THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IN PEACE TIME Junior Red Cross

About 12,000,000 boys and girls, composing nearly half the school population of the United States, are members of the Junior Red Cross, which is helping the children of Europe, while at the same time it is doing an important work here at home. Kalitan Chetwolf, who wears the engaging smile shown in this picture, is the son of an Indian guide and trapper. He is the youngest Junior living in the neighborhood of Juneau, Alaska—and he sends greetings to fellow Juniors of the United States.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IN PEACE TIME Child Welfare

Boys and girls who learn early to take proper care of their teeth, throats, eyes, ears and stomachs, have made a long step toward healthy manhood and womanhood. Through the public health and nursing services, the American Red Cross aims essentially to reach all school children with teachings regarding disease prevention and health promotion. Here's a school nurse treating a little girl for sore mouth, at the same time implanting a valuable lesson in tooth-brushing and proper diet.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IN PEACE TIME Health Promotion

Health is at the foundation of human happiness. Through its Rural Service, Public Health Nursing Service and Health Center Service, the American Red Cross aims greatly to strengthen this foundation and to draw more closely than ever the neighborly ties that bind the American people together. Here is shown a Red Cross Public Health nurse attending a young mother with a brand new baby, seeing that both receive scientific care.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IN PEACE TIME Eastern Europe

Americans who contribute to the Red Cross would feel amply repaid for their generosity if they could see what it means to hundreds of thousands of war-weary sufferers in the Balkans. Here is a widowed Roumanian mother with her five children just after a visit to a Red Cross relief station. All are barefoot and the boy at the left is wearing clothes made of scraps from the battlefields. They have just received winter clothing, food and condensed milk for the baby. Similar work is being done for Russian refugees driven from home.

The American Red Cross

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IN PEACE TIME Teaching First Aid

Every person mentally and physically able to do so should take the American Red Cross Instruction in First Aid treatment. It's a life-saver and a pain-saver on the farm, in the factory, on the street, at the office, in the home, wherever accidents may occur. Here's a young wife who inexpertly wielded a can-opener and received an ugly gash across her wrist from the jagged can lid. Mother was there, however, with the First Aid kit and Red Cross instruction, and probably prevented a case of blood poison by giving prompt and proper treatment before the doctor arrived.

Handy Employee. The busy manager of the business concern put an ad in the paper for an experienced fireman to work in the office. "Why do you need an experienced fireman for the office work?" asked the efficiency expert, who was on the job. "Well, you see," she responded sweetly, "I just haven't the heart to discharge anybody, and I thought we could employ an experienced man to do it."
