

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

We have had rain every day this week. L. L. Smith is building an addition to the west end of his garage. Kesslers, at Millheim, have slashed prices on all wearing apparel. Read their ad. in this issue. adv. Dr. H. H. Longwell is having a new garage built on his home premises. Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Burris, of Yeager-town, visited relatives here on Saturday.

In Watsonstown milk has dropped to 10 cents a quart. Here we still pay 12 cents.

Mrs. H. J. Lambert, this week, placed a handsome cabinet type phonograph in her home.

"Do your Christmas shopping early" is now the order, and it's not a day too early right now, either.

Thomas Keefe, of Youngwood, is here to try to bag a wild turkey or string up some cottontails.

Miss Gertrude Spangler left for Rochester, New York, last week, where she will remain during the winter.

Musser E. Coldron purchased the Showers home from Miss Sara McClenahan, and moved therein this week.

Fifty cents a pound, live weight, for turkeys, is said to have been paid by shippers at Spring Mills this week.

John Rossmah is quoted as having said he purchased a home in Millinburg and that he would move into it next spring.

Miss Mary C. Krepps, registered nurse, of Huntingdon, was called to care for Hon. William Allison, of Spring Mills, in his illness.

Rev. Samuel I. Davis, of Nanticoke, will preach in the local Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. He is a candidate for this pastorate.

The borough schools will be closed today (Thanksgiving) and also on Friday to give the teachers and opportunity to attend the district institute at Spring Mills.

Up in Philipsburg the people believe in Girl Scouts, the town supporting four troops with a membership of over one hundred. And for this Philipsburg citizens are to be commended.

If you would save greatly on seasonal merchandise, don't fail to take advantage of the offerings on wearing apparel at Kessler's store, Millheim. See ad.

Shannon Boozer and James Sweetwood went to Pittsburgh, on Wednesday, in the former's Ford runabout, to witness the State-Pitt football game today (Thursday).

Last Thursday the Aulworth farm in Harris township, owned by "Buck" Taylor, was put up at public sale but was not bid up to what the owner considered a reasonable figure, so was not sold.

Don't forget the soccer football game which will be played this (Thursday) afternoon between the students of the Centre Hall High school and those of the Gregg Township Vocational school, on the former's grounds.

Rev. Dr. Taylor, an Anti-Saloon League speaker, will fill the Lutheran church pulpits at Centre Hall and Tusseyville, on Sunday; in the morning at the former place and in the afternoon at the latter place.

Last week while Charles Kaler and wife were busy husking corn, near Millmont, some miscreant entered his home and got away with forty dollars in cash. He has not been able to learn if other property was taken or not.

The building housing the asphalt-making machinery used on the state road job from Pleasant Gap to Bellefonte, and located at the P. G. station, burned to the ground Saturday night. About two days more asphalting would have completed that part of the road work.

Thanksgiving turkeys—tame ones or wild ones—will be conspicuous by their absence on the dinner table in most homes in Centre Hall this Thanksgiving Day. Few large flocks of turkeys are to be found among the farmers hereabouts, and, of course, what few there are command a high figure.

A great deal of unfavorable comment is voiced by the people about Tusseyville and Colyer on account of the desecration of the Sabbath by a number of Bellefonte sportsmen who appear to be so busy as to find no time during the week to erect a hunting cabin in the Seven Mountains, but must do the work on Sundays.

From the Tyrone Herald we take the following: Miss Ella Rhone, of Los Angeles, California, spent a few days with her cousin, Mrs. R. T. Bayard, on Washington avenue, this week. From here she went to Philadelphia, where she and her aunt, Miss Keller, of Boalsburg, will spend the winter with Mrs. Daniel Keller.

The mountain road, from Centre Hall to Bellefonte, was opened to travel on Monday. The asphalting is practically completed, the work having reached Noll's store, and the concrete base for the brick is completed to the first bridge. This leaves about a mile of rough road over which to travel, but any one will prefer it to going to Le-mont, via the Brushvalley or Earlys-town road, to reach Bellefonte.

THE PEACE ARMY

There is now being mobilized an American army of peace of which every person in the country should become a member. The foes against which this magnificent body of American citizens will fight are disease, poverty, wrong thinking and living, disaster, and all the manifold other enemies which lie in wait or make an insidious approach upon the health and well-being of our citizens.

The banner under which the army fights is the American Red Cross, a standard which has stood for the advancement of humanity ever since it was first unfolded. No call for aid is too great and none too small for the American Red Cross to hear and answer.

All are familiar with the record of the American Red Cross in the past and its peace-time program which is now being carried out has all of the broad humanitarianism which marked the most philanthropic work of the war. This peace-time work has now been under way for a full year and the results already achieved have more than justified the assumption that the Red Cross is a highly organized institution for the good of humanity, the necessity for which exists and will exist for many years to come.

The Fourth Roll Call of this great institution is now going on and no person can perform a more graceful nor a more philanthropic act than by becoming a member. Of no organization in the world can it be more truthfully said that it is "of the people and for the people." The great bulk of its members are made up of those who pay one dollar a year and its help goes out to those who need it most. Do your part and join the Red Cross at once.

THE PATRIOTISM OF PEACE

There is a patriotism of peace no less important than the patriotism of war. The American Red Cross, now engaged in its Fourth Annual Roll Call, is a fine exemplification of both. In war, its activities had to do with the care of the wounded soldiers of the American and Allied armies and navies, with their comfort in the hospital, the field and the camps and the no less important matter of the well being of their families in this country.

The requirements of patriotism of this kind have now passed, it is to be hoped forever, although the Red Cross is still caring for thousands of wounded ex-service men and seeing to it that their families are provided for, in the States of Pennsylvania and Delaware alone.

The Red Cross is now performing an even greater task, if that be possible, in the work it is doing for the American people in its many activities, ranging from the maintenance of the public health, through disaster relief, first aid, nursing, and many others, doing good all the time and doing nothing but good. This is the patriotism of peace and it is just as important to the American people as was that of the war.

But in order to do this, the Red Cross must have the support of the people and this can best be given by joining the organization. No dollar given away ever performs a greater amount of good than the Red Cross dollar does. It is the duty of every American citizen to become a member of the Red Cross, and while it is better to enroll personally, if this be impossible, sign your name to the blank attached and send it to the nearest Chapter with the dollar membership fee. It is money patriotically spent.

SPRING MILLS.

Charles Allison, of Canada, spent a few days with his father, Wm. Allison, who is not improving.

Eugene Allison, of Renovo, is spending a few days with his father, H. M. Allison. His health has been poor for a month and he came here to recuperate.

Billy Brown, who makes his home at O. T. Korman's, is quite ill.

There will be a number of large porkers killed in a few days time.

R. G. Kennelly was called home from Lock Haven to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. James Smetzler, at Centre Hall.

Rev. Augustus Kennelly and wife, of York, spent a few days with the Rev's mother and brother, B. F. Kennelly.

Elmer Smith was one of the lucky ones to shoot a turkey.

Life Sentence for Kidnaper.

August Pascal, alias Pasquale, "The Crank" in the Coughlin kidnaping case, was sentenced to life imprisonment on Saturday by Judge Swartz in Norristown court. Pascal pleaded guilty at his trial to second degree murder and kidnaping for extortion. He stole Blakeley Coughlin, the thirteen month-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Coughlin, from their home near Norristown on June 2, last, and smothered the infant under his coat. He was sentenced on the kidnaping charge and sentence was suspended on the second degree murder charge.

Judge Swartz told Pascal he was sorry he could not sentence him to death. The second degree murder sentence will be considered if Pascal is ever released.
