg eye specialists, Gohl, Rouse & Poor, at the Centre Hall hotel, Thursday, June 24, all day. They have been coming regularly to Centre Hall for two years and have established a worth-while reputation.

Mrs. L. Ray Morgan, of Homestead, was called to the home of her sister, Mrs. S. W. Smith, the latter part of last week, owing to the illness of their father, William H. Kuhn. Mr. Morgan was an arrival on Saturday, and took advantage of the trip to attend his class reunion at Penn State.

One industrial worker in Centre county was fatally injured during May, according to a report issued today by Gifford B. Connelly, Commissioner of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry. The figures were compiled by the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation.

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Grace McClellan to Dr. C. H. Ridenour, has been made by the parents of the bride, Rev. and Mrs. W. A. McClellan, of Rockwood, and well known hereabouts. The bride is a native of Gregg township, and prior to her marriage was a school teacher.

James A. Solt, a garage man, and Dr. J. W. Harner, both of Frederick, Maryland, are on a fishing trip along Penns Creek, below Coburn. They came up in a truck, landing in Centre Hall Sunday evening, where they lodged for the night. The pair are roughing it, doing their own cooking and sleeping in a tent they carried with them. They are expert trout fishers, as past records made in the Seven Mountain streams indicated.

Mrs. Mary Shoop left Centre Hall on Tuesday for Tyrone, where she entered the Methodist Home. The trip was made by auto, Miss Helen Bartholomew, C. D. Bartholomew, Elizabeth Bartholomew, and Mrs. H. W. Kreamer accompanying Mrs. Shoop. The Bartholomew family and Mrs. Kreamer then went to Altoona to visit relatives. Mrs. Shoop leaves a host of friends in Centre Hall who wish her every joy and happiness at her new home.

Forced to Kill Pure-Bred Bull.

A large pure-bred Shorthorn bull, weighing about 1700 pounds and valued at $500.00, owned by Huyett & Luse, of Centre Hall, had to be killed on Monday owing to the fact that the presence of gravel in the bladder stopped up the urinary passage. Veterinary Nissley sought advice from the State Department and was authorized to have the animal killed and the meat used for food. Butcher Beezer, of Bellefonte, killed the animal on the farm and conveyed the carcass to Bellefonte where its dressing revealed as prime and healthy a condition of the meat as ever seen in any animal. A large number of gravel stones, ranging in size from small seeds to that of a pea, were discovered in the bladder.

PLEASANT GAP.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jodon motored to Lewistown on Sunday.

Extravagance Cause For H. C. of L. and Profiteering.

Suggests Lower Taxation on Savings.

"The American people are headed for a financial crash which can be averted only by their coming to their senses speedily and ending the drunken orgy of extravagance."

This warning was sounded by George W. Norris on assuming his new duties as Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, Third Federal Reserve District.

"The high cost of living will come down only when people want it to come down," he said. "Proof of this desire will be presented when they stop their riotous spending."

"As long as mechanics will wear silk shirts and stenographers wade through slush in satin slippers, the high cost of living will stay up."

"Extravagance encourages profiteers. The retail dealers cannot be blamed for selling what the public demands. Every person who buys unsuitable goods, or who fails to take care of goods after they have been purchased, is helping to keep up the cost of living."

"Nor is this folly and extravagance confined to persons of small means. Persons who have made large profits out of war contracts or speculations are wasting money in riotous living. The restaurants on Broadway and the expensive shops on Fifth Avenue, in New York, and similar establishments in all the other cities are crowded daily and nightly. It would probably be impossible to adopt a suggestion of one prominent economist, and tax people not on the income they receive but on the money they spend. It ought to be possible, however, to adopt the suggestion of the Treasury that there should be no reduction in the income tax in respect to incomes spent for unnecessary or ostentatious consumption, but that income saved and invested should be taxed at a lower rate. Increased production, decreased consumption, and saving to the limit are the three sure remedies for the high cost of living."

"No economic machinery and no legislation will solve the problem. It rests entirely in the hands of the people. They can effect the change when they come to their senses and so decrease."

These Pastors Look for More Women to Fill Vacant Pulpits

As a solution of the problem of the pastorless churches in the North Woods of Maine, Baptists have ordained two women ministers, and they are now serving in the pulpit of the picturesque little church at Jay, Maine. While other women evangelists are "helping out" at churches where ministers with large families have not been able to meet the rising cost on an average salary of $187 a day, Miss Alice M. Whittier and Miss Ella J. Nash, so far as known, are the only Baptist feminine clergymen in the whole of New England.

They were ordained in 1917, when the war was making a heavy demand on the man power of Maine. Their first assignment was to the church at Jay, one of the oldest of the state, having a history that dates back 110 years, when the congregation met in a log house. As a rule Miss Whittier takes the morning service and Miss Nash has charge of the evening meeting.

Both were graduated from the Gordon Bible College in Boston, and both worked for a number of years afterward under the direction of the American Baptist Missionary Society. They have served the out of the way settlements in the far north Arrostook County and other sections of Maine, where the people depend on the colporteur for their gospel teaching. They have filled two pastorates of five years' each, one at Owl's Head and the other at Jay, where they are at present stationed.

Will the woman pastor solve the problem of the shortage of ministers? Miss Whittier says she will. A woman gifted with the power of oratory, trained in a high class theological in-

Jack's Reading Room.

The men's quarters on our new battleships are more luxurious than the Admiral's quarters of fifty years ago. This is a corner in the reading room of the U. S. S. New Mexico. A big library and complete file of current magazines, as well as newspapers from all the large cities, help to take care of any stormy hours when Jack may not prefer to be on deck. A good title for this picture would be, "Why boys leave home," and the best part of it is that they come back real men.

Why do you buy a certain make of tire?

Do you choose tires because they are made by a secret formula?

Or do you buy them to secure safe, pleasurable riding for many miles at low cost per mile?

And because they require infrequent attention?

BRUNSWICK TIRES

If these qualities appeal to you, as they do to most motorists, your next tire will be a Brunswick.

Just try one on your own car. Keep its record against any other. A year from now you'll have all Brunswicks.
