JUST ACTING LIKE A MAN

Simple Explanation of Wife's Action When She Suspected Burglar Was Downstairs.

After starting for his work the other morning Taylor happened to think of something he had forgotten and returned to the house to get it.

While walking about the kitchen he heard a great racket upstairs. Considerably alarmed he called:

"What in the world is the matter, Mary? Has anything happened?"

"There was a moment's silence, then his wife replied:

"Oh, is that you?"

"Yes, who did you think it was?"

"I heard someone walking about down there and I thought it was a burglar."

"But the noise—"

"I was making a lot of noise so that he would think there was a man in the house."

When Doctors Disagree.

John Jimson was very ill. He called in a doctor, who hemmed and hawed and called in a second doctor. Then, while John Jimson lay and suffered, the two quarreled about his case.

"You are wrong," said Doctor No. 1. "I'm right," retorted Doctor No. 2. "You're wrong," repeated Doctor No. 1.

Here the patient gave a groan and brought the medical men to a realization of the needs of the moment. But Doctor No. 2 couldn't resist a last swipe.

"Go your own way," said he, "but I'll prove I'm right at the post-mortem!"—From the Argonaut.

If a woman is willing to listen to a man it is because she has no more talk to unload.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

DIDN'T WAIT TO BE ASKED

Elsie's Little Scheme to Test Sweetheart's Fidelity Could Hardly Be Called a Success.

Elsie, about to be married, decided at the last moment to test her sweetheart; so, going to her friend, Maude, the prettiest girl she knew, she said to her, although she knew it was a great risk:

"I'll arrange for Fred to take you out tonight—a walk on the bench in the moonlight, supper, and all that sort of thing—and I want you, in order to put his fidelity to the proof, to ask him for a kiss."

Maude laughed, blushed, and assented. The plot was carried out. The next day Elsie visited her friend, and said, anxiously:

"Well, Maude, did you ask him?"

"No, Elsie, dear."

"No! Why not?"

"I didn't get a chance; he asked me first."

Out of Luck.

Upon my return from calling one afternoon I ran into my mother's. My sister opened the door for me, and without looking into the living room, I blurted out: "Gee, I had the best luck! Four of them were not at home!" When I went in there sat the four playing cards with my mother. My embarrassing moment has lasted ever since that day.—Chicago Tribune.

JUST A LITTLE SMILE

A TEST OF SKILL.

"You don't know how much you have cheered me," said the fashionable physician.

"Why, doctor, how can I, a sick man, cheer you?"

"Because you are really sick and need my professional skill to cure you. Most of my patients are rich people with imaginary ailments. I'm glad to get a chance now and then to practice something besides deception."

More Easily Learned.

"Would you rather write the songs of a nation than the laws?"

"I'm not absolutely sure," replied Senator Sorghum. "But I cannot fail to observe that most people know the songs by heart and do not trouble to inform themselves about the laws."

AN IMPROVEMENT.

"Do you think the world is improving?"

"Of course. You hardly ever hear of a young girl who speaks pieces nowadays."

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

Giving Her Fair Warning.

John had just been reprimanded by his mother for something he had done, when he went into the bedroom where his new little baby sister was lying in her crib. His mother overheard him say: "Sister, you ought to go back where you came from; you can't do anything you want to do here."

BERANGER'S HEART TOO KIND

Great French Poet Continually Pleased On by a Host of Ingrates Who Plucked Him.

Interesting anecdotes are told of the great French poet, Beranger, who died in 1857.

The poet was as poor as he was generous. All he had, he gave away, and when there was nothing left he sent the beggars who haunted his house to call on his numerous friends.

One of the characteristics of this unfortunate benefactor, who was always surrounded by a host of ingrates, was his tolerant spirit. Since there was no ante-chamber in his modest home, the beggars who knew the house stayed outside on the staircase; it was impossible to see him without finding a half-dozen of them on the stairs.

There they used to wait like ravens for the small change, old clothes, and sometimes new clothes, that Lisette was the first to distribute to them. When friends remonstrated with Beranger for giving away things he needed to people whom he did not know, Lisette would answer:

"Oh, now, Berange will just write another song—the lazy fellow!"

HOW SHIPS GET LATE MAIL

Airplanes Used to Overtake Liners and Drop Bags While the Vessel is Traveling.

Experiments have proved it entirely practicable to deliver belated transatlantic mail to steamers at sea by airplanes.

The ship may have taken its departure several hours previously, yet the flying machine, with a speed of 100 miles or more an hour, can easily catch up with it and put the mail aboard.

A plane of the "flying boat" type is used for the purpose, and the waterproof mail bag is held in a chute on the side of the hull. The aviator flies over the ship and the rigging entangles a long line dropped from the plane that has grapple tails on its end. This line is attached to the mail bag, which when the grapple tails catch, is jerked out of its chute, falling into the sea.

It is then an easy matter to haul the mail bag aboard, while the steamer continues its uninterrupted voyage.

A Truthful Sign.

A friend of mine bought a new car, and on our first ride we came to a sign which read, "Road Closed."

"Don't believe in signs," he remarked, and we drove on.

The next thing I remember is picking myself up from the creek where the bridge was out. My confident friend came to at last and rubbed his head.

"I'm a firm believer in signs from now on," he remarked, and we hired a farmer to pull the car home.—Chicago Tribune.

That expression, "caving around," probably started from the ordinary behavior of the cave man.

One Friend Less.

One of my most embarrassing moments came soon after I was married, when I met an old acquaintance and begged to know why she had never yet been to call upon me. Rather coldly she replied, "I did not know that you wished me to, as I received no announcement of your marriage." Rather horrified and embarrassed to think she had been forgotten when the lists were made up, I lost my head and blurted out: "Oh, but you know we only sent those to our friends." Naturally after that I had one friend less.—Chicago Tribune.
