Judge Bell postponed the license court for Blair county until March 7th of next year.

Kessler's ad. this week contains good news for the holiday shoppers. Read it, on last page. adv.

Harry Neff, who is Elmer Houtz's right hand assistant on his farm near Boalsburg, was a caller at this office last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bartholomew made a trip to Philadelphia, leaving Sunday afternoon and returning on Tuesday morning.

Mrs. John G. King, who for the past two months has been a patient in the Bellefonte hospital, returned to her home in Centre Hall on Saturday.

Mrs. D. Milton Bradford and children, of Williamsport, arrived here on Saturday for a short visit at the home of Mrs. Bradford's mother, Mrs. Maynard Meeker.

A few days ago a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Merrill J. Walker, at Farmers Mills. The lad is the third child but the only boy, which makes the parents feel particularly proud just now.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Cooney and baby daughter, Emma Rebecca, of McKees Rocks, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Auman this week. Mrs. Cooney was formerly Miss Edna Murray.

John D. Meyer, the banker, from Altoona, motored to Centre Hall in his Franklin car and spent Sunday with his parents. He also attended the funeral of Mrs. Lillian Alexander, on Monday.

Farmers are urged to keep in mind the big Farmers' Day at the Court House, Bellefonte, December 23rd. There will be a corn, potato and apple show, which products all are urged to take. The winning exhibits will be sent to Harrisburg to the State Farm Product Show.

John E. Rishel, who lives near Red Mill, killed a nice spike buck last Wednesday without much exertion on his part. While hauling manure he espied the buck and three does on the land of his neighbor, Ephriam Harter, and going to his house, Mr. Rishel got his gun and killed the buck on the first shot.

Frank V. Goodhart and bride returned to Centre Hall last Thursday after enjoying a week's honeymoon to eastern cities. A band of serenaders made things lively with musical (!) instruments, and F. V. promised them a treat if they would chase themselves. The treat was paid at Shoop's restaurant.

Carl A. Auman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Auman, was recently promoted to the head of the stock department of Armour & Co., the large packers, and beginning of this week left Unionville, for Steubenville, Ohio, where he will be located. His friends here will be pleased to hear of his advancement.

Through the Bartholomew real estate agency negotiations are pending for the sale of the Mingle home in Centre Hall by George E. Heckman, a recent purchaser, to Dr. Ziegler, of Portage, who purposes coming here in the near future. Mr. Heckman in all probability will purchase the Conley farm from Clayton Musser.

John Snavely, east of town, is constructing a new barn which is said to be the last word in barn construction. Special attention is given to quarters for his excellent herd of cows, concrete entering largely into the building of the cattle stalls. An ingenious arrangement for water supply will be installed. Mr. Snavely is doing the work largely himself, which means that it will be done right.

Dr. J. L. Seibert, of Bellefonte, county medical inspector, was in Centre Hall on Monday to see that a strict enforcement of quarantine in communicable diseases among children, which is in the form of a mild epidemic, is observed. Where no physician has not been called in the case, it is just as much the duty of the parent to report the disease, so that proper quarantine is enforced, stated Dr. Seibert.

The intensive drive on the deer in the Seven Mountains during the past two weeks has driven them into the valley, where they have been seen by many. Last Saturday, Lawrence Runkle, the carpenter, in coming up the Earlystown road in his car saw a doe deer standing serenely by the roadside between Harry Fye's and Harry Burris' farm residences. Upon the approach of the car the deer jumped into the middle of the road and for a hundred yards kept a short distance ahead of the car, its white tail flashing from the rear. At the Earlystown school house the deer turned to the right and was off to the woods.

A thoughtful act on the part of Miss Ruth Shreckengast, teacher of the Dauberman school in Potter township, is evoking the commendation of the school patrons in that district. As is the case in most rural schools, many children are obliged to remain at the school house to eat their noon day lunch owing to the great distance to their homes. The dinner is invariably a cold one, eaten from a box packed at home before leaving in the morning. Miss Shreckengast has procured an oil stove which is used for the special purpose of affording a warm meal at noon-time for her pupils. Edibles may now be brought by the children which could not be considered before. Needless to say the novelty of the thing appeals to the children and the common sense exhibited by the teacher in the innovation appeals to the patrons.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Price reductions at the holiday season is indeed good news. Read Kessler's ad in this issue. adv.

Mrs. Robert F. Williams, of Lemont, is assisting in the care of her father, Thomas Grove, who has been confined to his bed for the past week or more, his illness being due to his advanced age.

The Bradford hunting party killed two more spike bucks on Tuesday, which brings their total of deer to five. The report on the front page was in print before the news of Tuesday's kill was made known.

On Tuesday evening, Dec. 21st, the pupils of Miss Ruth Shreckengast, teacher of the Dauberman school, will give a Christmas entertainment in the school house. An oyster supper will follow. Friends of the school are invited to be present.

Clayton McKinney, son of William F. McKinney, forest ranger in the Seven Mountains, who had been quite ill, has recovered sufficently to be able to sit up at intervals. He had been suffering from mastoid. At present the boy's father is ill from an attack of tonsilitis.

Eight hundred and eight patients were admitted to the Cottage Hospital, Philipsburg, during the past year. Of this number two hundred were children, which fact emphasizes the need of a children's ward, according to the opinion of the Philipsburg Journal, a warm friend of the hospital.

Rev. Adam Bierly, former pastor of the Evangelical Association church at Colyer, and four companions, all of Selinsgrove stopped off for a short time on Tuesday in Centre Hall after a hunt for deer in the Snow Shoe district. They were successful in killing three bucks, besides a number of large white rabbits, all of which they had loaded in their two Ford cars.

TUSSEYVILLE.

Mrs. Thomas Swartz spent several days with her mother, Mrs. Robb, at State College.

The stork visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Foringer, at Colyer, and left them a baby boy.

THE SAVINGS MOVEMENT AND OUR SCHOOLS

The Savings Division of the United States Treasury Department in instituting the Government School Savings Movement in all the schools of the country aims to meet the present national need for economy and to instruct the youth in those habits which will be of permanent value to themselves and to this nation.

Never before has the teaching of thrift in our schools occupied such a prominent place as it does now. The nation of tomorrow is being moulded in the classroom of today. The home and the classroom determine the standard of intelligence, the measure of safety of the country's future.

Integrity, industry, thrift and simple living rightly impressed upon the minds of our school children will indelibly stamp themselves upon the mind and character of the nation. Our pupils should be taught to conserve personal and public resources.

Let each teacher and parent visualize to the children the unlimited opportunities that lie before those who acquire frugal habits early in life:

A good saver can get a high-school, college or technical education.

He will develop initiative, self-reliance and will power.

He will be in a position to engage himself in business early in life.

He will secure influence, credit and good standing in his community.

He can help his parents or members of his family in their old age.

He will lay a firm foundation for his own home and family.

He will protect himself against any emergencies of the future.

He will make himself independent in his old age.

Thrift will give him peace of mind and contentment.

GOOD BUTTER—At this season of the year the dairyman is apt to neglect thorough cleaning of the separator bowl after each using. High class butter cannot be obtained unless the best of care is taken to secure good cream.

While thinking over the matter of giving Christmas gifts to distant relatives and friends, remember that the Reporter, for $1 50, brings fifty reminders a year of a good deed to the recipient. Why not give it as a Christmas gift.
