This Time It Really Seems That He Has Cooked Sister Evelina's Goose for Good.

Some things do fall out awkwardly, don't they?
One evening the fair Evelina was expecting her latest admirer to call and her mother hadn't come back from shopping. So, while Evelina slipped upstairs to don her best blouse and some powder on her nose, the young brother was left on guard.
The expected visitor arrived, and was ushered into the parlor by William Edward, who promptly began to ask questions, as small boys always do.
"Mr. Slowcombe," he said "what's a popinjay?"
"A popinjay my boy," repeated the young man, thinking hard. "Why—er—it's a rare bird."
"Are you a bird, Mr. Slowcombe?" persisted the inquisitor.
"Of course not! Ha, Ha!" squirmed his victim.
"Well, that's funny!" mused William Edward. "Last night, after you'd gone, ma' said you were a Jay, and father said there was no doubt about that, but there didn't seem much poppin' the question about you. And now you say you're not a bird at all!"

EFFICIENCY OF FARMER VARIES

Some Are Able to Detect and Eliminate the Low-Paying or Losing Enterprises.

OTHERS SHOULD MAKE MORE

Information Obtained in Keeping Records Is Valuable in Assisting Farmer to Secure a Balanced Business for Next Year.

Farmers, just like other business men, vary widely in the degree of efficiency displayed in running their business. Some are able to analyze the farm business and thus to detect and eliminate the low-paying or losing enterprises. Others, lacking the knowledge of how to make a systematic analysis of the business as a whole, know that their profits are not what they ought to be, without knowing how to go about it to increase them. They may be able to find and correct the obvious errors in the small-sized farm business, but in handling a business of considerable size they often fail to spot the enterprises that are losing money for them. Such men may or may not make money, but at best they fall short of making as much as they might. A farmer may be making a large net profit on his potatoes and losing it all by keeping low-producing cows. Similarly a man may be making money on his cows and losing part of the profit on another enterprise. Hence the paramount importance of records to the farmer.

Farm Returns Studied.
Careful studies made upon a large number of farms enable the office of farm management of the United States department of agriculture to make some interesting statements in this regard. For instance, they find that only 10 per cent—usually less—of the farms studied are managed so as to secure better-than-average returns from all four factors—size of business, yield of crops, live stock, and labor—while from 20 to 30 per cent of the farms considered have only one factor better than the average. It must be understood that no one of these factors will determine success.

The figures given which relate to the labor income will prove most interesting to farm employers. The analysis has reduced the labor cost of farm work to figures. An acre of hay, on an average farm, costs the labor of one man and one horse for a ten-hour day to cut, cure, and harvest it; oats, wheat, and barley, one and a half days of man labor and three of horse;

Without Keeping Records the Farmer Cannot Tell How Much He Is Making and on What Crops.

corn for the silo, three man days and five and a half days for a horse; onions, sold in bunches, require about 93 days of man work to only ten for the horse; dairy cows take 18 days of man time every year and two days of horse time—so on through a list that includes about every item of farm effort. This information is valuable both in securing a balanced business and in assisting the farmer to estimate his labor needs for the coming year. It is contained in a new publication of the department of agriculture, bulletin 1139, "A Method of Analyzing the Farm Business."

Advice of Experts Available.
With the bulletin go blank forms for the purpose of preparing the analysis. Upon these blanks the farmer can inventory his business and then, if he feels unqualified to abide by his own judgment upon the results shown, he may secure the advice of experts by submitting the data gathered to his county agent, or to his state agricultural college, or he may send it directly to the department of agriculture to have the analysis made.

MARKET FOR SURPLUS TRUCK

Fruit and Vegetables Otherwise Wasted Can Be Sold in Small Quantities by Using Motor.

The motor truck express routes in many localities make it possible for the farmer to market his surplus fruit and vegetables in small quantities that would otherwise be wasted. When there is more than enough for canning purposes this method should not be overlooked.

FARM WOODLAND CAN BE MADE PROFITABLE

Erroneous for Farmers to Saw Up Choice Timber.

Many Valuable Logs Go Into Cross Ties When They Would Bring Much More Money if Sold as Saw Logs—Other Hints.

It is a mistake to saw up choice logs of white oak, ash, cherry and yellow poplar for rough uses at home or to use clear black walnut for gate boards or split up white oak butts for fence posts. This fact is emphasized in many ways in a new publication, "Forestry and the Farm Income," issued by the forest service, United States department of agriculture. Farmers are told that many valuable logs go into cross ties when they would bring the owner much more if sold as saw logs. Likewise, large numbers of rapid growing trees are cut which produce only one small tie, whereas, if left to grow for from three to five years, they would yield more than double the profit. To avoid making such mistakes, owners of farm woodland should familiarize themselves with the uses for which each kind of timber is best adapted.

Farmers Should Familiarize Themselves With Uses for Which Timber Is Adapted.

Timber that is cut in the late spring and summer months should be handled with special care to avoid injury, because freshly cut wood is then more likely to be attacked by insects and fungi than during the colder months. Seasoning proceeds more rapidly during the warmer season and may cause excessive checking, which is not beneficial to the timber. If rightly handled, posts, poles and logs may be cut at any season without their durability being affected. In no case should wood be allowed to lie in direct contact with the ground. The opportunity for insect attack and decay may be reduced to a minimum by peeling the timbers and open-piling them off the ground in a shaded but dry place. This, however, does not retard checking of the wood.

Logs are sometimes stored under water, in the hot season, to prevent blue stain, checking, insect attack, and decay. Painting the ends of logs with a yellow ochre or barn paint will very materially retard injury by end checking. Painting peeled timbers with creosote will prevent sap stain and decay.

NEW SEEDINGS FOR PASTURE

Sheep Better Suited for Grazing Than Horses or Cattle—Rye Favored for Fall Pasture.

New seedings of clover and timothy should be pastured lightly. Sheep are better suited for this purpose than horses and cattle, but care must be used to prevent them grazing the new meadows too closely. Stalk fields, from which the corn and stover have been removed, furnish considerable feed in the form of grasses, weeds and an occasional stalk and ear of corn. It is well to allow the stock to clean up this feed that would otherwise go to waste. In order to provide more good fall grazing it is a good plan to sow rye at the last working of the corn crop.

WILLING TO PAY THE PRICE

Small Boy Satisfied That the Bill for His Three Days' Fun Was Not Exorbitant.

At last little Freddy was allowed to visit grandpa all alone. They were great friends, and had long waited for the great day.

Freddy had the time of his life. Grandpa saw that he wanted for nothing. The small boy ate more cream buns in those three days than he would otherwise have done in three years, while his pockets bulged all the time with candies.

But there comes an end to everything, and Freddy went home again, pale yellow of complexion, and languid and feverish. Mother promptly sent for the doctor, who ordered him to bed, and sent him some very unpleasant, but doubtless healing medicine.

Grandpa came next day and was permitted to creep upstairs to see how the sufferer was faring. He found the small boy lying wan and pale on his pillow, but received a watery smile as a welcome.

"Oh, grandpa," said the weak little voice, "I've been awfully bad—but it was worth it."

Every man you "hear something" about has probably "heard something" about you.

PLAYING UP TO THE TEACHER

Indianapolis Youngster Had a Pretty Shrewd Idea of What He Was Doing, After All.

John Arthur is a pupil in a Jeffersonville departmental school, and had to write an essay on Woodrow Wilson, among others. He evinced such a high regard for the president, especially in his management of the World war, as to express the view that he was even greater than Washington or Lincoln. He said they made a fine showing in the little wars they had to handle, but could hardly, he thought, have got through the big one. His father, seeing the essay, ventured the opinion that the writer was too positive in his statement, although admiring Wilson himself. John Arthur showed he was perhaps something of a diplomat as well as an essayist.

"Oh, well," he remarked, "the teacher is a Democrat, anyhow."—Indianapolis News.
