W. C. T. U. Convention at Boalsburg.

The thirty-fifth annual convention of the Centre County W. C. T. U. was held in Boalsburg, beginning Wednesday, Sept. 29th, and continuing till the morning of Sept. 30th. Despite the unfavorable weather the attendance was good. The majority of the county unions were represented and three dozen or more delegates were present from different parts of the county. During the day business sessions were held together with addresses from the delegates and the visiting ministers. The principal speakers for the evening were Mrs. Maude Perkins, of Syracuse, N. Y., National secretary of the young people's branches of the organization, and Dr. Homer W. Tope, of Philadelphia, secretary of the Anti-Saloon League. Both of these addresses were excellent and sounded a note of warning of the perils which confront us as a nation. It is to be regretted that more did not hear them, because they could not fail to stir in us emotions for good and greater zeal for the promotion and welfare of our country.

The report of the president, Miss Rebecca N. Rhoads, and the delegates, showed that much interest was manifested in the unions, and did not fail in good works. Many of the unions not merely held their own, but increased their membership, and also enlarged their usefulness. Flowers were sent this year to the sick in our hospitals and contests were introduced by the different unions in our public schools for the best essay on temperance.

The W. C. T. U. in our county is not a negligible organization, as some would have it. From the beginning, a half century ago, some hooted at the idea of women trying to fight the saloon. From a small beginning they increased their forces, and gathered impetus and grew in might and power, having other agencies which worked side by side with them, and worked on until the 18th amendment to the constitution was enacted. Nor do they now deem that their work is done. The enemy rum is apparently dead, but for fear that he might revive and appear in some other formidable manner, they mean to be vigilant and fight to the finish.

Nor is temperance, as far as alcohol is concerned, the only monster they wish to overcome. Every evil that threatens society they stand ready to combat. Years ago the W. C. T. U. was instrumental in getting in our public school text books, articles on the effects of alcohol upon the human body. So now they are making a scientific investigation of the effects of tobacco upon the human body. The result of these investigations, they will endeavor to have a law enacted in order that the same may be brought to the attention of our public school children in their studies. No use to try to reform the habits of tobacco, but begin with the children and youth by a course of instruction.

The improper use of drugs and the social evil, are no less a matter of their consideration. They demand an equal standard of morals for both men and women. Too long has the flippant young man been cuddled and the unfortunate woman despised. The W. C. T. U. rises in arms against such injustice, and demands an equal and higher standard of morals on the part of every one.

This and even more is what our county union stands for. They have been silently but surely working to this end. In the face of what has already been done by the W. C. T. U. who dare say that their work has been futile. Every one interested in social uplift, can not fail but share his sympathy, help and cooperation in such force for civic righteousness.

The election of officers on Thursday afternoon resulted as follows: President, Miss Rebecca Naomi Rhoads, Bellefonte; vice president, Mrs. A. M. Schmidt, Bellefonte; recording secretary, Mrs. Nannie P. Williams, Flemington; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Knowles, State College.

A committee was appointed to interview the candidates for the Legislature in Centre county to ascertain their attitude on the prohibition question with reference to the enforcement of the Volstead act as it now stands.

LAXATIVE
for Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.
