

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Paragraphs of News Taken from the Files of the Reporter of 1885.
November 18, 1885.
There is a good opening for a doctor at Spring Mills.
Daniel Fleisher has driven stakes for a new home near the railroad.
David Lohr, of Farmers Mills, has purchased a lot and will erect a home at Centre Hall.
D. C. Keller has already erected a large new stable to take the place of the one recently burned.
Zerby, Penns Cave and Axemann are the names of the three new stations placed on the schedule of our road.
About three new houses are already fixed upon to be erected in Centre Hall the ensuing year.
Mr. Donacley, artist, of Lewisburg, has obtained the contract for frescoing the new Lutheran church in this place.
The Boalsburg Modocs returned from their hunting expedition in the Seven Mts., on Friday, with five deer and a large bear. Their party numbered fifteen men, and their success this season keeps up their good record.

Children Must Be Vaccinated.
All children attending the Centre Hall public schools must show a certificate of successful vaccination before being permitted to enter school when the term opens on Monday, September 13th.

BY ORDER CENTRE HALL SCHOOL BOARD.
The law on vaccination follows:
VACCINATION.
(Principals of schools must refuse admission of children except on certificate showing that the child has been vaccinated or has had smallpox.)

All principals or other persons in charge of schools as aforesaid are hereby required to refuse admission of any child to the schools under their charge or supervision, except upon a certificate signed by a physician setting forth that such child has been successfully vaccinated, or that it has previously had smallpox.

PENALTY FOR VIOLATION.
Any physician, undertaker, principal, superintendent of a Sunday school, sexton, janitor, head of a family or any person or persons named in this act, who shall fail, neglect, or refuse to comply with, or who shall violate any of the provisions or requirements of this act shall for such offense, upon conviction thereof before mayor, burgess, alderman, police magistrate, or justice of the peace of the municipality in which said offense was committed, be liable to a fine or penalty thereof of not less than five dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars, which said fines or penalties shall be paid into the treasury of such municipality, and in default of payment thereof, such person or persons so convicted shall undergo an imprisonment in the jail of the proper county for a period not exceeding sixty days.

Place Your Order for Paper Suit.
Paper suits much in vogue in Germany and Austria, soon will make their appearance in the United States and if inquiries to the department of commerce can be taken as an indication of the probable demand they may become even more popular in the lower-the-cost-of-giving campaign than was the lowly overalls a short time ago.
Cable orders for samples of the suits have been dispatched by the department of commerce, it was announced this week, and when the samples arrive they will be displayed in important cities of the country. Explaining its action the department issued this statement:

"This action was taken because of the wide interest created by the publication of a recent dispatch from England that a large quantity of such suits were on display in English stores.
"The bureau of domestic and foreign commerce has received many inquiries from interested parties in the United States as a result of the publicity given the report."

Answers to Health School Lesson No. 9, "Hands".

Question 1—How may hands convey disease?
Answer—By means of disease germs with which they come in contact.
Question 2—Why should people wash their hands before meals?
Answer—As a safeguard against getting possible disease germs in the mouth.
Question 3—What possible danger is there in the practice of picking at the lips or fingering the mouth.
Answer—Repeated contact with disease germs.
The subject of the next lesson is "Teeth." A strong mind calls for a sound body. A sound body is dependent upon proper nutrition—for proper nutrition there must be good digestion. The first act in the process of digestion is mastication—and there you are "Teeth." Eighty per cent of our school children have defective teeth and there are not enough dentists to care for them. The lesson on "Teeth" presents a solution.

NATIONWIDE FIGHT AGAINST DISEASE

American Red Cross Will Have Health Centers in All Parts of United States.

The American Red Cross has launched upon a nation wide campaign of fighting disease and physical defect among the American people. A new and unique health institution has come into being as the result of several months' study by the Red Cross Health Service Department at National Headquarters.
Officials in charge of the department predict that before long this new health activity will be in actual operation all over the country, and that the sign—"American Red Cross Health Center"—will become as familiar to the people everywhere as are now the signs of the telegraph companies.
Busy Long Before War.
The interest of the American Red Cross in the fight against disease is not, however, of recent origin. Long before the war the organization began this health service through its medical units in disaster relief work and its department of Town and County Nursing. During the war and following the armistice thousands of American Red Cross officials have been fighting disease in the war-stricken countries. At the same time tens of thousands of local Red Cross officials have been engaged in home fighting disease, notably during the influenza epidemics.

The American Red Cross has determined that all this valuable experience in health service abroad and at home shall not go to waste. So long as there are a half a million people dying yearly in this country from preventable causes, and so long as more than one-third of the American children and young people are victims of physical defects, the Red Cross recognizes the urgent need for continued Red Cross health service at home.
How Organization Works.
The Red Cross Health Center is governed by business principles, applies business methods, and, in its more simple form, can be established and conducted by lay people.

It proceeds upon the demonstrated fact that health is a commodity that can be bought and sold like brooms and soap. Therefore, it establishes itself in a store in the principal business section of the community. It displays its goods in the form of attractive health exhibits in its show windows. It advertises constantly and extensively. And it uses every business and social device to attract customers.
The Red Cross Health Center is of service to the sick in that it gives out reliable and complete information about existing clinics, hospitals, sanatoria and other institutions for the sick and the defective; about available nurses, both trained and practical; about when to consult a physician and why to shun the quack and his nostrums.

Teaching Disease Prevention.
The Red Cross Health Center is, however, of even greater service to the well. It teaches people how to prevent sickness and disease. This is done in many interesting and attractive ways—first of all, by the distribution of popular health literature and through health lectures illustrated with lantern slides or with health motion picture films. Then special exhibits are given, one after the other, on various health subjects. Practical demonstrations are made; also health playlets by children to interest and instruct themselves and their elders. Classes are organized in personal hygiene, home care of the sick, first aid and in food selection and preparation. Health clubs, both for younger and older people, are formed; also Little Mothers' Leagues. Nutrition and growth clinics are conducted for children.
Already more than a hundred of these Red Cross Health Centers are in actual operation throughout the country. Many of them also conduct medical clinics, but the one chief, outstanding feature of the American Red Cross Health Center is its health education service which teaches well people how to keep well.

FRENCH PRAISE FOR OUR RED CROSS WORK

Lauding the work accomplished by American philanthropy for war-stricken France, Andre Tardieu, former high commissioner from that nation to the United States, in a recent article widely commented on throughout the French press, says:
"The American Red Cross has accomplished a work which calls for the heartfelt gratitude of every true Frenchman. In 1918 this great relief organization spent in behalf of France nearly $7,000,000 francs, and in 1919 its expenditures on charitable projects in our country attained the tremendous total of 17,000,000. It has recently turned over to the French relief organizations huge stocks of supplies whose value must be counted in the hundreds of thousands of francs.
"Fifteen million American boys and girls, banded together in the Junior Red Cross of America, are back of a movement to establish the closest ties between themselves and France's younger generation through the charitable works they have financed, and are now carrying out among our little war sufferers.
"The bonds of friendship between France and America is cemented with mutual admiration, respect and gratitude."
