

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Rev. Josiah Still, formerly pastor of the local Presbyterian church, is seriously ill at a Schenectady, New York, hospital.

A baby daughter, the first child in the family, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Runkle, at Tusseyville, one day last week.

Mrs. H. J. Kittleberger and daughters Louise and Elizabeth, of Curwensville, are spending some time at the Bartholomew home.

Philip Mingle, after spending several weeks with his grandmother in this place, returned to his home in Philadelphia last Friday.

Mrs. Catherine Martz and son Clayton Martz, of Altoona, visited the former's son, William S. Martz, at Tusseyville, last week.

Mrs. Mary E. Neff publishes letters testamentary on the estate of her husband, the late Calvin R. Neff, in this issue of the Reporter.

The borough road is fast going to pieces, and several thousand dollars have been wasted which the timely use of oil would have saved.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Reish and two children, of Jersey Shore, are visiting Mrs. Reish's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Homan, east of town.

Rev. Ray H. Dotterer, pastor of the State College Reformed church, has tendered his resignation to become an instructor in psychology in Penn State.

H. Muth, of New York City, is enjoying a brief vacation in Centre Hall where he is visiting his niece and nephew, Mrs. W. W. Kerlin and Edw. E. Bailey.

The Centre Hall and Potters Mills-Sinking Creek baseball teams will play a twilight game on Grange Park tomorrow (Friday) evening, commencing at six o'clock.

Miss Laura Runkle had the misfortune to break a bone in her leg, on last Thursday, from stepping off a ladder, from which she was picking cherries, into a hole in the ground.

Frank J. Phillips, of Colyer, left for Harrisburg on Monday where he will be employed by the State Highway Department in driving a truck to distribute signs throughout the state.

Miss Marian Bible returned to her home Saturday after a visit of six weeks at Mifflinburg. Miss Bible enjoyed herself exceedingly and was much pleased with the up-to-date town of Mifflinburg.

Rev. S. A. Snyder, former U. E. v. pastor here, and now located at Hellam, was in town a few days last week visiting former parishioners. He is attending the conference of ministers at State College.

Wm. J. Smith returned to his home in Centre Hall on Monday after spending the greater part of a month in the Clearfield hospital where he was an operative patient. He is slowly regaining his former strength.

On Sunday Mrs. Mary Smith, widow of P. C. Smith, Mrs. Stout, Miss Helen Stigt and Russell Stout, of Jersey Shore, drove to Centre Hall to view the body of William H. Kuhn, Mr. Kuhn having lived at the Smith home for a period of some fourteen years.

Christ D. Keller, while assisting William Homan, east of Centre Hall, in making hay, last Friday, had the misfortune to break the tibia bone in his right leg. The accident happened when a load of hay upset, throwing Mr. Keller violently to the ground. Dr. H. H. Longwell reduced the fracture.

The wheat harvest is on and the crop in Penns Valley will be far below average. The fly has done deadly work, and some farmers will get little beyond the amount they used for seed last fall. But the oats and corn promise bumper yields, so that there will be a very fair average when the returns are all in.

Misses Mildred and Helen Shultz, of Newport, are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Keller, of this place. From here they will go to visit their grandmother Shultz and other friends in Milton and vicinity, afterwards going to Central Oaks Heights where Miss Mildred is pianist for the Junior school of methods.

C. A. Horner, who is farming the Horner farm above Pleasant Gap, was a caller at this office on Monday and ordered the Reporter sent to his brother, Wallace O. Horner, at McKeesport, who recently left for that place after a vacation spent at home. Mr. Horner reports a short wheat crop, in fact, he expects little more than the amount used in seeding, due to the damage by the fly.

The financial report of the Potter township school district appears in this issue. The report shows that the total receipts of the school district for the year ending July 1, 1920, were $14,750.67 and that the expenditures for the same time were $15,236.02, which leaves the district facing a deficit at the start of the new school year of $485.35. The millage last year was kept down to the low figure of ten mills, which will likely be increased the coming year.

A hail storm which passed over Mifflin county on Sunday afternoon left in its trail a path of ruin. A number of barns were unroofed and great damage done to grain fields. Some corn fields are total wrecks, one in particular, on the Spangler farm near Lewistown, where an eighteen-acre field was totally ruined, the stalks being all off a few inches above the ground. Grape vines were cut off as by a scythe and garden and truck patches were destroyed.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. Roger T. Bayard, of Tyrone, is visiting among friends in this place.

Mrs. J. Elliott Smith, a trained nurse, is on a case in Bellefonte for Dr. Kilpatrick.

John Whiteman shot three ground-hogs during the past few days in the vicinity of the "White Station."

Mrs. J. D. P. Smithgall and children, Helen and Drew, of Franklin, are at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Susanna Spangler, in Centre Hall.

D. K. Keller has been elected as chairman of the Grange Encampment and Fair Association, for the 1920 fair, which office was made vacant through the death of Prof. C. R. Neff.

After spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkinson, of Potters Mills, Mrs. H. C. Spangler and daughters Dorothy and Virginia returned to their home in Park Ridge, Illinois.

Elmer M. Miller, who for some months had been a clerk for the State College Trust company, has taken up U. S. mail service, and preparatory to being given a regular railway mail route, is working in the Harrisburg terminal.

In order to accommodate his patients in Centre Hall and vicinity, and any others who may desire osteopathy, Dr. R. L. Caper, of Bellefonte, has opened an office in Centre Hall hotel and will be there every Thursday afternoon, starting July 22, from 2 until 6 o'clock.

Kessler's Final Summer Selling Campaign.

Kessler's department store, Millheim, will attempt a clearance of all summer merchandise during the two weeks, which is made necessary in order to prepare for the fall season. Prices on summer goods have been cut to one-half and lower.

Crop estimates which are reliable and unbiased are important not only to agriculture but also to all those industries which depend upon agricultural products.

FARM FACTS

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College

POULTRY.—Heat is responsible for the loss of many eggs in summer. As soon as they are gathered the eggs should be placed in a cool cellar or spring house and kept there until marketed.

HAY.—The injury due to the storing too wet or green hay may be partly overcome by applying salt or slacked lime to the hay when placed in the stack or mow. Ten pounds of salt or twenty pounds of lime evenly spread over each ton of hay as it goes into the mow is about right.

DAIRY HUSBANDRY.—If the young calf is turned out to pasture, shelter from the hot sun should be furnished by available trees or a cheap shed.

BREEDING COCKERELS may be bought more cheaply now than latter in the summer or in the fall. Insist on a pedigree and build up your flock.

SILOS.—The size of the herd determines the size of the new silo. A tall narrow silo is better for a small herd than a short broad one.

HOG LICE can be eradicated by applying crude oil with a brush or cloth about every ten days or two weeks.
