PREPARE CAPONS FOR BEST PRICE

No Feed or Water Should Be Given for 24 Hours Before Fowls Are Killed.

STICKING METHOD FAVORED

Some Feathers Should Be Allowed to Remain as Distinguishing Mark—Pack in Neat Boxes of Most Convenient Size.

Capons selected for killing should be confined for 24 hours without feed or water to empty their crops completely. The usual method of killing is known as the sticking method. The fowl is hung up by the feet, the head in the left hand, and the whole body stretched to full length. The mouth is forced open and the blood vessels at the back of the throat are severed with a sharp narrow-bladed knife. The knife is then turned and the point plunged through the roof of the mouth to a point just behind and between the eyes, piercing the brain. The muscles are relaxed and the feathers come out easily.

Dry Picking is Best.

Capons should always be dry picked, as they look much better and as some of the feathers should be left on. The feathers of the neck and head, the tail feathers, those a short way up the back, the feathers of the last two joints of the wing, and those of the leg, about one-third of the way from knee to hip joint, should be left on. These feathers, together with the head of the capon, serve to distinguish it from other classes of poultry on the market, and consequently should never be removed. In packing, be careful not to tear the skin. Bad tears, poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture say, should be sewn up. Capons scalded and picked bare bring very little, if any, better prices than other poultry in the same condition.

Good Specimen of Capon.

Most markets require capons to be undrawn and the head and feet left on. Care should be used to cleanse the head and feet of all signs of blood and filth.

Pack in Neat Box.

After picking, the carcasses are hung in a cool place until the animal heat has entirely left the body, when they are ready to be packed. Like other poultry they should be packed in boxes of convenient size, holding a dozen carcasses, or in barrels. Every attention should be given to neatness and attractiveness, as this helps the sale and the price. During the time of year when most capons are marketed—January, February and March—no ice is necessary, but if for any reason they are shipped in warm weather they should be packed in ice.

MAKING POSTS LAST LONGER

Good Plan to Treat Tops With Creosote as Well as Bottoms to Prevent Deterioration.

If the top of the fence post is beveled the water will run off instead of soaking into the top of the post and causing decay. It is as important to conserve the top of the posts as the part that is in the ground. It will also pay when treating the bottom of the post with creosote to give the part above ground a light treatment.

INCREASE PROFITS OF FARM

Development of Motor Transportation Expected to Bring Farmer Better Returns.

The development of motor transportation of farm products is going to be one of the big things in the progress of farming in the next few years. It is going to place agriculture on a more profitable basis, and eliminate much of the spread which now exists between the consumer and the producer.

HEALTHY AND VIGOROUS HEN

Right Kind to Keep in Laying Pen for Production of Eggs—Dispose of Defects.

It does not matter how well bred a hen may be or how well we may try to feed her for egg production, if she is not naturally healthy and vigorous, she will not be a bird to keep in the laying pen. Birds that have any physical defects should not be kept.

FEDERAL INSPECTION PREVENTS BIG WASTE

Shippers, Receivers and Others Interested Assisted.

Sworn Statements as to Condition of Fruits and Vegetables Hastens Sales, Thereby Facilitating Distribution.

More than 25,000 inspections of fruits and vegetables moving in interstate commerce were made by representatives of the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture.

Federal Inspector Ascertaining Condition of Shipment of Cucumbers.

during the 12 months ended June 30, 1920. This is an increase of 78 per cent over the number of inspections for the preceding year.

By the use of food products inspection service shippers, receivers and others interested can obtain sworn statements attesting the condition of perishable products received at central markets. With immediate evidence of the condition of the food sales are made promptly, thereby facilitating the distribution of the products handled. This prevents deterioration and waste on account of delays resulting from disputes as to the condition of products, hastens the release of cars and prevents unfair trade practices.

The bureau has some 40 representatives located at 26 important market centers to make inspections upon request of those concerned with the shipments. A charge of $2.50 is made for less than half a carload and $4 for each half a carload or more.

CORN HAS MANY ADVANTAGES

Growing Period is During Hottest Part of Year When Soil is Dry and Thoroughly Warm.

Corn has an advantage over the small grains. Its growing period is during the warmest part of the year. The soil is then dried out and warmed thoroughly. The days are then the longest and the sun shines the warmest. All these things are needed by a plant to make growth. From this it becomes plain why corn should produce more food on an acre of land than a crop that does not take advantage of the whole growing season.

Corn has another advantage and that is that its nature of growth is such that it can be cultivated. Many may think that this is a disadvantage. The cultivation kills weeds and keeps the moisture from escaping. While corn uses as much moisture as a grain crop, the cultivation given it reduces the amount of moisture that evaporates from the soil—in this way making the corn crop a moisture saver.

The corn crop has the advantage of season of growth, enabling it to produce more per acre than the grain crops and the advantage of lending itself to being cultivated, which saves moisture and kills weeds, making it both a good producer and a crop to prepare the land for other crops.

CUT SWEET CLOVER FOR SEED

Difficult to Harvest Because Seeds Mature Unevenly—Stock Eat Some of Straw.

Sweet clover is difficult to harvest for seed because it matures its seeds unevenly. The best time to cut it for seed is when half the seed pods have turned dark, and any grain or corn harvester will bundle the clover nicely. The straw is usually woody, but stock will consume some of it. When it is too coarse for feed it makes mighty good material to plow under.

PLOWING IS EASIEST WORK

Most Satisfactory Task When Implementation and All Attachments Are Adjusted.

Plowing is one of the easiest and most satisfactory jobs on the farm, that is, if the plow, with all its attachments are in correct position and the soil is in the proper condition to be plowed.

TUBERCULOSIS IN HOG HERD

Infection Comes Principally Through Following Cattle or Devouring Carcasses.

Evidence shows that swine become infected with tuberculosis principally from cattle, either by following them in feed lots or pastures, by receiving infected dairy by-products, or by eating tuberculous carcasses.

Judge Was Likely Dead Right When He Told the Elderly Lady About His Gown.

The judges of the Marion county courts recently adopted and published rules relating to formal openings of court sessions, requiring all persons in the courtroom at the time to stand. This and the other requirements are designed to insure dignity and decorum.

An elderly woman employed at the courthouse accosted one of the judges in the corridors of the building and complimented the bench on its attitude in conducting court.

"In fact, judge," she added, "I think all of you judges ought to do like some of the big eastern courts and wear gowns."

Without batting an eye the judge replied: "I do wear a gown about one-third of the time."

"Why, I never saw you in one," the woman said.

"And you never will," gravely answered his honor as he proceeded to his courtroom, chucking to himself.—Indianapolis News.

PAID HIM TO KEEP QUIET

Incident of Wall Street That We Publish Without Any Affidavit as to Its Truth.

There was a man in Wall street, employed as thirty-second assistant cashier in a bank. It took the bank directors several weeks to discover who was talking to the financial reporters about certain things supposed to be known only to insiders.

Upon learning his identity the directors immediately advanced him to cashier, on the theory that his new responsibilities would preclude his conversing with outsiders on important matters. But it didn't work. The cashier was in a more favorable position to relay important things to the financial scribes. He was promoted to a vice presidency. He talked louder and more frequently.

In desperation the bank directors made him president of the institution. It worked wonders. He stopped talking. Thereafter he spoke only through prepared statements, and while they were long and windy they revealed nothing disturbing.—From Life.
