Aaron Harter broke ground last week for a new dwelling house at the station.

The banquet given by the Odd Fellows on Christmas eve was largely attended.

Excursion rates from Centre Hall to Bellefonte during the holiday season were 73 cents, round trip.

During the last week high prices were paid at the station for grain; 94 cents was offered for good red wheat.

A new coal yard will start at the Centre Hall station as soon as the freight switch can be extended and trestle work erected.

John Conley is preparing to furnish the people of Centre Hall with fresh milk daily. A dairy at this place will fill a long felt want.

Water was said to be higher at Spring Mills last Monday than at any time for twenty years. Cellars are full and many fences are down. The railroad bridge this side of Spring Mills was moved out of line by the floods of Sinking Creek.

Henry Moyer, aged twenty-seven years, son of William Moyer of this place, died while sitting on a chair, on Christmas day. He went west four years ago, but returned in ill health a year ago.

A new post office has been erected in Haines township, two miles west of Woodward, called Feidler, with F. O. Hosterman P. M.

FARMERS MILLS.

A large number of relatives gathered together on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Shultz, on the I. J. Zubler farm, near here, in a family gathering. The feature of the day was a sumptuous dinner, elegantly prepared by the good women, in which roast chicken and roast veal headed the list, followed by an array of edibles such as can only be found in the typical American farm home. Ice cream and cake followed the dinner. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. George F. Shook, parents of Mrs. Shultz of Penn Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Shook and son, of Spring Mills; Mr. and Mrs. Christ Shook and baby, Charles Shook, James Shook, of Penn Hall; Mr. Shultz, of Rebersburg; John H. Horner of Tusseyville; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bailey and two sons, of Centre Hall.

MILLHEIM.

(From The Journal)

A valuable horse belonging to John Bair, of near Penn Hall, died on Sunday. The animal was afflicted with gangrene of the lungs.

Miss Lida Winkleblech Friday returned to Madison, Wis., where she is a student in a pharmaceutical college.

Prof. and Mrs. R. U. Wasson, who spent their vacation at Coburn, have returned to Salsburg, Pa., where Prof. Wasson is teaching.

Mr. and Mrs. Epley, after a visit of several weeks with friends at Rebersburg, on Tuesday departed for their home at Freeport, Ill.

John M. Boob, after spending a vacation of several months at his home in Millheim, left Monday morning to resume his studies at Pierce School, Philadelphia.

McMullin Bros. motored to Liberty, Tioga Co., last Saturday and purchased a complete 40-barrel flour mill. The mill is being shipped to Coburn and on arrival here will be installed in the brick mill. The installation work will be done by Sprout Waldrow & Co., Munsey, Pa.

Postmaster R. S. Stover on Tuesday morning received a letter from Postmaster General Burleson advising the local postmaster that Millheim was on the New York-San Francisco mail route and requesting that some enterprising resident of Millheim have the word "Millheim" painted in four-foot letters on the roof of some prominent building which could be seen by the mail plane pilots in their flights over the town. The local postmaster was requested to arrange for a suitable field in which to land in case of emergency, and to send to the department a description of notable landmarks in this vicinity for guidance of the airmen. The letter also inquired if gasoline and motor oils could be purchased here at all times.

Cox on 18th Amendment.

In his Portland, Oregon, speech on Monday, Governor Cox, the Democratic candidate for president, made this statement:

"So far as the President is concerned, the issue under the Eighteenth Amendment is one of law enforcement. We must judge men by their performances rather than promises. As Governor of Ohio, I enforced the law for the first time in the history of the State. I closed not only the front doors but the back doors of the saloons on the Sabbath. I enforced all the laws. As President of the United States, I shall continue to enforce all the laws regardless of what interests may be affected."

Col. Spangler Student at "State"; Aged Sixty Years.

It is no uncommon occurrence for students ranging in age from sixteen to thirty-six to be enrolled at the Pennsylvania State College, but it is unusual to have the extreme of sixteen to sixty. This condition has been brought about with the recent opening of college and the enrollment of Colonel J. L. Spangler, prominent citizen of Bellefonte, and former business associate of the late Governor Hastings. He has passed his sixtieth milestone, and comes from his Bellefonte home to State College several times a week to attend lectures in business and economic subjects.

He formerly employed Secretary of Labor W. B. Wilson in his coal operations in the Cambria fields, and last fall through the influence of Secretary Wilson was appointed a member of the Labor Mediation Board that settled middle-western and Pacific coast strikes. He was a member of the board that considered the Chicago stockyard strikes. This touch with present day economic problems has led Colonel Spangler to become better acquainted with them through lectures by the State College faculty members. The town of Spangler, Cambria county, is named after him. He was former district attorney of Centre county, one time candidate for Congress, and a delegate to the San Francisco Democratic convention.

The limit of 750 freshmen, allowed by the college trustees, was reached in registration last week and no more can be accommodated. More than one hundred other new students have entered, half of them as special and from other colleges. Approximate registration for the freshmen in various schools follows: Agriculture, 159; Engineering, 313; Liberal Arts, 95; Mines, 43; Natural Science, 64; and Home Economics, 37. New women students number 76. Electrical and electrochemical engineering have the largest freshman enrollment with 134.

Questions.

1. What are the early signs of Scarlet Fever?
2. How is the disease spread?
3. How may the spread be prevented?

A LETTER FROM A SCHOOL TEACHER TO HER FRIEND

Dear Elizabeth:

I wrote you last Friday that we have scarlet fever in G—ville. This morning, Dorothy Bell, who had been absent since last Thursday, came to school. She said she had sore throat on Friday, but was all right now. Knowing sore throat to be one of the early symptoms of scarlet fever and that a mild case may clear up in a day or two, I sent her home.

In the afternoon she came back with a hostile mother who said her child had an upset stomach, was not sick enough to need a Doctor, had a perfect right to be at school, and that none of the cases in town were scarlet fever. They were only scarlet rash.

I do not have time to tell you everything she said, nor will I weary you with the things I said, I am still going over choice expressions which I might have used, and I presume Mrs. Bell is doing the same. But Dorothy went home.

The Principle has directed our school nurse, Miss Penny, to further investigate the case.

GRACE.

Report of investigation of case of Dorothy Bell:

"On Thursday, 12th, Dorothy had a headache and was feverish. She was given a hot bath, a dose of castor oil and was put to bed. Friday morning she had a sore throat, and was quite red, but not confined to bed. Saturday the sore throat was better and the redness almost gone. On Monday she was sent to school. No physician in attendance.

"On questioning Dorothy it developed that on the Saturday previous she and Susie Brown had gone to play with Amy Smith. Amy was not allowed to go out because she had a slight sore throat. The children played with dolls for some time. Dorothy thought about an hour.

"A visit to the Smith home verified Dorothy's statement. Amy had been 'off her feed,' as Mrs. Smith expressed it, for several days, but was then all right; no physician.

"Saturday, 14th, Susie Brown had vomiting and sore throat, shortly followed by bright scarlet colored rash. Dr. Thomas was called and pronounced it scarlet fever. The house is under quarantine. I have reported the cases of Dorothy Bell and Amy Smith to the Health Authorities.

"JULIA PENNY, School Nurse."

Extract from Ma—ton Press:

"The result of the recent investigation of the source of our epidemic of scarlet fever, by Representatives of the Department of Health, emphasizes the necessity for the education of the lay public in the means of prevention of communicable disease.

"The original case in Ma—ton epidemic occurred in the home of J. J. Brown. Two months ago Susie Brown, of G—ville, the niece of J. J. Brown, of this place, died from scarlet fever. After her death the house was disinfected; but not some toys which had been removed by a well-meaning neighbor. Later these toys were sent to J. J. Brown for his children. Five days after their arrival, Charles Brown developed scarlet fever. Three weeks later scarlet fever placards were on thirty-five houses of the town.

"All citizens are hereby warned that scarlet fever may be carried by objects which have been handled or worn by patients and have not been disinfected. The disease may also be conveyed by domestic animals. Dogs or cats should never be allowed in the sick room. There were 11,326 cases of scarlet fever in Pennsylvania in 1919, 253 died.

"Scarlet fever is a disease of childhood, rarely occurs before the sixth month, most people over ten years old do not get it. It is most transmissible in its early stages.

"It begins with headache, fever, rapid pulse and sore throat, followed shortly by a red rash; after some days of peeling of the skin. Mild cases may transmit to others a fatal form of the disease. It is transmissible by coughing in a close room or talking or laughing in the face of one susceptible to it; by hands or by objects handled.

"Inflammation of the ear, leading to deafness, and of the kidneys, which may be permanently crippling, are common.

"Its spread may be prevented by early recognition and prompt quarantine. The minimum quarantine period is thirty days. Longer if there be running ears.

"Those responsible for children are required by law to report sore throat and rash when not attended by a Doctor.

"No child who is even a little sick should be sent to school or if sent should be kept in school till he has been seen by a doctor."
