GOVERNMENT DESIGNS PEACH SIZER

Peach Sizing Machine—Fruit Can Be Carried Along by Conveyors Which Are Adjusted to Carry the Largest Fruit to the End, Whence It Drops Into the Apron in the Foreground.

This year a part of the peach crop may be better graded at less expense than heretofore by use of a new sizer developed by government workers. Two machines were built last year and tested under commercial conditions at Leesburg, Va., and Mayfield, Ga. Information gathered through these tests was used in perfecting the present machine, drawings of which are now available to all growers or manufacturers interested, according to announcement by the bureau of markets. The machine has several unique features and advantages over existing types of sizers which make it possible to handle fruit with less bruising, while its construction permits 10 to 15 packers to work at one time, thus making possible a run of two to three car loads of peaches a day from each machine, the amount depending on the average quality of the fruit. The overall dimensions of the machine are 24x15 feet. It requires an electric motor of less than one horsepower capacity, or a small gas engine, to operate it, and it can be run at half capacity if desired. Under commercial conditions it should be sold at a price not to exceed $450, according to estimates of the designers.

How It Works.
The peaches from the orchard are delivered on an inclined roller conveyor, on each side of which sorters stand and pick out culls and damaged fruit. The rotation of the peaches on this conveyor, which is obtained without bruising, enables the sorters to see the entire surface of the fruit without touching it. From this roller conveyor the peaches are delivered to two sets of ropes running over pulleys. A simple lever arrangement permits the adjustment of the spaces between these ropes to accommodate any size fruit it is desired to grade. Although the ropes diverge from each other under ordinary operating conditions, they may be set nearly parallel to facilitate the distribution into the bins of fruit which runs almost uniform in size. This control is made possible by a perfected hat rack movement which is one of the unique features of this machine. As the peaches come off the roller conveyor they roll down a slight incline to the ropes on which they travel until dropped through into canvas bins. It is impossible to congest the machine because the peaches are fed one at a time to the moving ropes. Some objections to former rope sizers have been overcome through the use of a special coupling device, an idler which serves to keep the proper tension on the ropes and the mechanism which quickly widens or reduces the space between the ropes. The machine, which was devised particularly for six-basket carrier packing, can be used equally well for bushel packs with a slight modification of the bins.

Possibilities for Other Fruits.
In announcing the perfected machine, which is the work of the grades and standards project and the technological laboratory of the bureau of markets, it is stated that the machine has possibilities for grading other fruits such as apples, pears and oranges, while it may be possible to modify it to handle sweet potatoes.

An application for a public patent on this sizer is pending in the patent office, but the department can give no assurance that a patent will be allowed on the machine or that some of the elements covered by the application are not already protected by existing patents. The bureau has applied for patents on parts of the machine in order to make them available to all, and is ready to furnish a set of working drawings to growers or manufacturers for $2, which is intended to cover merely the cost of labor and materials.

GIVE HOME GARDENS BEST OF ATTENTION

Don't Put Away Rake and Hoe Too Early in Season.
Surface of Soil Should Be Lightly Stirred and Kept Mellow—Finely Sifted Manure Scattered Over Seeds Is Excellent.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Here is a message for the tillers of the thousands of home gardens already planted in cities and the smaller towns, and other thousands in process of being planted. Let every gardener remember that his work of food production is only begun. Many amateurs make the mistake of putting away the rake and hoe as soon as they have the seeds in the ground. The surface of the ground should be lightly stirred with a rake and kept mellow before the seeds come up. Often a week or so of extremely dry weather comes after garden planting. This is liable to cause many of the smaller seeds to fail to germinate, or, if they germinate, they may not have enough moisture to keep them alive.

There are two or three ways of preventing loss. One is to use the sprinkling can and keep the surface lightly watered until the seeds are up. Another is to lay a board directly over the row of seeds until they sprout and are just about ready to come through the ground. It does not do, however, to leave the boards over the row too long, as the little seedlings on coming up against the boards will be bent out of shape and weakened. Still another method is to scatter a little fine, sifted manure. Here, also, care must be taken that the covering is not too heavy, or the seedlings will be injured when they come through the ground.

A steel rake is one of the best tools for cultivating the garden, because it loosens the top inch or two of the soil. Before the plants are up, break the surface ever so gently over the rows, with the rake. After the plants appear, use the rake frequently along each side of the row to keep the soil loose and mellow.

Too General.
Director General Hines said of a diagnosis of the railroad trouble:
"That diagnosis won't go down. It is too general. In fact, it reminds me of a young wife I know."
"Her two-year-old baby was crying terribly one day at the lunch table, and her mother-in-law entered the room and said:
"What on earth is baby crying about?"
"The young wife made a distracted gesture.
"It's either," she said, "that she wants more mince pie, or that she's eaten too much!"

Note of Suspicion.
"I notice," remarked Farmer Cornfossil, "that you always go away up north when you make up your mind to go fishin' sure enough."
"That has been my custom," remarked the enthusiast.
"Well, I dunno, but it's a good idea to get so far away that the fish can't be expected to keep so's you could show your catch instid o' braggin' about it."

False Claims.
WE hope there is no Mother who thinks she can treat her sick baby without calling in a Physician, or with remedies that she uses for herself.

Most Mothers know that Baby requires remedies especially prepared for babies, yet there are some who think that what is good enough for them is good enough for Baby, and it is to these Mothers we appeal to give nothing to their babies that is not specially prepared for babies or recommended by their Physician.

False claims may kill, but false claims can never restore your child. For over thirty years Fletcher's Castoria has been aiding in the reduction of the deaths among infants as Mothers have become more and more acquainted with it. Always keep it in the house.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

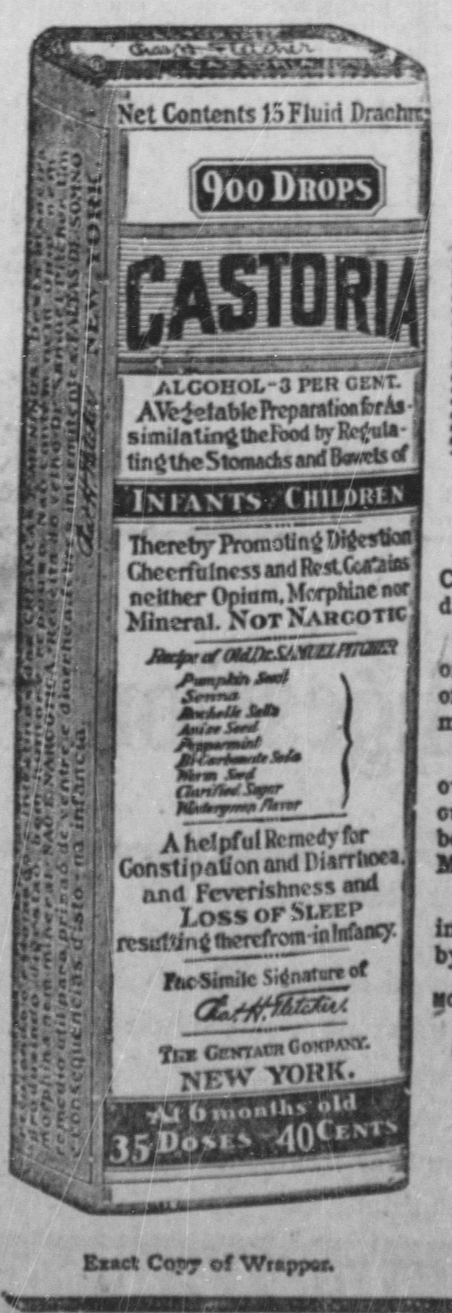

Mothers Must Use Care.
Why do we so often call your attention to imitations of Fletcher's Castoria? Because it is a baby's medicine and imitations are always dangerous, particularly imitations of a remedy for infants.

Your druggist may not keep an imitation but they are to be found on drug-store shelves. Reliable druggists think only of the welfare of their customers. The other kind only of the greater profit to be made on imitations.

Your own judgment tells you that Fletcher's Castoria having for over thirty years at great expense held up its reputation, must jealously guard it. Then, it follows that this comparison must use the very best of material. Must employ experts in the selection of the herbs. Must retain skilled chemists in its manufacture.

Your same good judgment must tell you that these irresponsible imitators are trading on your credulity and the reputation built up by Mr. Fletcher, during all these years, for his Castoria.
