"NORMALCY" AND "OLD TIMES."

Senator Harding has been saying in his speeches that he "wants to get back to normalcy" and "Governor Coolidge professes to wish for a restoration of "old times."

These gentlemen are the candidates of the "Old Guard. The "normalcy" of "old times" Senator Harding wishes to get back to must be that of the good old, golden Mark Hanna days, when an "Old Guard's" campaign fund exceeded $16,000,000; when a price was paid for election; when employees at great industrial plants were told by their superintendents, the agents of special interests, that unless they voted as they (the representatives of special interests) wished them to vote, their jobs would be closed to them on the day following the election; they were the days when corporation taskmasters wrung immense dividends from the very blood of women and children employed in unregulated "sweatshops".

On the other hand, in the days of "normalcy" (the "old times"), there was no Federal Reserve system; panics were as frequent as seasons, and national bank failures occurred on an average of one every three weeks; there was no Farm Loan system; small farmers were the victims of mortgage bank pirates and tenancy was the curse of the land; there was no Federal aid in road building, and every farmer paid a "mud tax"; there was no merchant marine; there was none of the many beneficent legislative enactments of the last two Democratic administrations, which wrested the power of the government out of the hands of a few and lodged it in the hands of the people. In those days of "normalcy" an insidious lobby guided the hand that wrote the laws placed upon the Nation's statute books, until driven from the corridors of the Capitol as the money-changers of old were lashed from the Temple.

Such was "normalcy" in the "old times" for which the "Old Guard", the agents of the special interests, speaking through its candidates, so fervently sighs.

Very little is heard of or from Senator Harding's running mate, which may be accounted for by the fact that when the head of a ticket is put on the tail end he doesn't know exactly what to do or say.

A SYNDICATE PRESIDENT.

If by any miscarriage of suffrage, Senator Harding should be successful at the polls, who would be President of the United States?

The Senator and the "dominant group in the Senate" that nominated him have repudiated what they call a "one-man" Presidency, provided by the Constitution. The candidate has even announced that he intends to make the Vice-President a member of his Cabinet, for which there is no provision whatever in the Constitution. The Presidency is to be run by a syndicate; everybody—that is, everybody in the Senatorial Syndicate—is to have something to say.

There is no question about who will be President if Governor Cox shall be elected. The President in name and in fact will be James M. Cox. If Senator Harding shall be elected the President in name will be Warren G. Harding, but a Board of Directors composed of Penrose, Lodge, Smoot, et al. will be President in fact.

Do the American people want a syndicated President?

Births.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Runkle, on Sunday morning.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Dutrow, on the Dutrow farm, east of Centre Hall, last Friday.

Four generations are now represented on the Arney homestead, immediately west of Centre Hall, since the arrival of a baby boy, born on Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Arney. There is much joy at the Arney home as a consequence.

REBERSBURG.

Daniel Meyer, of Osceola, is visiting relatives in town.

Ammon Strayer and family, of Jersey Shore, are visitors in town this week.

Henry Mowery and Howard Stricker were Sunday visitors at the Samuel Mowery home.

Our potato growers complain that their potatoes are rotting owing to the blight which caused them to wilt and die off in a few days' time.

The Joseph Corman farm, situated two miles west of this place, was sold at public sale on Saturday to Dr. Allison, proprietor of the Millheim hotel. Consideration six thousand and five hundred dollars.

George White has employed Harry Garret and Raymond Ziegler at building a new stable which will take the place of the one which was destroyed by fire, caused by a stroke of lightning, which happened about six weeks ago.

John Day has the contract to bring the school children on the south side of Gramley's school district to our schools.

Allen Winkelblech has the contract to bring the children who reside on the north side of the Gramley school district to this place.

Letter from Subscriber.

Friends of Lieut. Boyd A. Magee, in Centre Hall, will be interested in his letter from Washington, D. C., to the Reporter:

The University Club of Washington Wednesday, Sept. 1, 1920

Editor Reporter:

Harkening to several more or less touching appeals (last week's particularly), I've "caved," and am enclosing check for $1.50 on account subscription to the Centre Reporter from December 1919, to December 1920, of Mrs. R. M. Magee. I certainly do enjoy receiving your little paper; sometimes feel inclined to follow the alleged trend of the old-time subscriber and become peevish because my more intimate friends and relatives don't figure more largely.

I'm still on duty in Washington, nominally attached to the Naval Hospital here, awaiting the time that the powers that be may act upon my papers. It has been quite hot here, at times, but on the whole the weather has been pleasant. But Washington is not so fascinating during the summer as was the case in the spring. The august legislators, and the diplomats and their followers, are among the missing, and their absence is sorely felt, by me at least. "We" have lots of excursionists from out along the B. & O., however, and "sight seeing" parties are everywhere. (Main line of the B. & O. from points west to the seashore passes through Washington, you will recall, and everyone stops off here.)

In between time I slip out to the Potomac Boat Club to take a row in my shell. Now and then I get in some golf; tennis every Saturday afternoon; so it hasn't been such a dreadfully poor summer. Spend considerable time here at the club, where I have many friends, and attend some of the Masonic work now and then.

Centre Hall must have a pretty good High school and town base ball team from your account! [He hadn't heard of the Sandy Ridge game when this was written.—Ed.]

I expect you all are all set for the picnic, or rather the Encampment and Fair.

Give my best regards to all my friends in Centre Hall. If there be anything I can do for you here in Washington, or in Philadelphia, please don't hesitate. I'll be only too glad to be of service.

Sincerely yours,
BOYD MAGEE.

Place your order early if you want a supply of fertilizer for your fall seeding.

R. D. Foreman.

THE DEATH RECORD.

TATE.—A life-long resident of Pleasant Gap, Potter Tate died early Saturday morning, 28th ult., from a stroke of paralysis which he suffered a few weeks previous and which left his left side paralyzed. He was a native of Pleasant Gap and was past seventy-three years of age. During his active years and until recently he followed carpentering and helped in the erection of many of the buildings of that section. He was a veteran of the Civil war and active in the affairs of his community. Besides his widow he leaves the following children: Verna, at home; Mrs. William Lambert, of Pleasant Gap; Mrs. Ollie Campbell, of DuBois; Roy, in Kansas; and James, in the U. S. Army in service in the west. Funeral services were held on Monday and burial made in Union cemetery at Pleasant Gap.

SLOTSMAN.

Robert Sloteman, a resident of Pleasant Gap for many years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Haxel, at Greensburg, on the 26th ult. Daniel Sloteman, of Spring Mills, is a brother, and Samuel Wise, of the same place, a half-brother, of the deceased. His remains were brought to Pleasant Gap for burial.

Items from the Millheim Journal.

The Mary A. Winkelblech home at Aaronsburg was sold Saturday afternoon by P. H. Musser, the executor, for $450. Mrs. Hattie Greninger, of Rebersburg, was the purchaser.

The state street oiling truck was in Millheim Monday and Tuesday afternoons and finished the oiling of the borough streets. The work was much drawn out owing to the frequent rains.

Mr. and Mrs. Stover G. Shook, of Gloucester, N. J., were arrivals in Millheim Tuesday night to be in attendance at the annual community picnic. The trip was made in their handsome motor car, and were accompanied by Mr. Shook's sister, Mrs. Lula Rummel, of Chicago, who was visiting at their home and who will spend some time with relatives here before returning to her home. They were also accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Wert, of Philadelphia, who are visiting Mr. Wert's mother, Mrs. J. J. Fiedler, at Aaronsburg.

The fat steer which escaped for Butcher Leitzell on Monday of last week was discovered in P. F. Confer's cornfield on Friday afternoon. About a dozen men, some with rifles, that afternoon started out to hunt the steer and they had not been in the cornfield long until he was discovered and the cry went forth, "There he goes". The steer was very wild and fences did not bother him in his endeavor to get away. About a dozen shots were fired at the steer and he was finally felled on the state highway between Millheim and Aaronsburg. He was loaded on Mr. Leitzell's truck and conveyed to the slaughter house, where he was dressed.

Chamber of Commerce for State College.

A Chamber of Commerce in which the students of the Pennsylvania State College will have an active part with representation on the board of directors, was organized at State College last Wednesday night when over a hundred prominent State College citizens and college officials turned out for that purpose. The organization of the Chamber of Commerce of State College has been under way for the past three months and the charter members are very enthusiastic over the possibilities for such a body in that growing town.

Membership in the organization will be open to students as well as faculty members of the college, and business men of the town. The constitution adopted Wednesday night calls for a directing board of five two from the town, two from the college and one from the student body to be chosen by the student council, lower branch of the student government organization. The students will select their director after the opening of college on September 15, and the election resulted in R. H. Smith, college controller, and Dr. C. W. Stoddart, dean of the School of Liberal Arts, being chosen director from the faculty and administration body of the college, and J. B. Heberling and R. D. Gilliland, prominent merchants, from the town.

Dr. E. E. Sparks, former president of Penn State, and a member of the State Chamber of Commerce, was present at the organization meeting, and told of many ways in which the State College chamber could be of great benefit to both the town and the college. One of the first moves of the new chamber will be in the direction of securing outside interest in the building operation in the town. The first annual meeting will be held October 5.
